

MORE GOLD WILL BE BROUGHT FROM EUROPE

WILL RELIEVE CASH
STRINGENCY IN FRISCO

LOSS BY FONTANET EXPLOSION IS APPRAISED

INDIANA AND NOTRE DAME PLAY BLANK
FIRST HALF

ALL CLEWS TO ACTOR
HITCHCOCK LEAD TO NAUGHT

WHIRLED ON SHAFT
TILL CLOTHING
GAVE WAY

COONEY ENDS SPREE WITH ATTEMPT ON HIS LIFE

Further Measures to Give Strength to Financial Situation of East.

Government Arranges to Let Loose of $10,000,000 to Help Banks.

Total Damage Reported is Approximately Quarter of a Million.

Wet Field for Indiana Championship—Games
Elsewhere.

No Trace of Fugitive Comedian Can Be Found by New York Police.

Charles Gable Miraculously Escapes Death at Mayflower Mills.

Section Laborer Gashes Throat With Razor and is Seriously Hurt.

New York, Nov. 2.—Engagements of gold for import to the United States necessitated by the recent period of money stringency in this country are approaching the $30,000,000 mark. Announcement was made today that the National City bank has engaged a total of $1,000,000 in United States gold coin in Havana for import; that N. W. Harris & Co., of Boston, have engaged $100,000 in gold and that George H. McFadden & Brother, of Boston, have $500,000 in gold now en route to the United States from Europe on the steamer Lusitania. This brings the total engagements up to this time to $28,150,000.

Big Dividend Distribution.
Banks and trust companies distributed yesterday $75,000,000 representing stock, dividends and interest on bonds. This is the largest distribution of its kind in any November in the history of the country.

Of the $75,000,000 distributed, $48,000,000 represented interest on bonds and $27,000,000 dividends declared by industrial, steam railroad and street railway companies.

PITTSBURGH USES SCRIP.
Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 2.—The checking, or scrip system, decided upon here yesterday, owing to the money stringency, is in general use today. It is believed that the business men and employees will accept the plan in the light that it is suggested which is to insure the steady operation of the great industrial establishments of the Pittsburgh district.

An exceptionally heavy rush of business is being experienced here and the money situation threatened serious interruption. The enormous payroll, about $7,000,000 a week, had to be met and much anxiety was prevalent among bankers.

Under the system advanced yesterday employers will pay in checks of $5, $10, $15 and $20 denominations, odd sums being satisfied with cash. Landlord, grocer and butcher are expected to accept these checks from their customers the same as currency.

BANK SCRIP CIRCULATES.
St. Louis, Nov. 2.—Little blue, yellow and green slips of paper in denominations of $1, $5 and $10 were put into circulation today by the National Bank of Commerce, the Third National bank and the Mechanics' American National bank. These differed from the cashiers' checks which have been in circulation for a week in that they were made "payable to bearer" and that no endorsement or identification was required.

(Continued on Page Two.)

HARRIMAN EXECUTES
ANOTHER COUP IN RAILROADS

Buys Central of Georgia for Outlet for the Illinois Central.

New York, Nov. 2.—According to the Times today, E. H. Harriman was the buyer of the Central of Georgia stock sold last week by Oakleigh Thorne and Marsden J. Perry, and he has plans for the road in connection with the Illinois Central lines. The two roads connect at Birmingham, Ala., and the possession of the Central of Georgia will give the Harriman lines another outlet to the Atlantic.

TO HAVE WOMEN USHERS
IN THE MANHATTAN
OPERA HOUSE

New York Theater to Try an Experiment With Lady Seat Pilots.

N-York, Nov. 2.—There are to be women ushers in the Manhattan Opera house this season. Last winter there was considerable trouble with some of the men who were employed in this capacity and many changes had to be made in the corps of seat pilots before the season was over.

Mr. Hammerstein and his son, Arthur, have decided on the cause and they have decided that if women ushers who are employed in many of the large opera houses in Europe are a success the plan should work in the Manhattan and it will be tried.

Twelve young women, some of whom have been teachers in the public schools, have been engaged, and beginning Monday night they will take charge of the seating arrangements of the Manhattan. The women will be in uniform and easily recognized even in a crowded aisle.

HOPE TO AVERT GREAT STRIKE.

Agencies at Work to Prevent War by British Railway Men.

London, Nov. 2.—The prospects that the president of the board of trade, Mr. Lloyd-George, may be able to avert the general railroad strike by arranging a compromise were reported here today.

A meeting of the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants was held today and it was decided that action regarding the resolution in favor of a strike would be deferred until their committee meets to hear Mr. Lloyd-George's views of a settlement.

TIED UP BY LAW'S DELAYS.

Convicted Counselman Asks to Be Taken to Prison.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 2.—After much delay in taking appeals to higher courts, ex-counselman William M. Martin, convicted of soliciting a bribe in connection with the Pittsburgh and Ohio City railroad franchise exposures, appeared at the sheriff's office today and said: "Let me be taken to the penitentiary to begin a three years' sentence."

SPIRITUALIST SERVICES.

The Independent Spiritualist association will hold their services Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the 15th home on Washington boulevard west. Henry Brundie is the leader.

WILL DEBATE SHIP SUBSIDY.

The Men's club of Plymouth church will debate the ship subsidy question at its meeting Monday evening, the proposition being stated as follows: "Resolved, That the United States should further subsidize its sea-going merchant marine." On the affirmative will be Messrs. C. A. Meigs, A. G. Barry and A. W. Perry, while Messrs. F. W. Owen, B. Paul Mossman and D. Burns Douglass have the negative.

COME TO NO UNDERSTANDING.

Diplomats and Government Apart on Labeling Whisky.

Washington, Nov. 2.—It was announced at the department of justice today that all efforts to reach an understanding with counsel for leading distillers upon a statement of facts to be presented to the court in the matter of labeling whisky had proved futile and that the department would so inform the department of agriculture in order that cases of violation of the pure food law act may be referred to the department of justice for prosecution.

SEARCH FOR BODY OF MAN SUPPOSED TO BE A SUICIDE

New Orleans Capitalist is Thought to Have Jumped Into the Mississippi.

New Orleans, La., Nov. 2.—While members of the family of Gustave Lehmann, sr., a wealthy New Orleans capitalist, and the head of one of the largest wholesale dry goods houses in the south, who disappeared several days ago, are not inclined to accept the theory of suicide, plans are being made today to use dynamite in an effort to raise the body of a man who was seen last Wednesday to jump into the Mississippi river and disappear in the swift current. If this body can be recovered it will either confirm or refute the declaration of two negro women who, when shown a photograph of Mr. Lehmann, said he was the man they had seen jump into the river.

There appears to be a small chance of recovering this body. The bodies of those who are drowned in the river at New Orleans are carried down stream in the swift current and rarely ever appear again nearer than far down in the parish of Plaquemine and are usually swept on into the Gulf of Mexico.

MOB LYNCHES MURDERERS OF YOUNG CUBAN—BURNING WAS PREVENTED.

Mobile, Ala., Nov. 2.—Abe Sumrall and Hank Lucas, negroes, were lynched early today at Vinegar Bend, Ala., near here. Sumrall murdered Julia Boaz, a young Cuban, on Monday night last, while he was trying to arrest him for burglary. Lucas' crime was the protecting of Sumrall from officers of the law, and a posse of citizens. The bodies were found hanging to telegraph poles north of town. Sumrall's body was a mile away from that of Lucas. It was at first decided to burn the negroes at the stake but wiser heads prevailed.

CLEARANCE SALE OF USED ORGANS

All have been thoroughly overhauled and put in first class condition at our Factory and are fully guaranteed.

IMPORTANT

This is an opportunity to start your child in music. Prices and terms are less than half of their real value. Selection should be made at once.

Kimball, Sterlings, Smith Americans, Willschneider, Estey, Chicago Cottage, etc. Organs cost not $60 to $35, usual second-hand price, $25.

Packard, Tabor, Sterling, Kimball, Miller, Nottingham, etc. Organs, cost new as high as $100, usual second-hand price, $30.

Packard, Hamilton, Story & Clark, Estey, Sterling, etc., good as new, fine for schools, missions, etc., usual second-hand price, $35.

Story & Clark, Packard, Crown, Chase, Palace, Estey, etc., new, $100; usual second-hand price $45.

Packard, Estey, Story & Clark, Kimball, Loring & Blake, Kimball, etc., oak and walnut; usual second-hand price, $50.

$2.00 cash and $2.00 monthly. Instruments in this list may be exchanged at full price within one year on any new piano.

PACKARD MUSIC HOUSE

930 CALHOUN STREET,

FORT WAYNE, IND.

MORE GOLD WILL BE BROUGHT FROM EUROPE.

(Continued from Page One.)

quired to cash them. At the same time that the new checks were put in commission, the St. Louis postoffice officials announced that checks will no longer be accepted by the postal department here in payment of any sort of an obligation.

LONDON SITUATION BETTER.

London, Nov. 2.—Money was in better supply in the market today, owing to dividend distributions. Discounts were firmer on fears of further gold exports to New York.

Trading on the stock exchange reopened dull after the holiday and prices finished the week with an easy tendency. The renewed depression in American, the uncertain position of New York and the fears of further exportation of gold prompting the realizations, under which consols and other first class securities dropped.

Americans opened steady and hardened from the lower party level, but they reacted later and closed dull. Copper shares were firm.

PITTSBURG IMPORTS GOLD.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 2.—The First National bank, of this city, has made arrangements for the importation of $500,000 in gold bullion of American Eagles from London. This is the first engagement of gold for import ever made by a Pittsburg institution. The gold is expected to arrive here next week.

BETTER DAY BY DAY.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 2.—Treasury officials are agreed that the financial situation is distinctly improved day by day, and advices from financial centers today were of a very reassuring character.

MUSIC AT PLYMOUTH CHURCH.

There will be special music at both services of Plymouth Congregational church tomorrow. The program is as follows:
Still, Still with Thee.....W. Buck
Solo—Mrs. Miles.
I Gave My Life for Thee.....Gullmunt
O' Taste and See.....Schnecker

BLACKFORD CLUB ELECTS.

Young Attorneys Choose Officers for New Year.
The Blackford Law club, an organization of the younger attorneys of the city, held its annual election of officers Friday evening with the following result:
President—Frank R. Dulin.
Vice-President—Wilbur Carpenter.
Secretary—Harry G. Hogan.
Treasurer—C. H. Williams.
No other business came before the meeting.

BIRTHS.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Buelow, of Buchanan street—a daughter.

MONEY TO PAY YOUR TAXES

You cannot afford to let your taxes go delinquent because you are temporarily short of money. Should you need a few dollars to meet your taxes

CALL ON US.

We will loan you the money on short notice. We will loan you your household goods, piano, horses, wagons, etc., without removal. You can have the use of both the money and property. You can borrow any amount you wish from $5.00 to $100. You can pay it back in small weekly or monthly payments. Your payments will be so small that you will not feel them. You will receive honorable, satisfactory dealings, and all your business will be strictly confidential.

CALL AND LEARN OUR METHODS

Here are some of the terms of our weekly payment plan, allowing you fifty weeks in which to pay off your loan:
$5.00 is a weekly payment on a $25.00 loan.
$1.25 is a weekly payment on a $50.00 loan.
$2.40 is a weekly payment on a $100.00 loan.
Other amounts in same proportion.
If these payments do not suit you, call and see us and we will be pleased to explain other plans we have.
If you think you can use a few dollars write us, and our agent will call and explain our methods.

Fort Wayne Loan Co.

ESTABLISHED 1896.

ROOM 2, SECOND FLOOR. 706 CALHOUN STREET.
HOME PHONE 833. O. POSITE COURT HOUSE.

Providence, numbering nearly 2,000, arrived in Boston during the forenoon. Gossips before the game favored Harvard as the probable winner by a low score.

The score at the end of the first half was: Harvard, 0; Brown, 0.

PURDUE AND ILLINOI.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 2.—The Purdue foot ball team, accompanied by 300 rooters and a band, arrived today for a game with the University of Illinois team. Both teams were confident and looked for a hard battle. Rain had been falling, making the field soft and giving Illinois a slight advantage on account of weight.

WOMAN ATTACKED AT HOME.

Assaulted by Mysterious Stranger, Who Baffles Evansville Police.

Evansville, Ind., Nov. 2.—Mrs. J. W. Brooks, who Thursday defended her home with an iron poker and drove a strange man from her home, was assaulted by the same intruder at her home last night. She was grabbed from behind when she stepped out of the kitchen door after dark and was struck in the abdomen with a club or with a fist. The blow knocked her senseless. When she was discovered she was lying in a dark and unfrequented alley several yards from the door. She was missed from her home by her husband and he located her by her groans.

Mrs. Brooks was carried into the house still unconscious and apparently dying. A physician called and trained nurse are at her bedside. She is in a critical condition and is hysterical. The police have no clue to the assailant's identity.

SALOON SCREENS UNDER BAN.

Ordered Removed by Shelbyville's Mayor in Law-Enforcement Edict.
Shelbyville, Ind., Nov. 2.—"I intend to enforce the Nicholson law to the letter," said Mayor Burt Swain yesterday after he had instructed the officers to notify every saloon keeper in the city to remove screens from their places of business. They were given twelve hours to comply with the order. Screens were removed from the sixteen saloons by 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. By the mayor's order even by the city police, the first one notified to remove his screens, cigar proprietors to remove their cards, dice, and all gambling devices from their business places.

ARCHITECT TAKES MORPHINE.

Louis Gibson Ends Life in An Indianapolis Hotel.
Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 2.—Louis H. Gibson, the architect, was found dead in a room at the Majestic hotel in South Illinois street today, and the indications were that he killed himself by taking morphine. A glass which had contained a trace of a solution of the drug was found in the room. Mr. Gibson went to the hotel Thursday and registered in a rooming house under the name of Meyer. Yesterday afternoon he went to his room and he was not seen alive again.

LIVE WIRES KILL TWO.

Seranton, Pa., Nov. 2.—The burning of the breaker of the Fernwood colliery of the Erie Coal company last night was the cause of the death of two men who came in contact with electric light wires. The dead are John H. Williams, the superintendent of the colliery and Tammany McGuille, an Italian miner.

CITY BREVITIES.

Kirk East, auditor of the Boyton Stave and Heading company, of Kenilworth, Mo., is in the city the guest of Ben Schwartz, of 2526 South Calhoun street.

The Philathea class of First M. E. church will be entertained by Mrs. E. E. Todd, 532 Montgomery street Monday evening at 8 o'clock. Mrs. E. L. Feustel will review "Les Misérables."

Degree of Honor, No. 2, will give a three nights dance and social in Hibernian hall, commencing November 15th and continuing until the 20th.

The B. of M. and I. S. B. of A. will hold their 15th annual ball in the Wagner Opera house, Garrett, Ind., on Thanksgiving eve, Wednesday, November 27th.

There will be no services at Redeemer English Lutheran church Sunday morning, but there will be services at 7:45 in the evening. A special meeting of the voting members will be held at 10:30 a. m.

The St. Mary's athletic club are making preparations for a play which they will give in the school hall in the near future for the benefit of the club and will meet soon to decide upon the play.

The St. Aloisius young men's society of the St. Mary's church have appointed a committee to prepare for an entertainment to be given in the school hall sometime this month and will hold a meeting next week, when they will decide upon the kind of entertainment to be given.

There will be a reception and program given by the B'nai B'rith Sunday evening at 8 o'clock in the Standard club rooms. The lodge will have as its honor guests representatives of the district grand lodge from Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Cleveland and Louisville. The members and their families and friends are cordially invited to attend.

Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the vestry rooms of the synagogue there will be a meeting of the ladies of the Jewish congregation.

Sunday services of the Salvation Army include open air meetings at 10:30, 3:30 and 7:30 o'clock; holiness services at the citadel at 11 o'clock; Sunday school at 2:30; Young Peoples' legion at 6:30 and Salvation service at 8 o'clock, led by Ensign J. C. Watkins. The topic is "The Destroyer."

"We had to give up coffee last winter, as we found it was harming us. We now use

Postum

with pleasure and profit."

"There's a Reason."

ADDITIONAL SOCIETY

Miss Elsie Turflinger is visiting friends north of the city.

The Chero le Passe club spent a jolly time on Wednesday evening enjoying a progressive supper.

Les Causerie du Maril will meet with Mrs. W. H. Rohan, of South Harrison street, on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 sharp, as there is business before the program.

The members of the Swastika club were pleasantly entertained Thursday noon by Mrs. A. R. Clark, 706 Home avenue. Mrs. George Bolen won the prize in pedro.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fleming, of West DeWald street, entertained friends delightfully on Thursday evening. The guests were Messrs. and Mesdames Riedel, Price, Emerson, Koch, Heller and Misses Hilda and May Heller, Ida Beyer and Messrs. George Heller and Melvin Fleming.

A pretty party of Thursday night was given by the Cresco club at the home of Miss Marvel Hardendorf, 1319 Scott avenue. Miss Ruth Harper and Ralph Miller won prizes in a contest. The decorations were suitable for the evening and very pretty in arrangement. The guests were Misses Marian Martz, Helen Ersig, Helen Miller, Ruth Harper, Virginia Philley, Jean Kincaid, Clara Shaff, Mary Payton and Harry Hardendorf, Don George, Paul Harrod, Frank Frost, Tindie Ferguson, Ralph Miller, Alex Kincaid and Edgar Noble.

Miss Marie Carpenter, of East Taber street, entertained friends on Thursday evening. Miss Mollie Roth and Giles Stock won high prizes in a contest and Etta Fuhrman and Rose Blackburn took the consolation. Misses Emily Schneek and Myrtle McVeay proved the best hostesses. There were present Misses Alice O'Rourke, Tillie Wetel, Mary Trautman, Mrs. R. S. Pettit, Mrs. Stock and Messrs. Walter Mathias, Klug, George Herman, Phil Arantz, Will Comincavish, Pete Laner and Jim Carpenter.

URGE AID FOR THE INSANE.

Richmond Ministers Suggest Receiving Homes for Jail Prisoners.

Richmond, Ind., Nov. 2.—So great is the demand for better provision for care of such insane persons in Wayne county as can not gain admission to the Eastern Indiana Hospital for the Insane except after a long wait in the county jail, that the Ministerial association has taken the matter up and will suggest a plan of relief to the county commissioners and the county board of charities.

The plan is for the county to provide a receiving home where such insane persons can be cared for, not only from this county, but from all of the counties in this district. Wayne county to receive a reasonable fee from the other counties for such patients as they may send.

It is believed that the revenue from this source would go far toward meeting the cost of the provision of the home. It is also believed that the other counties, which are as badly pressed as Wayne, would welcome an opportunity to get the insane out of the jails. There are seven insane men in Wayne county jail at the present time and some insane women in the Home for the Friendless.

NEW CASE OF DIPHTHERIA.

A case of diphtheria in the family of Henry May, 1821 Gay street, has been reported to the health department. Frank Edsall is the name of the patient.

THE DEATHS.

SLAGLE.

Frances Slagle, 10 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Slagle, of 530 Masterson avenue, died Friday evening from heart failure superinduced by an attack of diphtheria.

FUNERAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Flack.—Funeral services of Mrs. Charles Flack will be held Monday morning at 9:15 from the residence, 1150 Grant avenue, and at 10 o'clock from Trinity Episcopal church.

Frase.—Funeral services of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Frase will be held Sunday morning at 9 o'clock from the residence, 632 West Third street; interment at Leo.

Worman.—Funeral services of Jacob Worman will be held Sunday afternoon from the residence, 2207 Force street. At 1:30 o'clock the W. R. C. will hold flag service over the remains, next the ritualistic service of Lawton-Wayne post, G. A. R., will be held, and the funeral service will follow. The remains will be taken Monday morning to Swan for interment.

BEER DEPOT NO NUISANCE.

Indianapolis, Nov. 2.—In reversing a judgment that convicted the Terre Haute Brewing company of maintaining a nuisance by owning a beer depot at Spencer, the supreme court Thursday held that a beer depot for the sale of beer by the keg is not necessarily a nuisance. Judge Montgomery, who wrote the opinion, held that sales of five gallons of liquor may be lawfully made by wholesalers or any person, whether such person be another wholesaler, jobber, retailer or consumer, without subjecting the seller to the provisions of the liquor laws.

Another decision handed down by the supreme court yesterday was that affirming a life sentence given Frank Thurman for killing his father-in-law by putting poison in his coffee. The theory of this case was that Thurman had had criminal relations with his wife's younger sister and fearing that the girl would tell of the assault, planned to kill her. The entire family was made sick by the coffee, but only the father died.

HEIR OF WASHINGTON IS SEEKING SITE TO GREAT CITY

Cincinnati Built on Land One Granted to Father of the Country.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 2.—To recover some little parcels of real estate, given by two grateful governments to George Washington about 100 years ago and worth, at the present time, hundreds of millions of dollars, are the object of proceedings started formally yesterday by the heirs at law of the father of his country.

After an undisturbed rest of nearly a century in the circuit court of Fairfax county, Virginia, the Washington estate has been re-opened by the appointment of an administrator for the undistributed assets which consist of this almost forgotten land which he possessed.

The appointment was made upon the application of Lawrence Washington and S. W. Washington, heirs-at-law of George Washington. Robert E. Lee of Fairfax county, was appointed administrator. He is a grandson of Robert E. Lee and a great-grandson of "Light Horse" Harry Lee, Gen. Washington's chief of staff.

The land which the heirs seek to recover is situated in Ohio, and is fully described in Washington's will. It aggregates nearly 10,000 acres, and includes practically all the land on which the city of Cincinnati is built. Another tract of the land embraces Point Pleasant, the birthplace of General Grant, while another, at the mouth of the Kanawha river, is rich in coal and oil deposits.

Want Land or Money.
Part of the land was granted to Washington by the British government as a reward for his military services and part of it was granted to him by the United States later for the same reason. The heirs who have brought the suit scarcely hope to recover the specific tracts of land granted to their great forebear, since by an error all the territory embraced in the grants has been, at one time and another, given to settlers.

But in default of such recovery the heirs expect to obtain from congress a sum of money equivalent to the value of the land—whether its value at the time of the grant to Washington or at the present time is not known. If congress should award the heirs the present value it would run up to hundreds of millions.

SAYS HE FOUND NORTH POLE.

Traveler at Anderson Tells Weird Story of Arctic Discovery.

Anderson, Ind., Nov. 2.—George B. Cooper, who says he is on his way to the home of his father in Owen county, was in this city yesterday and asserted that he was returning from Alaska, where he has discovered the north pole. Cooper said he had been in Alaska for eight years and had come back to visit his father. He tells a weird story of his journey through a subterranean passage which he discovered while out prospecting by himself.

The place of sunshine and vegetation, which he asserted he found after traveling for weeks through a tunnel lighted by some mysterious phosphorescent substance, was a beautiful plain surrounded by ice peaks, but the climate was pleasant. In fact he enjoyed the place so much that he stayed there, living on fruit and vegetables until he felt the approach of autumnal sunsets and hastened back to Alaska through the tunnel. Cooper admits that he did not bring back much gold from Alaska, nor any photographs from the north pole.

HANLY AND FOLK TO SPEAK.

Will Talk of Law Enforcement at Columbus, Ohio.

Columbus, O., Nov. 2.—Governor Folk, of Missouri, and Governor Hanly, of Indiana, arrived here today to speak tonight at a meeting in Memorial hall in the interests of law enforcement and Sunday closing, which is the feature of the local campaign here. Governor Harris is not here to welcome the two governors, having gone to his home in Eaton.

SALE OF M'CURDY FURNITURE.

Mutual Directors' Table That Cost $12,000 Brings $110.

New York, Nov. 2.—The second day's sale of the furniture from the table of ex-President McCurdy and other officials of the Mutual Life Insurance company brought in $27,000. The total amount received at the two days' sale was about $35,000. The directors' table, at which the elder McCurdy presided for many years and which cost the company $12,000, sold for $110.

WILL GIVE SON $1 FOR ROPE.

One "Long and Strong Enough to Support His Wife" Is Specified.

New York, Nov. 2.—In the will of John Ling, an old time resident of Woodbridge, N. J., a copy of which was filed in the office of the surrogate of Queens county, in Jamaica, L. I., yesterday, in order to cover some of the following clause:
"I leave and bequeath to John Ling, my son, the sum of $1. My wish for John Ling, Jr., is to purchase a rope long and strong enough to support his wife, with the said sum of $1, or 100 cents, the same to be paid six months after my decease by my wife, Mary Ling, her heirs and executors."

The records do not show whether John put the bequest to the use designated by his father, who objected strenuously to his daughter-in-law. The will is dated March 9, 1857.

TOO LATE FOR CLASSIFICATION.

FOR RENT—Furnished rooms for light housekeeping, 150 squares from court house, 358 East Berry st.

WANTED—500 people to buy one set of post cards, 15 in set at 25c per set; send money or stamps, Oriental Notion Supply House, New Haven, Ind.

LOST—Fox terrier dog, named "Bob," with collar, red bow on neck with ear on back. Reward, 350 West Sutherland st.

CASH TO MEET PAYROLLS IS VERY PROMPTLY SUPPLIED

Banks Take Care of Local Situation Handily—The Clearings.

Fort Wayne banks are promptly supplying cash to take care of the payroll of the big manufacturing institutions, and the financial situation is moving along smoothly with very little annoyance. Several of the manufacturing institutions paid their employees today, and other big pay-days will come next week.

Members of the Clearing House association, at a meeting last evening, expressed great satisfaction with the manner in which the results of the eastern flurry, now practically ended, have been accepted, and they say that everything is trending toward an early return to normal business conditions. Cash means in the local banks in almost every instance show an increase for the past week.

CLEARING HOUSE REPORT.

Bank clearings in Fort Wayne for the week aggregate a total of $752,439.64 as against $850,213.68 for last week, and $770,498.38 for the corresponding week last year. Present balances are $217,812.37.

FEAST OF ALL SOULS.

Special Services Are Held in the Catholic Churches of the City.

Today the feast of All Souls was the occasion of special services in all of the Catholic churches of the city. At the Cathedral pontifical high mass was celebrated by Rt. Rev. Bishop Alender at 8 o'clock. Rev. P. F. Roche was assistant priest, Rev. P. J. MacCorry and Rev. A. E. Lafontaine deacons of honor. Rev. William Miller deacon of the mass. Rev. William Hoff sub-deacon. Rev. S. M. Yenn, master of ceremonies. The sermon was delivered by Rev. William D. Sullivan, one of the gifted Paulists conducting the mission at the Cathedral. Father Sullivan is a powerful and eloquent speaker and his discourse this morning was one of the most thoughtful and impressive delivered during the mission series. His sermon was in accordance with the feast of the day, touching upon its significance and import, demonstrating the spirit of generosity and charity that prompts the living to remember in their petitions the souls of the faithful departed and concluded with a powerful plea for devotion to the souls in purgatory.

The devotion of the forty hours will open with high mass at the Cathedral on Monday morning. Thirteen hours' devotion will open with high mass at 10 o'clock at St. Louis church, Besancon, on Monday morning. The opening sermon will be delivered by Rev. William Hoff, the devoted assistant at the Cathedral.

IS MYSTERIOUSLY MISSING.

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 2.—Friends of Albert Krippendorff, secretary of a local shoe manufacturing company, have called on the police to try to locate him. He left his office at noon yesterday and then dropped mysteriously from sight. No explanation has been found for his disappearance and his friends fear harm may have befallen him.

FALLIERES TO VISIT SPAIN.

Paris, Nov. 2.—President Fallieres, it is announced, has decided to accept the invitation of King Alfonso to visit him in Madrid and will start for Spain early in April next.

FALLIERES TO VISIT SPAIN.

Paris, Nov. 2.—President Fallieres, it is announced, has decided to accept the invitation of King Alfonso to visit him in Madrid and will start for Spain early in April next.

IS free from harmful elements.

Its alkalinity destroys mouth acid germs. It permeates the entire tooth and mouth structure with its healthy fragrance. A tonic to the gums. SOZODONT is an article of merit. Its popularity of sixty years will attest to that.

Home Loan Company

BAGS BUSHELS BARRELS

Of money which we wish to put out in any amount from $5 to $100, on your furniture, piano, horses, vehicles and other like security of value, at the lowest rates in the city.

You can have from one month to one year to pay it back. You can pay weekly or monthly as it is most convenient, and we leave the property in your possession. A big rebate if you pay before the contract expires.

We give time in case of sickness or trouble.

No Delay No Red Tape No Publicity

We treat you right after you get a loan the same as before. People who borrow from us once always come back again in case of need. Don't take our word for it but ask others who have dealt here.

Home Loan Company

North American Bldg. Room 15 Second Floor.

Opposite Temple Theater. Home Phone 2080.

Home Loan Company

Home Loan Company

Home Loan Company

Home Loan Company

Home Loan Company

Home Loan Company

Home Loan Company

Home Loan Company

Home Loan Company

Home Loan Company

Home Loan Company

Home Loan Company

Home Loan Company

Home Loan Company

Home Loan Company

Home Loan Company

Home Loan Company

Home Loan Company

SOCIETY

The parties in celebration of Halloween began a day early and the enumeration of them has continued until today. Everything was favorable for lots of fun. Even pumpkins were plentiful and the stores were filled with pretty favors and toys significant of the day, whether those who bought the manufactured lanterns and pumpkins had as much fun as those who hacked away at the real article and put a candle inside to grin through a hideous face is hard to tell. But at any rate the children weren't the only ones in town who were too sleepy to get up on time the morning after.

The coming week will be attended by more parties for future brides and several home weddings. The nuptials of Miss Katherine Walton, a sweet and womanly bride-elect of the month, and Mr. Arthur Stanley Bland will be quietly celebrated at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Walton, on East Wayne street, on Wednesday evening. Only relatives will be present at the marriage service at 8 o'clock, but a reception to most intimate friends will be held at 9 o'clock. The invitations have been confined to relatives and nearest family friends for two reasons, illness in the family of the bride and a somewhat recent bereavement in Mr. Bland's family. Miss Walton will have her sister, Mrs. Herbert Wilkinson, of Niles, O., for matron of honor and her cousin, Mrs. Edwin Allfree, and Miss Virginia Carnahan as ribbon bearers. Mr. Bland will have his brother, Mr. Niles C. Bland, of North Annapolis, Colo., for best man. E. W. Averill will officiate. Mr. Bland has lived in Fort Wayne about three years and at present is assistant engineer in the maintenance of way department of the Pennsylvania, and has made many friends during his residence here.

A large and beautiful card party was the manner in which Miss Walter and Miss Evelyn Walter entertained this afternoon for Miss Woolsey. There were seventy-five guests invited, including the following from out of town who were present: Mrs. William Fielder, Miss Mary Jennings and Mrs. Frank Myers, of Middlebury, Ind. Bridge was the game for the afternoon. Tally cards for the night were pictures of couples. The flowers used in decorating were pink carnations and pink chrysanthemums. In the diningroom pink-headed candles added further prettiness to the scene. The young ladies who form the Neighborhood Bridge club, assisted in serving refreshments.

Miss Virginia Carnahan gave a formal afternoon company for the Fort Wayne ladies. A musical concert was amusement. Refreshments were served in the diningroom which was decorated with yellow carnations and yellow shaded candles. The invited list included Mrs. Edwin Allfree, of Chicago; Mrs. Fred McCulloch, Mrs. T. R. Cook, Mrs. Alex. White, Miss Porter, Miss Reiche, Miss Russell, Miss Elmer Bond, Miss Hilda Lane, Miss Julia Hanna, Miss Fairbank, Miss Dreier, Miss Elizabeth Evans, Miss Peters, Miss Fee, Miss Sholair Hattersley, Miss Griebel, Miss Lowry, Miss Elma Gray, Miss Eliza Hanna, Miss Irma Beazel, of Legion.

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Rowan, of Waton avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Violet Lucille, to Dr. H. E. Steinman, of Monroeville.

Helen Pape.

Photo by Miner.

Sentinel's Free Cook Book

FRIED TOMATOES.

Both green and ripe tomatoes are excellent fried. For the former, wash dry and cut in rather thick slices, without peeling. Cover with boiling water and set back on the range, so the water will keep hot, but not boil, for fifteen minutes or until the tomatoes turn a pale golden color. Drain, dip in flour or fine corn meal, seasoned with salt and pepper, then fry a nice brown in pork or bacon drippings and serve very hot, arranging in little piles of two or three and putting a piece of butter on each slice as it is dished. These are a fine accompaniment to lamb chops or veal croquettes. To fry the ripe tomatoes, slice large, firm fruit in medium thick slices, season with salt and pepper, sprinkle plentifully with fine corn meal (as much as will cling to either side), then fry in smoking hot fat until browned on both sides. Take up carefully with a broad bladed knife or pancake turner and arrange in little piles on a hot platter. Put another tablespoonful of butter or pork drippings in the pan, add an equal amount of flour, stir until frothy, then pour in milk or cream to make the consistency desired. Season to taste with salt and pepper, pour over the tomatoes and serve.

The Ladies' Auxiliary to the Order of Railway Conductors gave a dance and pedro party at the Mulqueen academy last evening and a large and merry crowd enjoyed the occasion. In the games first prize for ladies, a handsome cut glass piece was won by Mrs. Thomas Ryan, of Clinton street, and the first prize for gentlemen, a beautiful stein, was awarded to Mr. Smart, of Boone street. There was good music and the dancing was enjoyed to a late hour.

Mrs. E. J. Longfield entertained the members of the San Antonio club and their husbands on Thursday evening, much to the enjoyment of the company. The house was prettily decorated, appropriately for the evening, and at the fine supper served the guests received favors of small pumpkin baskets filled with sweetmeats. In playing pedro the prizes were won by Mrs. Wegmiller and Mr. Thibault.

Roy Jornd was one of the young people who was host for a party on Thursday evening and he invited a number of his friends to his home on West DeWald street. The guests were Misses Marie Contant, Florence Bensman, Lois Fletcher, Nellie Briggs, Ina Briggs, Zella Arter and Ralph Trevel, George Klopner, Robert Pence, Amasa Arter, J. Proxmire, Herman Spiegel, William Barter, Harry Heller.

Mrs. John Fratis, of Columbia avenue, was given a happy surprise yesterday by the members of the Interiors Pedro club who took all necessary things along for a supper and a merry time generally. The club also presented Mrs. Fratis with a handsome souvenir of the day. The ladies who planned the affair were Mesdames J. E. Scroggy, W. F. Graeter, E. W. Cook, C. S. Bash Jr., Lewis, H. L. Somers, E. R. Burkett, Conner, Miller, B. Gard, Will Leckert, Conner, E. W. Gudakunst, J. V. Reul, John McAlevy, E. J. Heywood.

A jolly company gathered at the home of Mrs. Harry Schlachter, on Davis street, last evening, to remind her of her birthday anniversary. The rooms were beautifully decorated with ferns and chrysanthemums. Progressive pedro and other games were played. A fine supper was served. Mrs. Mills and Mr. Bill won the prizes. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Wiggins, Mr. and Mrs. Low, Mr. and Mrs. Baer, Mr. and Mrs. Bill, Mr. and Mrs. Mills, Mr. and Mrs. Braker, Mrs. May and son, Mrs. Niemi, Mrs. Baer and son, Mrs. Chuter, Mrs. Rumer, Mrs. Ella White, Agnes Schlachter, Mildred Dressel, Clara and Selma Baer, Catherine Zenz and Miss Chuter.

Miss Rosella Yann entertained a company of young people on Thursday evening, much to the pleasure of her guests. The rooms were prettily decorated in the colors of red and white, with palms and ferns affording a pretty contrast. Prizes in games were won by Miss Jennie Krause, Miss Louise Brown and Messrs. James Snyder and Elmer Bencke. Miss Margaret Hobbs assisted as hostess in serving supper. The guests were Misses Clara Bencke, Adeline Brown, Louise Brown, Alvina Bieberich, Jennie Krause, Nettie Hink and Messrs. Otto Yann, Arthur Elmer, Clark Patterson, James Snyder, Oscar Bieberich, William Raudebusch, Elmer Bencke and O. Stein.

One of the pretty parties of Thursday evening was Miss Margaret Strube's at her home, 1218 Scott avenue. The guests shivered over ghost stories and puzzled their brains over the promises for the future that were told them. The rooms were prettily decorated with colored incandescents, lights and festoons of orange paper of corresponding colors. Mrs. Strube assisted by Mrs. J. C. Wagner and Mrs. Edith Ehrman, served a fine supper for the amusement of the evening. The guests who enjoyed the merry party were Misses Bertha Herman, Helen and Marie Goodfellow, Irene Lennon, Irma Cox, Theresa Daney, Gertrude Mungovan, Muriel Larimore, Helen Loos, Julia Brannan, Isabel Ehrman, Florence Dennis, Angela Batten.

A company of merry-makers was entertained at a party given at the home of Miss Cosie Stout in Lakeside on Thursday evening. Cards were the main feature of the evening and prizes were won by Miss Edith Reiter, Louis Schirmeyer, Miss Edith Westendorf and Othmar Heiny. A supper was served at midnight in which every one ate justice. Music was furnished by Clyde Stout, E. Derheimer and John Deppen. The house was prettily decorated with potted plants. The guests were Misses Edith Reiter, Edith Westendorf, Carrie Millman, Katherine Butler, Katharine Anderson, Leona Wilkens, Frances Funk, Gussie Deppen, Mr. and Mrs. Swadner, and Messrs. Ed Derheimer, Othmar Heiny, Joe Humbrecht, Louis Schirmeyer, John Deppen, Fred Bartels, Arthur Busching, Clyde Stout.

Miss Evelyn Meyer invited a number of young people to her home on Harrison street last evening to meet Jerome Stutz, who is here from Washington, D. C., for a short visit. Miss Evelyn was assisted by her aunts, the Misses Meyer, in entertaining. Progressive pedro was the special amusement. The dining room decorations were pink carnations and pink shades to the lights. The guests were Misses Elmer and Emma Top, Helen Miller, Frances Telley, Edna Pape, Grace Griswold, Helen Travis, Marie Scroggy, Katherine Freese, Edith Jacobs, Olga Meyer and Herbert Zurmuehlen, Alfred Gessler, Maynard Durfee, Budd Swearingen, Bartlett Shryock, Bruce Winch, Wier Garwood, Robert Travis, Karl Katt, Harlan Milburn, Carl Bredenstein. The honor guest, Jerome Stutz, left today for his home in Washington.

Miss Crow and her brother, E. L. Crow, have gone to Cleveland for a visit. Miss Crow will remain several days.

One of the merriest companies of young folks on Thursday night was the gathering of playmates and school friends of Marvis and Malcolm Whyte, sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Whyte, 1123 Glasgow avenue. The children were asked to come in masquerade costume suitable for the night and as a result there was a wonderful lot of goblins, ghosts, witches and imps with a fairy or two scattered among them, who were ready to play all sorts of pranks. One of the peculiar features of the evening was dancing around a bonfire, a sport the Whyte family learned in their old home in Scotland. In the house the guests played games, guessed charades and enjoyed a fine supper. There were present the following young children: Helen Thompson, Ethel Laurens, Marian and Ruth Leonard, Constance Martin, Helen Winch, Paula Stetter, Ellen Whyte, Walter Wheeler, Dickie Hattendorf, Ralph Light, Bernard Ellert, William Wallace Evans and Leonard Ellenwood.

Notes of the Literary Clubs.
The monthly meeting of the D. A. R. local chapter, will be held on Monday afternoon with Mrs. O. N. Heaton. Mrs. Frank Rahe will read a paper concerning historic houses and furniture of colonial times.

The opening study meeting of the Book Reviewers' club will be held on Monday afternoon, November 5, with Mrs. Alexander Baxter. The book to be reviewed is "The Weavers" by Parker. Mrs. Laughton will give the review.

The Nineteenth Century club will meet with Miss Elizabeth McCracken on Tuesday afternoon. "An Hour with the Magazines," will be the subject and Miss McCracken will lead the discussion.

Judge Walter Olds will read a paper before the Fortnightly club on Monday evening on "Disposition of Property and Taxation of Inheritance." The discussion will be handled by Judge Heaton, Judge Taylor, F. B. Shoaff and T. E. Elliott.

Notes of Things Musical.
Lovers of music are anticipating two public recitals which are to be given in this city this month. The first will be a piano and song recital in Anthony Wayne club a week from tonight by Mrs. Clara Zollars-Bond, soprano and Miss Josephine Large, pianiste, of Chicago. It has been many months since Mrs. Bond has been heard in concert program here. She is always artistic both vocally and in interpretation. Miss Large is a thorough musician and fine performer who has won honors at many recitals in Chicago and on the Pacific coast where she has spent several summers. It is to be hoped that Miss Large will play one or more of the compositions written by her sister, Miss Margaret Large, who has been studying in Germany for some time. The Large family lived in Fort Wayne some years ago and both ladies, particularly Miss Josephine Large, have many friends and acquaintances here. The concert will be given under the auspices of the Ladies' society of the Episcopal church.

The Morning Musical society had an engagement with the famous pianist, Madame Carreno, but it has been cancelled owing to the serious illness of Madame Carreno's daughter. Instead the society will bring the famous American violinist, Francis McMillen here. The recital will be given in the Majestic theater November 21. Praises of the violinist have filled columns of the eastern papers during the past year and a half, and there is no question that Mr. McMillen is one of the greatest violin players in the world. It may be interesting to people who had built much upon hearing Madame Carreno, to know that she is in the Fiji Islands, and that her daughter, who is hopelessly ill, is as gifted a pianist as her mother.

The St. Cecilia society is progressing finely under the direction of J. B. Archer and about thirty singers are present at every rehearsal. The membership is limited to fifty and new singers are being added continually.

"LIKE MAGIC"
New Food Makes Wonderful Changes.
When a man has suffered from dyspepsia so many years that he can remember when he had a natural appetite, and then hits on a cure, he may be excused for saying "it acts like magic."
When it is a simple wholesome food instead of any one of a large number of so called remedies in the form of drugs, he is more than ever likely to feel as though a sort of miracle has been performed.
A Chicago man, in the delight of restored digestion, puts it in this way: "Like magic, fittingly describes the manner in which Grape-Nuts cured me of poor digestion, coated tongue and loss of appetite, of many years standing."
"I tried about every medicine that was recommended to me, without relief. Then I tried Grape-Nuts on the suggestion of a friend. By the time I had finished the fourth package, my stomach was all right, and for the past two months, I have been eating with a relish, anything set before me. That is something I had been unable to do previously for years."
"I am stronger than ever and I consider the effects of Grape-Nuts on a weak stomach as something really wonderful. It builds up the entire body as well as the brain and nerves. Name given by the Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in packs. There's a Reason."

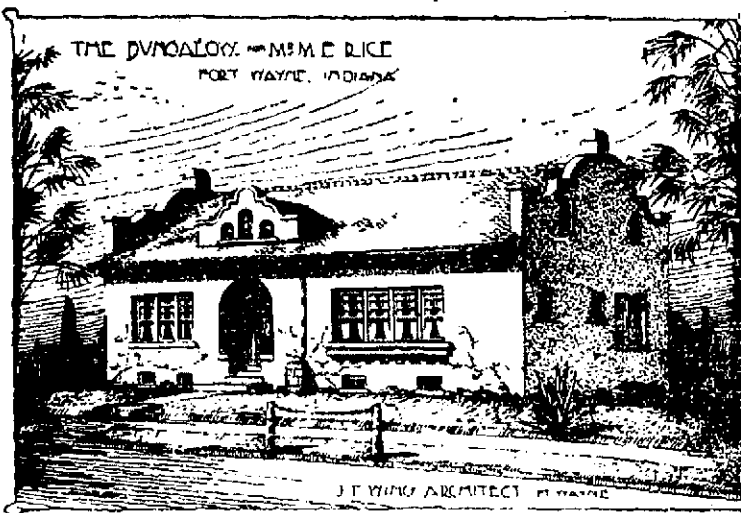

WANTED—Girl or woman singer, who can play her own simple piano accompaniment. P. O. box 208, city.

FOR SALE—Attractive modern 9-room house; full lot; choice west side location; price $4,700. For particulars address "West Side" care Sentinel.

Patterson-Fletcher Co. sells a Hart, Schaffner & Marx Black Raincoat for $20.

R. L. McGee left today for Toledo on business.

First Bungalow in Fort Wayne Will Be Unique Home of M. E. Rice

The first bungalow of real mission type in Fort Wayne is now in course of erection by M. E. Rice on Webster street between Wayne street and Washington boulevard, and the attractive and unique creation will be the home of the well-known theater owner. In the design Architect J. F. Wing has taken a distinct step in advance, and the type of mission or old Mexican work is sustained throughout.

The bungalow is 30x50 feet in size, constructed of brick. The walls have the appearance of being two feet in thickness, and are cement plastered on the outside, as is common in this class of work. The roof is of red tile. Small panes of glass are used, and there is a unique front door entrance, with thumb-latch straps and knocker. The building has three sleeping rooms, maid's room, bath room, kitchen and a living room 16x20 feet in dimensions. At the living end of this room is an old brick mantel of generous proportions, and the opposite end will be used as the dining room. The bungalow will be finished in oak with mission finish and furnished to match, with hardwood floors, unique wood electric fixtures and appointments in harmonious keeping with this type of architectural construction.

JUDGE ADVOCATES FINES FOR MEN WHO SOLD BOYS BEER

Laxity of Officers and Parents May Prevent Arrests—Courts.

In disposing of the cases of Kleith Miller and James Yerkes, who were in the juvenile court today on the charge of drunkenness, Judge O'Rourke stated that the men who sold the little fellows liquor ought to be punished, but the laxity of the parents and the neglect of duty on the part of the police department will probably result in the escape of the saloon men who were the direct cause of the debauchery of the lads.

The boys were placed in the hands of the probation officers. Affidavits against the saloon men are in the hands of the police, but the chief of the department and the arresting officer have declined to sign them. Deputy Prosecutor Harry W. Niade says it is the duty of the police to file the affidavits, although he admits that he has the right to file them in the court. There the matter rests. Kleith Miller lives with his stepfather, William Kaylor, of 131 Baker street, and is one of four children. Yerkes' father lives at 807 Monroe street, and is a moulder. He is married a second time and the boy has a stepmother. He stated that he was in the furnace business and when Attorney Frank R. Duffin asked him to sign affidavits against the saloon men, he said it would hurt his trade. Kaylor was simply indifferent, and declined to affix his signature. According to the report of Probation Officer Peaton the home surroundings of the boys are good and the only cause for their delinquency is the ease with which they obtained beer to get drunk on.

Old Case on Trial.
The suit of Julia Fay Randall against Joseph G. William M. and Oliver M. Foote, which has been on the superior court docket for a number of years, was placed on trial before Judge O. N. Heaton today. It involves the transfer of a farm and has been in litigation on a number of branches.

Court Notes.
The commissioners today awarded the contract for constructing the Clayton stone road in Madison township to William Busching for $7,650.

Commissioner George Lechner, of Wells county, was here today to ask a change of the date of hearing on the Belle joint road from November 12 to Belle joint road from November 12 to 18. The matter is under advisement.

An affidavit was filed asking that a commission be appointed to pass upon the sanity of Miss Anna Robman, for several years cashier in the Lehman shoe store. She is being held at St. Joseph's hospital.

Judge O'Rourke arranged for a hearing in the circuit court at 4 o'clock this afternoon upon the application to have a guardian appointed for A. L. Scott, who is confined in the insane ward at the county infirmary. Pearl A. Blake has filed suit for divorce from Marion Blake, alleging cruelty and failure to provide, Alken & Underwood are the attorneys.

ROOMS.

Young men at Electric works looking for furnished rooms in modern home, west side, should address "Home" care Sentinel.

Dr. Lyon's PERFECT Tooth Powder

Cleanses, preserves and beautifies the teeth, and Purifies the breath
A superior dentifrice for people of refinement Established in 1866 by
J. H. Lyon, D.D.S.

The Italian Conservatory of Music

GIORGIO M. SULLI, Director.
Students will have a thorough Italian musical culture as they might in Italy, without crossing the ocean.
Partial scholarships and many other free advantages.
School opens September 16, 1907. Send for catalogue and application blank.
Insurance Building, 820 Chapel St. NEW HAVEN, CONNECTICUT.
Sulli's New York Vocal Studio, 816 Carnegie Hall.

A. HATTERSLEY & SON PLUMBERS, STEAM AND GAS FITTERS.

208-212 E. Fort Wayne, MAIN ST.

Dr. Ranke, FT. WAYNE, IND. Practice Limited to Diseases of the EYE, EAR, NOSE, THROAT. Glasses Adjusted.

first edition of the new song, "My Texas Bride," composed by Miss Aldean Martin, of this city, and is now having a special sale on same. He has also had a special set of slides prepared for the song, which will be sung at the Temple theater next week by Miss Hilda Schene, a very promising young vocalist of this city.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.
William N. Hess, 27, machinist, and Eva L. Braden, 22.

AFTER THEIR OLD JOBS.
Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 2.—The telegraph operators of this city are applying to the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies for their positions today. S. W. Perry, secretary of the local union, was informed that instructions had been given to the men to get their positions back. None of the union officials will discuss the matter, however. The Western Union has a full quota of men and is not looking for more. Several were taken back on the fatal.

CAIRO OF THANKS.
We wish in this manner to convey to all who so earnestly endeavored to temper our sorrow with sympathy our sincere gratitude. We especially mention Rev. Ruhl and the Concordia singing society.
THE MOTHER AND SISTERS OF H. W. KRAH.

Recital of Miss Large and Mrs. Clara Zollars-Bond at the Anthony Wayne club Saturday evening, Nov. 9, under the auspices of the Ladies' Association of Trinity Episcopal church. 2-7L

THE OLD SETTLER
BLACK RAINWATER OR MUDDY HYDRANT WATER
IN A FEW HOURS
WILL NOT HARDEN WATER, NOR INJURE THE SKIN. PURIFIES THE WATER, KILLS THE GERMS.
A 10¢ BOX WILL CLEAR FROM 15 TO 25 BBL. OF BLACK OR MUDDY WATER.
For Sale by ALL GROCERS.

CHRYSANTEMUMS

WE GROW IN GREAT VARIETY

Violets Roses Carnations

First of the season For Bride For any occasion.
Fresh and fragrant and Maid. In All Colors.

MISS FLICK, Florist

TELEGRAPHIC, TELEPHONE AND MAIL ORDERS.
Open 8:30 P. M. to Sunday 9 A. M. to 5 P. M.

WATCHES

You will want to buy a Watch soon—We have a large variety of handsome cases that include the Latest and the Finest of this year's designs—Movements that have been thoroughly tested before leaving the factory.

A small deposit will hold one of them until Christmas.

The Gift Store Trenkley & Koerber 816 Calhoun St.

Broken Lenses
Replaced. Frames Repaired While You Wait, by Experienced Workmen.

Our Methods of testing eyes includes all the latest scientific improvements not one man's ideas.

Those Dainty Rimless Eyeglasses That Stay On ARE MADE BY EXPERT DALLAS F. GREEN OPTICIAN.
—ARCADE—

Northern Indiana News and Gossip

The democratic primary election in Adams county will be held December 6.

Frederick E. Cole, 71 years of age, is dead at his home southwest of Albion.

James Parker, 35, fell from a load of hay east of Chubbuck and fractured his jaw.

Schools at Rome City have been closed because of the prevalence of scarlet fever in the town.

A jack-o'-lantern used in Halloween decorations set fire to the home of Dr. Lew Daily, at Bluffton. By the time it was extinguished extensive damage had resulted.

The DeKalb County Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance company has paid losses from fire and lightning during the past ten months aggregating $9,539.29. This is rather heavier than usual.

John Groh, 73 years of age, died Thursday at his home near Lisbon, Noble county. He was a pioneer resident of that section, and was closely identified with the early history of Lisbon and Corunna.

Miss Grace Harb, of Decatur, is dead at the home of her brother, Orla Harb, in Neosha, Mo., where she had been visiting for several months. Miss Harb was preparing to return home when she was seized by hemorrhages of the stomach.

While Oliver Kizer was adjusting a charge of dynamite for a blast in a stone quarry near Linn Grove, Adams county, Thursday afternoon, the dynamite exploded, killing Kizer instantly. His head was fearfully crushed. Kizer was 26 years of age and leaves a widow.

William Place, agent for the Lake Shore road at Chesterton, LaPorte county, went to the cemetery near that place and committed suicide by drowning himself in a tank of water. He was 65 years of age and leaves a family. No cause is known for his rash act.

Mrs. Merrett Baker, of DeKalb county narrowly escaped cremation in a fire which destroyed her home. Mrs. Baker seized her child and hastened down stairs. At that time the flames were bursting through the stairway and the lower rooms were all ablaze. On her way to the open air the flowing hair of her head was singed.

While conversing with several of his friends near his home, the Rev. Frank Bear, formerly identified with the Evangelical church and for fifteen years one of the leaders in the Saints' church of Northern Indiana, dropped dead at his home in Akron, near Warsaw. The Rev. Mr. Bear, who was 65 years old, had been in his usual good health up until the fatal stroke.

The Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary society of the northern Indiana synod of the Lutheran church, at Three Rivers, Mich., elect President, Mrs. A. V. Hunter, Columbia City, Ind.; vice president, Mrs. J. A. Pettit, Elkhart; recording secretary, Mrs. W. H. Shrock, Fort Wayne; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Showalter, Three Rivers, Mich.; treasurer, Mrs. E. E. Neibel, Ann Arbor. The next meeting will be held at Detroit. Attorney Walter S. Bent, at Wabash, has brought suit for $1,000 against the Indiana Union Traction company on behalf of Arthur Wingard for damages. This is based on the search that was made of his premises at Lafontaine for copper wire that was stolen from the traction company at Lafontaine. Mr. Wingard, who is a laborer, claims that the company had officers to enter his residence and premises and make a search for the wire. None was found.

A Weesner, a merchant at Converse, has disappeared, abandoning his family, and the only word from him in more than a week was contained in a letter mailed at Wabash, telling of his intention to remain abroad and to turn his business interests over to his wife, whom he deserted. Miss Tressie Newman, a pretty young woman employed in Weesner's store, is also missing, and it is believed the pair eloped. Weesner's wife is now operating the store and is bearing up bravely under the embarrassment.

The death of Mrs. Sadie Stiver, of Logansport, Thursday night, was hastened by a scream of fright emitted by her daughter, who was scared by a Halloween reveler. Mrs. Stiver had been a sufferer from a fatal malady and the physicians had informed her family that she had only a short time to live. She was in a weakened condition that night when her daughter went to the door to answer a knock. Opening the door she was badly frightened by a masquerader and screamed loudly. Mrs. Stiver heard her daughter's cry, and was so affected that her death intervened a few moments later.

After being cast about carelessly for a week an old shoe containing more than $1,000 poured forth its treasure into a cobbler's lap Wednesday at Hartford City. When Henry Goddard, an old shoemaker, picked up a shoe from a pile that was to be repaired he almost fell off his bench when the greenbacks, with which the shoe was literally stuffed, began dropping into his apron. The shoe had been left at the shop by James Parker, a hotel man.

Mrs. Catherine Wright, of Bryant, is soon to have a visit from her daughter, living in Michigan, whom she has not seen since the daughter was stolen from her when a babe of three years. More than a score of years ago Mrs. Wright was the wife of a man named Young, who abandoned the family, but later returned and stole the little daughter. Despite efforts made, neither the erring husband nor the stolen daughter were located, though the woman reared the children of her former husband by a prior marriage and has continued to love them as her own. But a short time ago mother and daughter learned of each other's whereabouts. The daughter is now married and is the mother of a bright-eyed little girl.

The postmaster of Gasconade, Mo., Daniel A. Bugh, says: "I cannot say too much for your Kidney and Bladder Pills. I feel like a new man." DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills are sold by all druggists.

FOR SALE—New seven-room modern house, 2405 Force St. For price and terms call phone 6877.

Twenty-Five Years Ago

What The Sentinel Had to Say About Persons and Events Twenty-Five Years Ago.

The Robinson house is turning away people.

A campaign cigar made Lieutenant Wilkinson quite ill last night.

The fire department urgently needs a telephone. It should be put in the engine house at once.

Seventeen new members were mustered into Sion S. Bass post, G. A. R., last night.

Fred Tyler is installed in F. D. Havens' late position as night clerk at the Robinson.

T. E. Ellison and J. M. Robinson last night addressed a democratic meeting at school house No. 3, in Pleasant township.

The Nickel Plate freight depot, though not yet completed, is already used for storage purposes.

Dr. Duemling, of Concordia college, lectures this evening at Lutheran library hall. Subject: "Literature."

Sol Bash, S. L. Alden and J. G. Fisher left this morning for a point beyond Bluffton. They expect to come home this evening loaded down with game.

The eating house at the Nickel Plate depot opens Monday under the management of Mr. Mumby, late of Cleveland.

Manager Perry has several autographic signatures of Jay Gould and is pestered by hunters of the chirography of great men.

R. H. Fleming, traveling agent of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad, has established an office in the Avonline block.

The election returns will be read from the Academy stage next Tuesday night by Col. Scott between the acts of "La Mascotte."

L. L. Jerningham, of Chicago, is in the city. He is thinking of starting a hotel near the Nickel Plate depot and may conclude to build.

George Fry will play Deadeye in "Pinafore" no one else being inclined to take the part. There will be a rehearsal this evening.

Only One "BROMO QUININE" that is Laxative Bromo Quinine
Cures a Cold in One Day. Cuts in 2 Days on every box. 25c

First Thing

"When I Feel Bad"

writes Mrs. R. H. Cox, of Jasper, Ala., "the first thing I do, is to take a dose of Cardui, and it relieves."

"I have kept Cardui in the house now, for about 12 years, am nearly 50 years old, and have no female trouble, like so many women."

"What a wonderful medicine Cardui is! I wish I could put it into every home in the world. When any woman is at my house, and complains, I just give her a dose of Cardui. I am glad to tell other women what it has done for me. I tell women, right before the doctors, to get themselves a bottle of Cardui, and they won't need any doctors. "Before I began to take Cardui, I was very sick with female troubles, and the doctors said I could not get well without an operation, so I just stopped fooling with the doctors and began taking Cardui, which cured me, sound and well. I have not had to go to bed a day since I first took Cardui." Sold everywhere. Try it.

MRS. R. H. COX,
Jasper, Ala.

FREE BOOK FOR LADIES

Write for Free 64-page Book for Women. If you need advice, describe symptoms, stating age and we will reply in plain sealed envelope. Address: Ladies Advisory Dept., The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Take CARDUI

Biliousness

"I have used your valuable Cascarets and find them perfect. Couldn't do without them. I have used them for some time for indigestion and biliousness and am now completely cured. I recommend them to everyone. Once tried, you will never be without them in the family."

Edward A. Marx, Albany, N. Y.

Pleasant, Palatable, Potent, Taste Good, Do Good. Never Sickens, Weakens or Gripes. 10c, 25c, 50c. Never sold in bulk. The genuine tablet stamped G.C.G. Guaranteed to cure or your money back. Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago and N.Y. 50c ANNUAL SALE, TEN MILLION BOXES appeal to the Well-Informed in every walk of life and are essential to permanent success and creditable standing. Accordingly, it is not claimed that Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is the only remedy of known value, but one of many reasons why it is the best of personal and family laxatives is the fact that it cleanses, sweetens and relieves the internal organs in which it acts without any debilitating after effects and without having to increase the quantity from time to time.

Truth and Quality

It acts pleasantly and naturally and truly as a laxative, and its component parts are known to and approved by physicians, as it is free from all objectionable substances. To get its beneficial effects always purchase the genuine—manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale by all leading druggists.

WILL GET RESULTS—SENTINEL ADS

The Fort Wayne Sentinel

EVERY EVENING EXCEPT SUNDAY.

BY E. A. K. HACKETT.

The Sentinel is a member of the Associated Press and gets the news by wire from all parts of the world the same day it happens.

VOL. LXIX.....NO. 76

Entered at the Postoffice, Fort Wayne, Ind., as second-class mail matter.

Daily, 10c per Week. Weekly, $1 per Year

Published by E. A. K. HACKETT

Printed at the Sentinel Press, Fort Wayne, Ind.

SATURDAY, NOV. 2, 1907.

TONIGHT.

Union Labor—Letter Carriers, No. 116; Iron, Tin and Steel Workers, No. 14.

Fraternal—Rathbone Sisters; Queen Esther, No. 324, D. of R.; Fort Wayne Council, No. 837, National Union; Carmen Old Fort Lodge, No. 379.

Amusements—Majestic theater, "The Flaming Arrow;" Temple theater, vaudeville.

In far-off Finland the temperance wave has swept things from its path and absolute prohibition has been decreed by the Finnish parliament. It is made unlawful to either manufacture or to bring into Finland any alcoholic liquors.

Mr. Bryan says the money stringency will not last long, that the little touch of depression will be short-lived and that there is an abundance of cash in the country, due to enormous gold production, to keep prosperity up to high-water mark. That Mr. Bryan thinks so makes it neither more nor less so, but his opinion has value because Mr. Bryan there is no closer student of events and conditions in the country.

A general railway strike in Great Britain is scheduled and about 100,000 men in the railway service of the United Kingdom will quit work. This will practically tie up the railroads of Great Britain. We have had great railway strikes in this country when perhaps more men were involved, but never a strike that affected more than a comparatively small part of the country's roads. The strike in Britain, if long continued, will afford an interesting study of the possibilities in modern business without railway facilities.

The ways of the big trust are devious and generally past finding out. It has just been disclosed in Chicago that a stenographer in the office of Attorney Sims, the government's special legal agent in the anti-trust prosecutions in that city, had been stealing copies of important letters that passed between Sims and the attorney general's office in Washington. By this means it is said that the Standard oil attorneys were kept fully informed all the time of what the government was doing or expected to do. Important documents in other important cases have either been copied or taken outright. The stenographer and her accomplice are under arrest and it is thought not improbable that some of the "fellows higher up" will be enmeshed in the conspiracy.

Begins to look as though Secretary Taft were to be crucified on a cross of rumors. The persistence with which there has been a repetition of rumors from Washington that Judge Taft's boom is collapsing or is making no headway or will be taken from the field has all the appearance of perfect method. Leading in this are two of the newspapers in Indianapolis. Such a course is not to be unexpected in the case of the Indiana organs. Both of them are necessarily committed to Mr. Fairbanks. Other newspapers, however, not as yet specially allied with any candidacy, are following somewhat the same course. Up to the time of the war secretary's departure for the far east it looked much as though he was all there was to it. It is not easy to conceive that the mere absence of the Roosevelt candidate from the country has brought about this reversal of sentiment. The fact probably is that the Taft boom is not by considerable margin in as bad way as it is represented.

Governor Hanly has turned his attention to prize-fighting that has been going on in Indianapolis, Fort Wayne, Terre Haute, Brazil and some other points in the state and the indications are that he means to put a stop to this sport. He has obtained from the attorney general an opinion covering the law points involved and upon this seems to have plenty of ground for proceeding against the fighting game. There is a law which permits sparring contests, but the attorney general calls attention to a drastic law which prohibits prize fights and he holds that boxing matches are prize fights within the meaning of the law. It is not being essential, according to his views, that a contest be either brutal or fatal to bring it within the meaning of the statute. It may be expected, therefore, that Governor Hanly will take early action against the fight shows which several clubs over the state doubtless will endeavor to continue. The governor's power is ample, even to the employment of the state's military arm if necessary. It will be recalled that in the fall of 1893 Governor Matthews sent companies of the state militia to Roby, Ind., on the Illinois line just beyond the Chicago city limits, where Chicago fight promoters had erected a big arena and had been pulling off prize fights that were not even called by any other name. The courts and officials of Lake county had not proved able to stop the nuisance and Governor Matthews took personal charge of the matter. No more fights were staged at Roby after that. The same difficulty was experienced with the notorious Roby race track, but finally the Chicago horsemen and gamblers who were behind that big betting enterprise were forced to admit themselves defeated and turf gambling at Roby was finally completely wiped out. If Governor Hanly is determined to stop glove fighting in Indiana the end will soon come.

LANDLORDS MUST PAY.

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 2.—The law officers of the crown at Ottawa have decided that the white landlords are responsible for the repair of all damage to the Japanese tenants caused by rioters Sept. 7.

The Frank Dry Goods Co.

SATURDAY ITEMS

Opening November sale throughout our entire establishment. We mention a few items which should attract every lady in Fort Wayne to our various departments.

We are showing Taffeta Silks at 59c a yard, regular price 75c, in all colors.

50 pieces Plaid Dress Goods for Waists and Suitings at 21c, regular price 30c.

Black Taffeta Silk, one yard wide, at 75c, regular price $1.25.

1 case of dark Percale, 8c a yard, regular price 10c.

300 pieces of Prints at 6c a yard.

1 case of fancy Elderdowns for Bath Robes at 21c a yard, regular price 40c a yard.

Suede Shopping Bags, in all colors, regular price 75c, at 50c.

Calfskin Shopping Bags, in all shades, at 50c, 75c and $1 each.

We received a new shipment of fancy Elastic Belts, as well as Leather Belts.

Exquisite line of Back Combs in jet and shell.

New line of Ruching.

We are displaying a fine line of Silk Scarfs in Persian and plain colors.

Tomorrow Will Be Banner Day in Our Curtain Department.

We offer to the trade tomorrow a lot of slightly soiled Curtains in Nottingham, Irish Points, Brussels Nets and Point-de-Luxe, ranging in price from one to four-pair lots at half-price regardless of cost or value; former price from $2 to $12 a pair.

Also a lot of odd Curtains, one-half pairs each, which we will sell less than half-price.

This will be a chance for thrifty housekeepers.

Remember the Date—Saturday, November 2

CLOAK SALE

One Hundred Suits Sacrificed Tomorrow

A lot of Brown, Blue, Black and Novelties—all closed out for 1/2 and 1/3 off.

These suits we purchased from travelers' sample lines and will prove a rare treat to suit buyers who chance to call tomorrow.

The Frank Dry Goods Co.

DR. PRICE'S

CREAM BAKING POWDER

A Pure, Wholesome, Reliable Cream of Tartar Baking Powder

The cream of tartar used in Dr. Price's Baking Powder is derived from grapes in the exact form and composition in which it occurs in that luscious, healthful fruit

Improves the Flavor and Adds To the Healthfulness of the Food

Its Use a Protection and a Guarantee Against Alum Food

SHOP AND RAIL

Day's Happenings in the Industrial World

TWO TRAINMEN SUSTAIN INJURIES WHILE ON DUTY

Conductor Jolly Falls from Car and Fireman Berdelman from Engine.

L. C. Jolly, a Pennsylvania yard conductor, is in St. Joseph hospital, suffering from injuries received in the east yards at 9 o'clock this morning, the full extent of which can not be determined at this hour. Conductor Jolly slipped while on the end of a box car and fell to the ground, presumably striking his breast upon the rail. He complains of considerable pain in the chest, has internal hemorrhages and is probably hurt severely. However, there is no ground, in the opinion of the attending surgeons, for fear of fatal results.

Another patient in the St. Joseph hospital is F. H. Berdelman, a freight fireman. He fell from the tender of an engine while taking water at Dola, Ohio, at 9:15 o'clock last night and was severely bruised about the head and face, one eye being completely closed an hour after the accident. He also complains of pain in the right hip and knee, indicating that they were sprained in the fall. Mr. Berdelman was taken to the hospital in Lima and later placed on Pennsylvania train No. 15 and brought to this city and taken to St. Joseph hospital. He will recover, but will be off duty several days at least.

NO. 7109 REBUILT.

Old Shop Engine Takes New Lease on Life.

This morning No. 7109, the little locomotive which does the shifting work at the east shops of the Pennsylvanian and pulls the employees' train to and from the shop, morning, noon and night, was put in service again, resplendent in a new coat of paint and trimmings and is as good as new. This engine is probably one of the oldest in the service. It was built in the Fort Wayne shops for freight purposes in 1877; thirty years ago; was later assigned to yard duty and about twelve years ago, when G. I. Potter was master mechanic of the western division of the Pennsylvania, it was taken into the shops and rebuilt upon entirely different lines especially for the purpose it is now employed. The tank, which is of crescent shape, rides the boiler and the tender is a diminutive affair that does not take up much room. The engine is used in pulling cars in and off the many tracks centering in the turntable at the east yards and it is necessary that it be short, hence the change in the location of the tank and tender. The crew in charge of the engine is composed of Engineer Louis Sweeney, Fireman Barney Block and Brakeman J. E. Peterson, who were rejoicing this morning in the return of the old engine.

WILL INSTALL BOILER PLANT.

Beginning next Monday Robert Schellhammer and William Hauer, of the Bass boiler shop, will be located at Chicago Heights for several weeks. The Bass company is equipping a big steam plant there for the Calumet Steel company and Messrs. Schellhammer and Hauer will install the boilers, erecting the stacks and perform other duties of a kindred character. The plant will have five immense water tube boilers, most of the parts of which are on the ground ready to be put in position.

WILL START HOME NEXT WEEK.

A cablegram to Vice President C. T. Strawbridge, of the Bass Foundry and Machine company, received last night, stated that H. Bass and party would leave London for America on Saturday, November 9, and would probably reach Fort Wayne on Sunday, November 17. The cablegram also stated that "all is well," which is taken to mean that the health of the party is good and that their mission has been successful.

One HALF

The people don't know the reasonable rates at which we are loaning money. If you will pay to call and see us any time you want a loan.

$5 to $100

Or even more can be borrowed on your furniture, piano, vehicles or stock and you retain possession of your property too.

Pay back in small weekly or monthly installments as you wish. To pay off before the time agreed we give you a large discount. Advice and information free. Terms right. It's all confidential. An interview will convince you.

You're to Blame If You Forget the Name

INDIANA LOAN CO.

Room 3, Arcade Second Floor Established 1895. Home Phone 905.

PROMOTING FIREMEN.

G. R. & L. Advances Three Men to the Throttle.

As a result of the increase in freight traffic and the consequent demand for increased engine crews, Road Foreman of Engineers A. L. Lopshire, of the G. R. & L., has advanced J. Glem, F. Casler and L. W. Closterman from the scoop to the throttle, effective today. The change is a nice promotion for each.

WRECK ON THE NICKEL PLATE.

Freight Cars Leave Tracks at Old Fort, Ohio.

The Nickel Plate tracks were blocked yesterday several hours and passenger trains on the Third district had to make a detour of the scene of the accident and consequently all were late in reaching their terminals. Among the delayed trains was No. 3, due here at 4:35 o'clock last evening, and it was after 8 o'clock when it pulled into Fort Wayne. It carried several people who were bound for this city. Old Fort, Ohio, seventeen miles west of Bellevue, was the scene of the wreck. The particulars could not be learned, but aside from the

Like the rose, it has a sweetness "all its own!"

Elijah's Manna

Essentially the most delicious flavor of any cake food known.

No Cooking Required.

Gracers call at 5 and 15 cents. Made by Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., Battle Creek, Mich.

more or less damage to the cars and track there is no loss, as the trainmen and engineers escaped injury.

C. H. & D. BLOCK WAY.

Bondholders Prevent Reorganization of Pere Marquette.

New York, Nov. 2.—The entire Pere Marquette reorganization plan, the Herald learns, has been held up as a result of a protest made by a committee representing the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton four per cent refunding bondholders. This committee is represented by Mark T. Cox, of Robert Winthrop & Co., and Frederick Strauss, of J. and W. Seligman & Co. It was owing to representations made by Messrs. Cox and Strauss that no action was taken at the Pere Marquette meeting on October 28, the meeting being adjourned until a future date.

AN AUXILIARY BALL.

The Ladies Auxiliary to Fort Wayne lodge, No. 136, B. R. T., has completed preliminary arrangements for a dance to be given at Trier hall Thanksgiving eve, which will be up to the high standard of the previous events of its kind given by the ladies. The personnel of the committee of arrangements is Mrs. Margaret Potts, Mrs. Mary Carpenter, Mrs. Hannah Pink, Mrs. Hettie Haddock and Mrs. Ella Foster. Next Tuesday afternoon, between the hours of 2 and 5, the auxiliary will hold a tea at the residence of Mrs. D. U. Brayer, of 320 East Butler street. In this function the hostess will be assisted by Mesdames Hattie Haddock, Mabel St. John, Lizzie Barker, Ida Rogers, Mary Carpenter, Mary Tancey, Margaret Walker, Sarah Terry and Zora Logan. December 19 has been selected as the date for the initiation of a class of applicants and it is expected that at least twenty-five names will be added to the pay rolls then.

STEVENS RESIGNS.

Official announcement is made of the resignation of F. W. Stevens, general counsel of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton, and of the appointment of Edward Colston, of Cincinnati, as his successor. Mr. Colston is a law partner of Receiver Judson Harmon. It is said his resignation will result in the reorganization of the legal department of the C. H. & D. and is looked upon as a forerunner of the reorganization of that property.

NEW POLICE CAPTAIN.

Captain Henry Stoll, of the Pennsylvania police force, has been advised of a change in the ranks of the department on the Chicago division of the Panhandle. George Lund, of Chicago, has been appointed captain, succeeding W. D. Powell, who has been advanced and transferred to other territory.

MR. McKIM'S FATHER DEAD.

A message from Martin's Ferry last night brought to Supt. J. B. McKim, of the Pennsylvania, the sad news of the death of his father, George W. McKim, a prominent resident of that city. The deceased was eighty years old and his demise was probably due to the infirmities of age. The funeral will be held Monday. Supt. McKim will leave tonight for Martin's Ferry to attend the funeral.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Traveling Freight Agent H. C. Taylor, of the Wabash, was in the city this morning.

William H. McMillen took a position in the lumber yards of the Pennsylvania this morning.

Next week Mrs. B. Lower will be the guest of friends and relatives at Columbia City. Mr. Lower is a Pennsylvania engineer.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kronk went to Chubbuck this morning to visit relatives over Sunday. Mr. Kronk is a tinner at the Pennsylvania shops.

Harry May, a machinist who resigned a position at the Wabash shops recently, took employment at the Pennsylvania shops this morning.

C. L. Keeneman, of the shipping department of the Electric works, and his family went to St. John this afternoon to spend Sunday with relatives.

J. Vieg, the Hungarian injured at the Pennsylvania yards yesterday, as detailed in these columns last evening, is getting along nicely at St. Joseph hospital.

George W. Jarrett, chemist for the General Electric company, was summoned east by the general officers of the company last night. He may be detained there for some time.

Jack Wheeler and Ortho Stocks, of the Pennsylvania, went to Hamilton lake, Ohio, this morning for a day or two at duck shooting. Ducks are said to be plentiful on that lake.

L. J. Stetter, of the Pennsylvania shops, and his daughter, Miss Paula Stetter, left this afternoon for Preble, Ind., where they will be the guests of relatives over Sunday.

The output from the Pennsylvania erecting shop during the week just closing included the following engines, each receiving repairs. They were Nos. 7042, 7044, 7109, 7213, 7385, 7420, 7437, 7559, 9205 and 9210.

Blacksmith Fred West, of the Pennsylvania shops, left last night for New York, from whence he will sail for Germany in a few days. His parents reside in that country and Fred will spend about three months with them.

Pennsylvania shopmen who are sick and off duty today are G. A. Hedschum, J. E. Richard, A. G. Van Every and Gus Fromuth. J. J. Geise, a machinist in the air brake department, is taking a lay off to attend to private business.

Paul Laner is again an employee at the Bass blacksmith shop, after an absence dating from early June. He had been engaged in other work, but found it less desirable than a position in the smith shop.

Assistant Foreman Jacob Hausbach, of the Bass blacksmith shop, had a crushed yesterday and Blacksmith Daniel Clem had an eye injured by a chipping of steel and is off duty pending treatment of the optic. Neither injury is serious.

The absence of Fireman Ernest Payne from his duties on the Pennsylvania is explained this morning by the arrival of a pretty baby daughter at his home. He could not leave the little one until he had an opportunity to get acquainted with her.

Machinist Paul Gehring, of the Bass works, had a gash an inch long and extending to the bone cut in the back of his right hand yesterday. The member was caught in the machinery while operating and the injury will disable Mr. Gehring for a few days at least.

Next Monday Mrs. W. H. Gates, wife of the Pennsylvania passenger engineer, will go to Gallion, Ohio, to spend a week or two with her daughter. This will be Mrs. Gates' first visit out of the city since her sickness several weeks ago. She has fully recovered.

T. B. Hunt, who is connected with the motive power department of the Pennsylvania, returned from Pittsburgh and Erie this morning. He spent several days there in the interest of the department. Mr. Hunt left this afternoon for Chicago to join his family and remain over Sunday.

Vice President C. T. Strawbridge, of the Bass company, returned to Bucyrus at noon today to remain over Sunday with his mother, whose condition is such as to cause grave fear of the result. Mrs. C. T. Strawbridge, who went to Bucyrus a few days ago, did not return with her husband last evening.

The list of Pennsylvania engineers and firemen who are absent from work today because of sickness of themselves or some member of their family is unusually large. Engineer J. D. Trimble has sickness in family; the wife of Engineer R. H. Craig is sick; Engineers G. W. Erwin, G. W. Grubb and Philip Titus and Firemen R. R. R. and R. W. Revert are sick.

BIG CITRIOUS CROP FOR 1907.

California Shipped 2,000 More Cars This Year Than Last.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 1.—Figures on the citrus crop of Southern California for the year ending October 31, show that the total of cars shipped was 27,487, of which 23,984 were oranges and 3,503 lemons. The whole brought in money approximated at \$34,000,000. Of this amount about \$11,000,000 went to the railway companies for shipping and icing charges, and the remaining \$23,000,000 to the growers. The total number of cars shipped this year was about 2,000 more than last year. This does not represent the actual difference, however, in the amount of the two crops, as, owing to the scarcity of cars this year, every car was loaded nearly one-fifth heavier than previously. The fruit was much larger in 1907 and consequently brought a slightly less price per box, the average of the oranges and lemons straight through f. o. b. being $\frac{1}{2}$ a box as against \$2.11 last year. The movement of the early shipments of the coming crop will begin within a week.

THIEF PROVES A DESERTER.

Confined in Workhouse, He Prefers Court-Martial to Breaking Rock.

Jeffersonville, Ind., Nov. 2.—Enoch Edgerton, who was arrested here for stealing a revolver from Adj. George W. Twoney, of the First battalion, Indiana national guard, but later turned over to the Louisville police, where he is serving a term for larceny, has been identified as a deserter from the United States ship Illinois at Brooklyn navy yard three years ago.

Edgerton had been placed in solitary confinement at the Louisville workhouse because he refused to break rock, and thinking that he would rather face trial for desertion from the navy than continue in confinement notified the recruiting officer that he was at the Louisville jail. The court probably will release him and turn him over to the naval authorities.

METHODIST BISHOPS MEET.

Biennial Session of the Board is Under Way in Spokane, Wash.

Spokane, Wash., Nov. 2.—The biennial meeting of the board of bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church opened its work here yesterday with twelve bishops present from all parts of the civilized world. Eight or ten more bishops will come today. The bishops were entertained at a banquet in the new edifice of the First church last night.

Bishop William Burt declared that "Romanism in Roman Catholic countries is simply paganism and is not to be judged by conditions here. On the continent the work of our church meets with great difficulties because there it comes face to face with these beliefs."

FULL OF WELLS STREET BOOZE.

George Weber Cuts Some Curious Capers as a Result.

George Weber, employed as a teamster at St. Vincent's Orphan's home, cut some curious capers late Friday afternoon as the result of having absorbed three drinks of Wells street whiskey and one beer and when the police got hold of him three men were holding him down on a porch on Sixth street. He was frothing at the mouth, biting, scratching and kicking and violating all the rules of prize fighting and wrestling.

When Lieutenant Lapp and his flying squadron took the prisoner in the wagon, this morning he was harmless and meek but he was held until Monday morning for safety.

APPEAL TO THE RAILROADS.

Southern Governors Want the Laws Maintained.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 2.—Governor R. B. Glenn, of North Carolina, who took part in yesterday's conference over the railroad rate situation in the south with Governors Smith of Georgia and Comer of Alabama, today appealed to the railroads and the people of his state to assist in upholding the laws of the state, and of giving the present rate law a fair trial.

PROF. DEAN'S KING'S CACTUS OIL

THE BEST LINIMENT FOR MAN OR ANIMAL

CURES CUTS, SPRAINS, BURNS, BRUISES, SCALDS AND ALL EXTERNAL HURTS.

12c, 50c, and $1 Bottles, 33c and 50c Cans at Drug Stores.

OLNEY & MCDAID, MRS. CLINTON at DOWDA.

Sold at MEYER BROTHERS CO. Two Big Drug Stores.

COLDER TONIGHT RAINCOATS COLDER TONIGHT

2,000 for you to select from. Prices $10 to $30. Over forty patterns in "stouts" for the short, heavy man to choose from.

SUITS

Nothing but Men's Suits shown on first floor. All Young Men's Suits shown on the second floor. Nearly 4,000 fine hand tailored Suits to pick from. Prices $15 to $40. Hart, Schaffner & Marx Suits at $15.

HEAVY UNDERWEAR

Here is where we guarantee to save you 20 per cent, and we can give you anything you ask for. Union Suits and Two-Piece Suits in stouts and slims. Prices per suit, $1.00 to $7.00.

Patterson-Fletcher Company

TEMPERANCE PEOPLE IN BLOOMINGTON WIN BIG FIGHT

Lid Will Be Nailed Down Tight in Indiana College Town.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 2.—It is a settled fact that there will be no saloons in Bloomington for the next two years. The temperance forces of the city at 10 o'clock last night filed their blanket remonstrance with the county auditor against any and all applicants for liquor licenses in the First Ward, in which the saloons were located before they were knocked out two years ago by a blanket remonstrance. At that time there were fifteen saloons, all doing a flourishing business.

Bloomington people are more than pleased, it is said, with the fact that they have been in the "dry" territory for the past two years. Two years ago the remonstrance had a majority of only sixty, while this time, according to the figures, the majority will be about eighty.

The liquor men Thursday night filed a list of sixty-five withdrawals from the remonstrance, whereas of these names it was found tonight only thirty-eight were on the remonstrance. A thorough canvass of the First ward was made by the Good Citizens' league on one side and the saloon men on the other. The fight at times was very bitter. The saloon men were jubilant Thursday night, as they thought they would have enough withdrawals to make the remonstrance ineffective. The Good Citizens' league had run out all day yesterday and even last night securing additional names on their papers.

The county commissioners meet next Monday, at which time they will receive the remonstrance.

Foot balls with each child's suit, reofer and overcoat at the Patterson-Fletcher store.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

During the past 35 years no remedy has proven more prompt or more effectual in its cures of Coughs, Colds and Croup than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. In many homes it is relied upon as implicitly as the family physician. It contains no opium or other narcotic, and may be given as safely to a baby as to an adult. Large size 50c.

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

SANTAL-MIDY

These tiny CAPSULES are superior to Balsam of Capivi. Cures of Gonorrhea and Relieves in 24 HOURS the same diseases without inconvenience. Sold by all druggists.

—FOR—

Winter Chaps—and— Summer Burns

Nothing is so effective a remedy as a smooth, clean, cold cream.

Marvelous Cold Cream

Is pure, white and creamy, smooth as velvet—has all the qualities as a skin food and beautifying the skin and an excellent skin food and tissue-builder. Contains no glycerine.

Price 50c, Large Jar.

Sold by

Ranke & Nussbaum, Pharmacists.

202 West Berry Street, Corner Harrison.

Typewriter Bargains.

No. 3 Rebuilt Oliver... $35.00
No. 3 Rebuilt Oliver... 50.00
No. 2 Rebuilt Smith... 40.00
Universal Hammond... 30.00
Imperials... 60.00
No. 7 Bleckenseder... 25.00

Come in and look 'em over. We rebuild or repair any make of typewriter. We can place your typewriter in running order and keep it there. Get our prices.

The Fort Wayne Typewriter Exchange.

Expert Typewriter Repairers.

725 CLINTON STREET, Fort Wayne, Ind. Phone 2230

Plumbing or Heating Apparatus

—INSTALLED BY—

Joseph P. Martin & Co.

Secures to the owner Tested Materials, the very best workmanship, and a guarantee against any defects.

An expert in any branch of installation. Will call upon request.

"Twenty Years at the Business."

JOSEPH P. MARTIN & CO.

CONTRACTORS

HANNA AND BUCHANAN STREETS

PLUMBING, HEATING, ELECTRIC WIRING. FORT WAYNE, IND

What Are the Primary Considerations in Selecting a Bank?

1. SAFETY
2. COURTESY
3. LIBERAL POLICY

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK of Fort Wayne

meets the above requirements. It has an untarnished record of over forty years through every stress of weather known to the financial world, and is today the oldest and staunchest national bank in northern Indiana. WE INVITE NEW BUSINESS.

Capital, $500,000
Surplus and Profits, 200,000
Deposits, over 3,000,000

UNITED STATES DEPOSITORY

HAFFNER'S MALT BREAD

"EVERY OVENFUL LIGHT AND SWEET"

Speaks truth when it refers to bread baked in our shops. It doesn't just happen so, it's not due to mere chance, but is the result of finest flour, mixed and kneaded with skill born of experience, and baked as only experts know how to manage the process. Outcome—wholesome, sweet, light, palatable bread. We deliver daily to any part of the city. Your grocer can supply you, look for MALT stamped on bottom of loaf.

The Haffner's Star Bakery.

333-345 E. Lewis St.

SALARY LOANS

$5.00 $10.00 $20.00

Any reasonable amount advanced if you are regularly employed by a railroad or shop. No note, mortgage or questions asked your employer. It's confidential, pleasant and cheaper to do business with us. Payments to suit yourself. Money loaned on furniture, piano, etc.

Fort Wayne Employees Credit Co.

HOME PHONE 535. ROOM NO. 4, SCHMITZ BLOCK. OFFICE HOURS, 8 A. M. TO 8 P. M.

Commercial Bank Pays 4% Interest on Deposits

Real estate mortgages bought and sold

STRAUS BROS. & CO.

805 CALHOUN STREET

U. S. DEPOSITORY HAMILTON NATIONAL BANK

Capital $200,000
Surplus $300,000

Accounts of Corporations, Firms and Individuals Solicited. INTEREST PAID ON DEPOSITS.

Strict attention to business and courteous treatment of customers shall be the rule of all the officials of this bank. We always keep on hand over a million dollars of ready assets for security of depositors.

PARIS FASHIONS

These evening frocks are made on most attractive and graceful lines. Both have trains and close fitting bodices, but with these likenesses the similarity between the costumes ends. For the black velvet gown is quite plain, while the white satin toilette is elaborately trimmed with lace and ribbon put on in festoons around the bottom of the skirt.

On the lace yoke of the satin robe a large bow of velvet ribbon with a huge artificial rose above it give a distinctive touch to the outfit that adds to the effect of richness imparted by the other decorations.

Simple Ways of Keeping Infants Healthy

No baby can be well if its liver does not act with the utmost regularity. The slightest variation in its functions requires immediate attention, and the longer treatment is deferred the more difficult will be the cure.

Torpidity rather than over-activity is likely to be the cause of trouble in this organ when cold weather begins. The symptoms of this state are easy to discover.

In the case of torpid liver in a baby almost a year old who is still being nursed and given no bottle food lack of nourishment is sometimes the cause. That is, a baby literally is not getting enough nourishment for the liver to have anything upon which to act, and he is out of health on consequence.

By the time he is nine months old strained orange juice should always be a part of the daily diet. One-half of the fruit should be given every morning about eight o'clock. The hour of having it should never vary.

Medicine should never be administered without being ordered by a physician. Even castor oil, that panacea, has an after effect which is undesirable and dosing frequently is a bad thing to do. A harmless cure is to gently massage the abdomen, rubbing firmly but at the same time not hard enough to hurt. This done every morning is a great help if there is inactivity of the liver.

When bottle fed babies have trouble with their livers the irregularity is usually caused by the food. If a prepared kind is being given change it entirely and substitute modified milk. This is the more desirable because the quantity of cream used may be so regulated as to affect him most sensibly, cream being a laxative. Therefore by slightly increasing it and reducing the quantity of top milk he may be brought into proper condition quite quickly. It must not be forgotten, however, that cream is rich, and too great a percentage will put the stomach out of order. In increasing the quantity, therefore, it is well to do it by slow degrees rather than too quickly. The danger of upsetting the stomach then is almost entirely obviated.

It is easy to remember that in a quart of milk that has stood for at least four hours the upper six ounces contains about fourteen per cent cream, the upper eight ounces ten per cent cream, the upper twelve ounces eight per cent cream and the upper fourteen ounces six per cent cream. The amount of fat must be regulated by the appearance of the stools, and it is better to dilute top milk with water than use a concentrated cream fat, free milk and water. Instead of a pure water cereal water may be used. After six months a cereal water is best for all infants. A new born baby can be put on a mixture of only three ounces of the upper eight ounces of top milk in twenty ounces and the strength increased by adding an ounce of top milk and abstracting an equal amount of water every two days till eight ounces of top milk are given in a twenty ounce mixture.

Care of Hands

HOW TO KEEP HANDS PRETTY WHEN DOING HOUSEWORK

By Margaret Mixer.

To keep the hands soft and white while doing housework means that they must be constantly cared for or the flesh will become dry and coarse from the action of strong soaps and hard water.

Unfortunately most women who do their own kitchen work are too busy, or too careless, to give their hands the necessary treatment, and as a result their fingers become red.

This condition, which is not only disfiguring but often painful, could be easily avoided by wearing gloves. To insure comfort when working in gloves use those that are several sizes too large—men's, for instance, or if a housewife must utilize her own old pairs then these should be slit down the palms so the movements of the hands will not be cramped.

If gloves are pulled on while dusting, sweeping, gardening or doing any kind of work that does not involve putting the hands into water the saving to skin and nails is enormous. In this way, almost, if not all, dust is kept from contact with hands, and as a consequence the epidermis does not become dry and hard. Dust is one of the greatest enemies to pretty hands for the reason that it sifts into the pores and under the nails at the corners. Water, instead of removing, frequently drives it further into such places, and a pretty hand will be ruined after a time.

Before drawing on working gloves it is well to rub the fingers and backs of the hands with cream. The natural heat generated while working will help to take these lotions into the pores, and thus a softening and whitening agent is constantly at work. To rub sweet almond oil on the skin and then dust the hands with powdered French chalk makes one of the best combinations that can be used.

To keep her hands free from dust must be the unceasing effort of a woman who does her own housework. When she is unable to avoid getting dirt in the pores it behooves her to know how to cleanse the flesh without coarsening it. Cold cream or any kind of grease will take out the dirt. Before washing the hands a lump of the grease should be put into the palms and rubbed thoroughly into the pores. The grease, instead of driving the dirt in, pulls it out. Dirt and grease should then be washed off with warm, not hot, water and a bland soap. Afterward fresh cold cream must be rubbed into the hands. This is wiped, not washed, off later.

Always, after washing dishes, no matter how white the hands may seem, plunge them in clear water and wash with a bland soap. No laundry soap, however harmless it may be to clothes, is suited to the skin. It is too strong and the acids and alkalis dry out the natural oils from the flesh. For this reason it should be washed out, and following there should be a wiping over with cold cream. Do not think there will be the slightest indication of grease left on the hands, for it will be in the pores, not on the surface.

Always before going to bed cold cream should be rubbed into the fingers and nails.

Hints About Kindness

GIRLS MUST SHOW DEFERENCE TO THEIR FRIENDS' MOTHERS

By Edith Carruth.

Why not cultivate deference to age? The kind I mean is not that which requires much effort; neither does it take any amount of time. It is made up of little things, the doing of which may be prompted by kindness of heart, or, failing that, at least by good manners. With it age is easier for those upon whom it has come, and youth gets many a helping hand in the affection and kindness that is returned.

Girls many times fall in deference to the mothers of their girl friends. It is not intentional, merely a natural indifference of youth that seeks what it wishes without regard to what stands in the way. One girl going to the house of another is not so rude as to omit to say "good morning" or "good evening" to the parents, and with that she seems to think nothing more is required. As matter of good manners nothing more is necessary.

Yet a parent is usually interested in her daughter's friends and what they do, and would often further a good time if she knew about it. In time. In any event she likes to know the girl's fun and woes, to keep in touch and to feel that she is an individual and not one who exists only to tell where Mary and Sally are.

Every person, especially mothers, enjoys being liked. Some disagreeable individuals who are cross grained and cantankerous will say that they don't care whether others like them or not, but deep down in their hearts they do care a lot. Evidences of it will come when least expected. Every mother will tell you quite frankly that she wants her daughter's friends to like her. Many times the girls do, but they are in too much of a hurry to show it. This is both selfish and unkind, and it hurts badly sometimes.

Don't think time is being wasted by spending a few minutes with her, or that it doesn't matter what she thinks of you. It matters a lot. The affection of older women is a good thing for girls, and it sometimes brings the truest help and consolation when they are needed most.

When you go to see another girl spend some time in talking with her mother. Tell her what you are doing and be interested in what concerns her. Treat her as though you really cared about her. You probably do like her very much, only you have always taken her for granted and never thought about her except as an authority upon Sally. Think about her as your friend. Don't be afraid of showing your friendship. In other words, "be nice" with her.

This is the kind of deference to age that I mean, and it is one too often neglected.

Mothers with little children need no longer fear croup, colds or whooping cough. Bees Laxative Cough Syrup tastes good. It works off the cold through the bowels, clears the head. Guaranteed. Sold by Meyer Bros. Co., 3 stores, 602, 902, 1424 Calhoun street.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

A little salt added to the water when scrubbing willow furniture will give it a fresh appearance.

Cheese cloth pillow cases for use in a sick room are a good thing to keep in the linen closet. If they have been used in a contagious disease they can be burned.

If a tablespoonful of peroxide is placed in two tablespoonfuls of water and used as a gargle it will prove an excellent remedy for tonsillitis. About ten drops of peroxide in a half glass of water used to clean the teeth will remove tartar and harden the gums. A few drops of peroxide put on an open wound immediately will take out the poison. The wound should be bathed every day in water to which a few drops of the peroxide have been added and it will heal very quickly.

Salt will do a great deal toward preserving the color in silk that is to be washed. Soak for a time in cold water, to which has been added a pinch of salt, and there will be very little danger of the color running.

For a feverish breath a favorite remedy is charcoal which may be secured in tablet form—one being occasionally dissolved in the mouth. A few drops of lime water or half a teaspoonful of bicarbonate of soda in a glass of water, used as a gargle, will neutralize the same unpleasantness.

To kill cockroaches, put a mixture of flour and plaster of paris in places infested by cockroaches. The creatures will eat it greedily. The plaster of paris "sets" after they have eaten it and kills them.

Never put turpentine on paint or varnish, as it will dissolve it as soon as it touches it. Its volatile nature makes it cut grease in the same way.

Soak newspapers in a paste of half a pound of flour, half a pound of alum and three quarts of water mixed together and boiled. This mixture, which should be as thick as putty, may be forced into cracks in floors, wainscoting, etc., with a cask knife. It hardens like paper mache, neatly and permanently filling any cracks to which it may be applied.

WONDERFUL ECZEMA CURE.

"Our little boy had eczema for five years," writes N. A. Adams, Henrietta, Pa. "Two of our home doctors said the case was hopeless, his lungs being affected. We then employed other doctors, but no benefit resulted. By chance we read about Electric Bitters; bought a bottle and soon noticed improvement. We continued this medicine until several bottles were used, when our boy was completely cured." Best of all blood medicines and body building health tonics. Guaranteed at Dreier & Bro.'s drug store. 50c.

BLUSHING YOUTHFUL TROUBLE

As a rule, blushing is only a trouble of the very young, and therefore to older people is a great charm. To see a pretty, ingenuous girl color gracefully is charming; to see the fitful color come and go lightly and suddenly from a desire to please, or excitement, is to recognize one of the many undefinable, fleeting charms of youth.

With an older woman, however, it is different. Just as shyness is charming in a girl, so blushing is pretty. But a shy woman is an awkward one, and it is painful to see her color a dull, deep red under special or unusual circumstances. It is so true that one age's virtues become another age's faults. But youth never realizes its special attractions till they have gone, so one and all may profit by these hints.

Blushing is generally caused by excessive nervousness or self consciousness or hysteria. The last is a real disease, and must be attended to by a doctor; the two first are mental, and can easily be checked, says Woman's Life.

Sensitiveness and excessive modesty can best be cured by forgetfulness of self. Train yourself never to think of yourself. Do not be introspective, do not be self depreciatory, simply try, especially when with others, to think of yourself not at all. You will soon find you can enter a crowded room without any reddening of the face or miserable shyness. If it is almost impossible, concentrate your mind on some outside question. I knew a shy little girl who tried to get through mentally her multiplication table, and even so slight a concentration as that diverted her thoughts and made her forget herself. It is hard to one's pride but salutary to remember very few people think of one at all. Never give way to it; ignore it; if you feel the blush coming, talk on, and it dies away.

Ring's Dyspepsia Tablets do the work. Stomach trouble, dyspepsia, indigestion, bloating, etc., yield quickly. Two days' treatment free. Ask your druggist for a free trial. Sold by Meyer Bros. Co., 3 stores, 602, 902, 1424 Calhoun street.

AUTUMN FASHIONS

Of chiffon broadcloth this stunning afternoon gown, with a short train, is decidedly smart. The waist is simply made with a slight blouse above the girdle. The sleeves are composed of three caps prettily scalloped and embroidered. These hang in graceful folds over a tight fitting armlet that ends in an embroidered cuff above the elbow.

The skirt is plain, with the exception of a silk flounce that is put on "V" shape, with the point draped in front almost to the bottom.

Girl's Serviceable School Frock

By Mrs. Jane Ford.

This girl's tucked dress pattern is cut in four sizes for children from six to twelve years of age. To make such a frock for an eight-year-old child get two and five-eighths yards of material forty-four inches wide or two and three-eighths yards fifty inches wide. If all-over goods is used for the shield, one-half yard of the fabric eighteen inches wide will be needed.

Serges, tweeds, corduroys and gingham are the goods from which this model should be fashioned. The broad collar, cuffs and belt may be of a contrasting material that matches the dress in color. A plaid or striped white pique will make a warm shield for winter, and yet give the little garment a touch of white that is always becoming to young girls. The dress being in one piece (without a joined skirt), is easily made. If one has the time to give to hand work, a buttonhole scalloped edge will make an effective finish for the broad collar.

The skirt of this dress should be made about two inches below the knees for the average girl's use. The proper length of skirts for children of various ages is a subject of considerable discussion with home dressmakers, for there is no prescribed rule that may be rigidly followed.

In deciding upon the length the development of the figure must be considered. For instance, some girls of twelve who are unusually large for their age will need to wear the skirt to within two inches of the shoe tops.

Children and young girls grow rapidly, therefore all dresses should be finished with a deep hem that may be let down and faced. In so doing a frock can often be made presentable that would otherwise have to be discarded.

These patterns can be bought of the Independent-Poorless Pattern Co., 107 West Twenty-fifth street, New York city. Price 10 cents.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

G. W. Cloyd, a merchant, of Plunk, Mo., had a narrow escape four years ago, when he ran a Jimson bur into his thumb. He says: "The doctor wanted to amputate it but I would not consent. I bought a box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve and that cured the dangerous wound." 25c at Dreier & Bro., druggists.

TASTY RECIPES FOR AMATEUR COOKS' USE

Vegetable Soup.

The ingredients called for are two cupfuls of white turnip cut in cubes, one cupful of carrots, two cupfuls of potatoes, one large onion, one-half cup of leeks, a clove of garlic, two tomatoes, a tablespoonful of salt, three tablespoonfuls of butter or nice drippings, a teaspoonful of sugar, and pepper to season. Cut the onions fine and cook slowly in the drippings for one-half hour. Then put into a kettle with two quarts of boiling water and the carrots and cook half an hour longer. Add the turnips, potatoes, tomatoes and seasonings with a little parsley if you have it and cook one hour. Then serve hot. If you have any meat trimmings or bones they may be added with distinct advantage, though the soup is excellent without any suggestion of meat.

Cream Vegetable Soup.

A delicious cream vegetable soup is made by rubbing a portion of the vegetable soup through a puree sieve, then adding salt and milk to taste. Let it just come to the boiling point and serve with croutons.

Cream of Tomato Soup.

Put on to boil in a porcelain kettle one quart can of tomatoes or its equivalent in fresh ones. Add a tablespoonful of salt, a bay leaf, and white pepper to season. Cook until soft, then strain. Put into a small saucepan a tablespoonful of butter and when hot add one tablespoonful of minced onion and one tablespoonful of corn starch. Stir until blended, then pour in some of the soup and cook until smooth and thickened. Add this to the kettle of tomato, stir in well, cook ten minutes, then add one quart of milk that has been heated just to the boiling point. If the tomato is very acid, stir in a salt-spoonful of soda before adding the milk. Season with more salt and pepper if necessary and serve at once with croutons.

MY BEST FRIEND.

Alexander Benton, who lives on rural route 1, Fort Edward, N. Y., says: "Dr. King's New Discovery is my best earthly friend. It cured me of asthma six years ago. It has also performed a wonderful cure of incipient consumption for my son's wife. The first bottle ended the terrible cough, and this accomplished, the other symptoms left one by one, until she was perfectly well. Dr. King's New Discovery's power over coughs and colds is simply marvelous." No other remedy has ever equaled it. Fully guaranteed by Dreier & Bro., druggists. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Captain Dahl, of the steamer Sark, which has arrived from Java, has just completed a remarkable voyage around the world. He left Swansea, Wales, in February with a cargo of tin and cement for San Francisco. The steamer passed through the Straits of Magellan and up the Pacific to San Francisco. Then it went to Portland, Ore., then across the ocean to Java and back by way of the Suez canal, without taking a drop of water on deck through rough weather.—New York Sun.

It is a well known fact that persons living in the Pine forests do not suffer from kidney diseases. One dose of Pineules at night usually relieves backache. 30 days' treatment, $1.00. Your money refunded if not satisfied. Sold by Meyer Bros. Co., 3 stores, 602, 902, 1424 Calhoun street.

A Square Deal

To assure you when you buy Dr. Pierce's family medicines—for all the ingredients entering into them are printed on the bottle-wrappers and their formulas are attested under oath as being complete and correct. You know just what you are getting for and that the ingredients are selected from Nature's laboratory, being gathered from the most valuable native medicinal roots found growing in our American forests and while potent to cure are perfectly harmless even to the most delicate women and children. Not a drop of alcohol enters into their composition. A much better agent for the blood or excretory and purifying the blood and purifying the blood and purifying the blood.

Glycerine plays an important part in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia and weak stomach, attended by sour risings, heart-burn, flatulence, coated tongue, poor appetite, gnawing feeling in stomach, biliousness and kindred derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels. Besides curing all the above distressing ailments, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a specific for all diseases of the mucous membranes, as catarrh, whether of the nasal passages or of the stomach, bowels or pelvic organs. Even in its ulcerative stages it will yield to this sovereign remedy if its use is persevered in. In Chronic Catarrh of the Nasal Passages, it is well, while taking the "Golden Medical Discovery" or the necessary constitutional treatment, to cleanse the passages freely two or three times a day with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. This thorough course of treatment generally cures the worst cases.

In coughs and hoarseness caused by bronchitis, throat and lung affections, except consumption in its advanced stages, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most efficient remedy, especially in those obstinate, hang-over coughs caused by the stomach and bowels or the mucous membranes. The "Discovery" is not so good for acute coughs arising from sudden colds, nor most likely to be successful in curing consumption in its advanced stages—no medicine will do that—but for all the obstinate, chronic coughs, which, if neglected or badly treated, lead up to consumption, it is the best medicine that can be taken.

It's Time

you were thinking about

Winter Underwear

If in need remember that we can fit you out nicely with either

Light, Medium & Heavy

Wool, Cotton or Linen

A. C. STALEY WOOLLENS

We are agents for DR. MIEJEL LINEN-MESH ROYAL SILK PLUSH

F. H. Bohne & Bro.

824 & 1412 Calhoun St.

J. C. PELTIER

UNDERTAKER & EMBALMER

117 WEST WAYNE STREET

THE CITIZENS TRUST COMPANY

FORT WAYNE, IND.

COR. BERRY & CLINTON STS.

A Wise Provision.

The most important step in a man's life is to provide for the future of his wife and his family. A savings account with this company means ready money in times of illness, sickness, misfortune or emergency. An account may be opened with this company with ONE DOLLAR.

Citizens Trust Co.

Judge Owen Heaton, Pres.
John Ferguson, Vice Pres.
E. F. Yarnall, Vice Pres.
John W. White, Vice Pres.
E. W. Cook, Secretary.

CAPITAL $200,000.00 4% PAID ON DEPOSITS

FALL AND WINTER SCHEDULE.

The Ohio Electric Railway

In Effect Nov. 1st 1907.

Eastbound cars leave Fort Wayne 7:05, 8:20 limited, 9:05, 10:20 limited, 11:05, 1:05, 2:20 limited, 3:05, 4:20 limited, 5:05, 6:05, 7:05, 8:05, (11:00 to Delphos). Close connections, quick time and low fares to a hundred cities and towns. Special rates for parties. Mileage books at 1 1/2 cents per mile. Excess fare on limited cars. Ask agents for time cards and rates.

F. A. BURKHARDT, D. P. & F. A.

LIMA, OHIO.

Read the Want Ads Today

A POWERFUL SERMON ON NEGLECT OF DUTIES OF THE HOME

Paulist Missionary MacCorry Delivers Hard Blows at Some Great Evils.

The heavy downpour of rain last evening was but small deterrent to the many attending the men's mission at the Cathedral, which will come to a close with impressive services on Sunday evening.

Following the evening's dogmatic instruction on "The Real Presence of Christ in the Eucharist," which was eloquently delivered by Father Sullivan, a stirring and eloquent discourse on "Parental Obligations" was delivered by Father MacCorry. Taking for his text, "Let them learn first to govern their own households," the gifted Paulist treated of the duty of parents in regard to their children, dwelling upon the mental, moral and physical development of the child. The missionary sounded the keynote of God's judgment upon those guilty of infanticide and ante-natal murder, pointing out the dangers that beset the child even in its tender years and demonstrating the necessity of religious training and the terrible consequences of its neglect.

Father MacCorry's discourse was most comprehensive in its scope. His directness, fire, humor and pathos, his powerful, penetrating voice and strong personality, his style, which is of the fervid, impetuous type, moderated by an ease and reserve power that indicates his versatility as an orator, has made a deep impression upon his hearers throughout the mission season.

In beginning his sermon of last evening Father MacCorry said in part:

"A state within a state, a republic within a republic, a church within a church, a world within a world, is spelled out by four letters which constitute our English word, 'home.' If things go right there, things go right everywhere, and if things go wrong there, things go wrong everywhere. It is an old saying and I believe it is true, that a man can never climb higher than his own garret, that he rarely ever shall sink deeper than his own cellar, and were he to run ten, forty or seventy years in one straight line he could never quite get out from under the shadow of his own mantle-piece.

"I believe that the door of our home is our best fortress, our nurseries, our great halls of congress, our high chairs the greatest throne on which all doth possess, our household altar, the smoking chimneys of our dwelling places our greatest monuments of victory and triumph. In speaking to you tonight I feel that I am touching upon a question of temporal and eternal importance, when I dwell upon the obligations of parents to their children and talk about your home.

"In beginning I would lay down one or two bed-rock principles. In the first place I believe in inherited tendencies, to virtue or to vice. Witness the large lip of the house of Austria, called the Hapsburg lip, that means royal ascendency and rascals. Witness the moral deformity in the house of Stewart; that means licentiousness and lust. The Jewish greed for accumulation you can trace back through all the centuries, for they were rich, says the Scriptures, 'in gold and silver and in cattle.' In some families you may find sanctity and sobriety and honesty and prosperity as far back as the eye can reach. In another family it is drunkenness, debauchery and moral degradation as far back as can be traced. So that the challenge of King Saul to David, 'Young man, whose son art thou?' comes up to each one here tonight, freighted with awful meaning and hurled like a projectile from a cannon's mouth.

"God pity the father who must answer in the day of judgment, 'Lord, God, he is my child, and his inheritance is my debauchery, my intemperance and my sins.' Here the speaker dwelt upon the opening of the world's fair in Chicago, when the president in Washington placed his index finger upon a key and with this signal from a thousand miles away the great fair opened and the colossal Corliss wheel began to move, setting all the machinery in motion and making his account applicable to the fact that men touch influences which echo down the ages for thousands of years, a single touch echoing perhaps to the end of time.

It was exemplified that in many homes in this Christian land children, instead of a blessing, were deemed a curse. That it was a matter of social popularity versus domestic felicity, of the baby carriage versus the ante-natal murder so common in our day was forcibly dwelt upon, the speaker stating that the medical profession are now joining with the pulpit in re-echoing the thunders of Mount Sinai, which say 'thou shalt not kill,' and to proclaim in the words of Revelation, that 'all murderers shall have their place in the pit where the fire is not extinguished.'

The moral training of the child and the powerful influence that parents may exert for good or evil by their conduct and example was a point practically demonstrated. The necessity of making the home cheerful and bright and happy for the child, the power and strength of love and affection for it and the lasting effect of making Jesus its cradle song were thoughtfully and harmoniously developed. It was exemplified that while on the one hand, parents show too much severity, others show too much laxity, 'but there is one point that I would have you carry away tonight, and it is this,' said Father MacCorry. 'A child's nature is too delicate a thing to be worked upon with a sledge-hammer and a pile driver. Instead of breaking high metal to the hilt and trace, it will only dash off uncontrollably.'

The special responsibility incurred by scheduled days was another special point in the discourse. The correct educational principle is a sound mind and a sound body, both encased in a sound and healthy body. Apropos of this the speaker urged parents not to let their children become lopsided in their education. If they receive a thorough education in literature, science and art, their education in religious affairs should be equally as comprehensive. The disastrous results of training the mind to the exclusion of the heart were strikingly portrayed for 'it is infinitely better,' said the speaker, 'to have your child a stupid dunce than that it should be educated and become a wicked philosopher.'

Attention to the physical care of children was cited as another responsibility of grave importance resting upon parents, and fathers and mothers were urged to teach their daughters the science of self-support.

"In conclusion, for those parents who have done their duty, I would quote," said the speaker, "the consoling words of scripture: 'Bring up the children in the way they should go and when they are old they will not depart from it.'"

Take some good reliable and safe digestant like KODOL for dyspepsia. KODOL is the best remedy known to day for heartburn, belching and all troubles arising from a disordered digestion. It is pleasant to take and affords relief promptly. Sold by all druggists.

WOMAN GETS FOURTH DECREE.

Granted Divorce and Given $4,000 Alimony Despite Husband's Charges. Kokomo, Ind., Nov. 2.—In the sensational divorce case of Fannie Boggs against Squire Boggs, both residents of Michigantown, Ind., Judge J. S. Elliott, of the circuit court, yesterday afternoon granted Mrs. Boggs a divorce. The decree gives her $4,000 alimony in the face of the complaint of her husband charging her with having taken one night $1,500 which he had secreted between the mattress and the bed-tick on a plea that burglars were in the house. Mrs. Boggs alleged that this charge against her was unfounded. This is her fourth divorce.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS.

PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of itching, blind, bleeding or protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c. ts-at COLD WEATHER FOR SUNDAY.

Our Underwear stock is waiting for you, and you can have stout or silks in almost anything we carry. Prices 50c to $7.00. PATTERSON-FLETCHER CO.

SELF WRECKED MEN

CURED ON A WRITTEN GUARANTEE To Stay Cured Varicocele No Cutting or Pain I Want Every Man Afflicted With Varicocele, Contagious Blood Poison, Nervous Debility, Hydrocele, or allied troubles to come to my office, where I will explain to him my method of curing these diseases. I invite in particular all men who have become dissatisfied with treatment elsewhere. I will demonstrate in your entire satisfaction why I can cure you permanently. My consultation is free and my charges are so permanent that you will be reasonable and not more than you will be willing to pay.

CERTAINTY OF CURE is what you want. I give you a LEGAL GUARANTEE to cure you or refund your money. What I have done for others I can do for you. One personal visit is preferred, but if it is impossible for you to call, write me a description of your case as you understand it, stating your symptoms, your occupation, etc., and you will receive in plain envelope a scientific and honest opinion of your case free of charge. Every train brings some one to be cured. MY HOME TREATMENT is successful and strictly private.

Dr. Stoner & Stoner Office hours during the week, 9 a. m. to 8 p. m.; Sundays, 2 to 12. Room 14 North American Bldg., Opposite Temple

MAN OF STRAW ON TRACK GAVE MOTORMAN A BAD FRIGHT

Hallowe'en Prank on Fort Wayne Line Near Peru Caused Scare.

Hallowe'en pranks of boys at Peru gave motormen and conductors on the Fort Wayne and Wabash Valley Traction line a variety of thrilling scares Thursday night, though little damage was done. Perhaps the most comical of these was the placing of a straw "dummy" upon the tracks, and when an east-bound limited car crashed into it the motorman almost collapsed, believing he had struck a human being.

The dummy was made to stand upward upon the track, and the motorman sounded his whistle as he saw the form between the rails. It was so life-like that he declared he thought the supposed man would get out of the way. When there was no movement in this direction it was too late to stop the car and the crash came. The trick came off with an assortment of straw and cast-off clothing was found strewn along the track.

Practice Should Be Stopped. "The practice of 'hopping' street cars indulged in by a great many boys in Fort Wayne is a most dangerous one," said City Superintendent E. M. Raver this morning. "Every night you can see from one to five boys hanging around on the city and suburban cars. They cling to the fenders and bang on the steps as the cars whizz past each other, and the result, if a youngster should happen to lose his hold just as the cars were passing, is an appalling thought. The trainmen do all in their power to keep the boys off, and in some instances have stopped their cars to drive them away, only to be met with a flying stick or stone that usually breaks glass. Parents should know of this dangerous habit of the children and caution them and do all in their power to aid the carmen in preventing accidents which may make the boys cripples for life."

Burned Car Was the "Peru." The handsome interurban car destroyed in the fire which raged on Thursday night was the beautiful "Peru," which has been making trips between Fort Wayne and Indianapolis. The "Peru" was owned by the Indiana Union company and was valued at $15,000.

CALL THE STRIKE OFF. New Orleans Operators Make a Rush to Old Jobs.

New Orleans, La., Nov. 2.—Following a meeting of the Commercial Telegraphers' union here at which it was voted to permit all operators to go back to work who so desired, officials of the union today announced that so far as New Orleans is concerned the telegraph strike is a thing of the past. During the past twenty-four hours about fifty applications have been made to the two telegraph companies, but only about half this number have been reinstated.

Preparations have been made to open all branch offices and more men are being sent to work on the various exchanges.

WESTON FLOODING ON. Coventry, R. I., Nov. 2.—Arising before the sun today, Edward Payson Weston, who is attempting to break the record made by himself forty years ago in walking from Portland, Me., to Chicago, made an early start. He expected to terminate his day's work today in Hartford, Conn., seventy miles from here, bringing the total distance traveled in five days up to about 250 miles.

Buy your boy's suit of Patterson-Fletcher Co. and receive a fine foot ball.

WIFE ASKS TO OCCUPY CELL.

Seeks Husband's Place That He Might Clear Himself of Theft. South Bend, Ind., Nov. 2.—Clifford Blanchard yesterday confessed that he robbed the mails in the South Bend postoffice, but his wife of one year, believing that a mistake had been made, offered to take his place in the cell of the post station if he could be allowed to secure proof of his innocence. When admitted to the cage Mrs. Blanchard tried to kiss her husband through the bars. It is thought Blanchard's stealings will amount to about $2,000.

The Patterson-Fletcher store will give a fine football to each boy that buys a suit, reefer or overcoat in their children's department.

If a really clever woman wishes to attract a man, she acts the part she instinctively feels he would like her to play.—Mrs. Neish.

DeWitt's Catarrhized Witch Hazel Salve is healing and soothing. Good for piles. Sold by all druggists.

No woman is understood; if she were she'd lose half her charm.—Owen Hall.

DeWitt's Little Early Risers are the best pills made. Sold by all druggists.

SCHOOL.

Monday, Nov. 4, will be an excellent time to enter the International Business college. New classes in all departments, day and night school. Phone 504.

Attention, Comrades!

All members of Lawton Wayne Post G. A. R., are requested to meet at post room Sunday afternoon, 1:30 sharp, to attend funeral services of our late comrade Jacob Worman. R. W. SKELTON, Adjutant. H. B. OTTO, Commander.

Patterson-Fletcher Co. sells a fine worsted hannel flannel Hart, Schaffner & Marx suit for $15 and scores of patterns to select from.

MAN OF STRAW ON TRACK GAVE MOTORMAN A BAD FRIGHT

Hallowe'en Prank on Fort Wayne Line Near Peru Caused Scare.

Hallowe'en pranks of boys at Peru gave motormen and conductors on the Fort Wayne and Wabash Valley Traction line a variety of thrilling scares Thursday night, though little damage was done. Perhaps the most comical of these was the placing of a straw "dummy" upon the tracks, and when an east-bound limited car crashed into it the motorman almost collapsed, believing he had struck a human being.

The dummy was made to stand upward upon the track, and the motorman sounded his whistle as he saw the form between the rails. It was so life-like that he declared he thought the supposed man would get out of the way. When there was no movement in this direction it was too late to stop the car and the crash came. The trick came off with an assortment of straw and cast-off clothing was found strewn along the track.

Practice Should Be Stopped. "The practice of 'hopping' street cars indulged in by a great many boys in Fort Wayne is a most dangerous one," said City Superintendent E. M. Raver this morning. "Every night you can see from one to five boys hanging around on the city and suburban cars. They cling to the fenders and bang on the steps as the cars whizz past each other, and the result, if a youngster should happen to lose his hold just as the cars were passing, is an appalling thought. The trainmen do all in their power to keep the boys off, and in some instances have stopped their cars to drive them away, only to be met with a flying stick or stone that usually breaks glass. Parents should know of this dangerous habit of the children and caution them and do all in their power to aid the carmen in preventing accidents which may make the boys cripples for life."

Burned Car Was the "Peru." The handsome interurban car destroyed in the fire which raged on Thursday night was the beautiful "Peru," which has been making trips between Fort Wayne and Indianapolis. The "Peru" was owned by the Indiana Union company and was valued at $15,000.

CALL THE STRIKE OFF. New Orleans Operators Make a Rush to Old Jobs.

New Orleans, La., Nov. 2.—Following a meeting of the Commercial Telegraphers' union here at which it was voted to permit all operators to go back to work who so desired, officials of the union today announced that so far as New Orleans is concerned the telegraph strike is a thing of the past. During the past twenty-four hours about fifty applications have been made to the two telegraph companies, but only about half this number have been reinstated.

Preparations have been made to open all branch offices and more men are being sent to work on the various exchanges.

WESTON FLOODING ON. Coventry, R. I., Nov. 2.—Arising before the sun today, Edward Payson Weston, who is attempting to break the record made by himself forty years ago in walking from Portland, Me., to Chicago, made an early start. He expected to terminate his day's work today in Hartford, Conn., seventy miles from here, bringing the total distance traveled in five days up to about 250 miles.

Buy your boy's suit of Patterson-Fletcher Co. and receive a fine foot ball.

WIFE ASKS TO OCCUPY CELL.

Seeks Husband's Place That He Might Clear Himself of Theft. South Bend, Ind., Nov. 2.—Clifford Blanchard yesterday confessed that he robbed the mails in the South Bend postoffice, but his wife of one year, believing that a mistake had been made, offered to take his place in the cell of the post station if he could be allowed to secure proof of his innocence. When admitted to the cage Mrs. Blanchard tried to kiss her husband through the bars. It is thought Blanchard's stealings will amount to about $2,000.

The Patterson-Fletcher store will give a fine football to each boy that buys a suit, reefer or overcoat in their children's department.

If a really clever woman wishes to attract a man, she acts the part she instinctively feels he would like her to play.—Mrs. Neish.

DeWitt's Catarrhized Witch Hazel Salve is healing and soothing. Good for piles. Sold by all druggists.

No woman is understood; if she were she'd lose half her charm.—Owen Hall.

DeWitt's Little Early Risers are the best pills made. Sold by all druggists.

SCHOOL.

Monday, Nov. 4, will be an excellent time to enter the International Business college. New classes in all departments, day and night school. Phone 504.

Attention, Comrades!

All members of Lawton Wayne Post G. A. R., are requested to meet at post room Sunday afternoon, 1:30 sharp, to attend funeral services of our late comrade Jacob Worman. R. W. SKELTON, Adjutant. H. B. OTTO, Commander.

Patterson-Fletcher Co. sells a fine worsted hannel flannel Hart, Schaffner & Marx suit for $15 and scores of patterns to select from.

MAN OF STRAW ON TRACK GAVE MOTORMAN A BAD FRIGHT

Hallowe'en Prank on Fort Wayne Line Near Peru Caused Scare.

Hallowe'en pranks of boys at Peru gave motormen and conductors on the Fort Wayne and Wabash Valley Traction line a variety of thrilling scares Thursday night, though little damage was done. Perhaps the most comical of these was the placing of a straw "dummy" upon the tracks, and when an east-bound limited car crashed into it the motorman almost collapsed, believing he had struck a human being.

The dummy was made to stand upward upon the track, and the motorman sounded his whistle as he saw the form between the rails. It was so life-like that he declared he thought the supposed man would get out of the way. When there was no movement in this direction it was too late to stop the car and the crash came. The trick came off with an assortment of straw and cast-off clothing was found strewn along the track.

Practice Should Be Stopped. "The practice of 'hopping' street cars indulged in by a great many boys in Fort Wayne is a most dangerous one," said City Superintendent E. M. Raver this morning. "Every night you can see from one to five boys hanging around on the city and suburban cars. They cling to the fenders and bang on the steps as the cars whizz past each other, and the result, if a youngster should happen to lose his hold just as the cars were passing, is an appalling thought. The trainmen do all in their power to keep the boys off, and in some instances have stopped their cars to drive them away, only to be met with a flying stick or stone that usually breaks glass. Parents should know of this dangerous habit of the children and caution them and do all in their power to aid the carmen in preventing accidents which may make the boys cripples for life."

Burned Car Was the "Peru." The handsome interurban car destroyed in the fire which raged on Thursday night was the beautiful "Peru," which has been making trips between Fort Wayne and Indianapolis. The "Peru" was owned by the Indiana Union company and was valued at $15,000.

CALL THE STRIKE OFF. New Orleans Operators Make a Rush to Old Jobs.

New Orleans, La., Nov. 2.—Following a meeting of the Commercial Telegraphers' union here at which it was voted to permit all operators to go back to work who so desired, officials of the union today announced that so far as New Orleans is concerned the telegraph strike is a thing of the past. During the past twenty-four hours about fifty applications have been made to the two telegraph companies, but only about half this number have been reinstated.

Preparations have been made to open all branch offices and more men are being sent to work on the various exchanges.

WESTON FLOODING ON. Coventry, R. I., Nov. 2.—Arising before the sun today, Edward Payson Weston, who is attempting to break the record made by himself forty years ago in walking from Portland, Me., to Chicago, made an early start. He expected to terminate his day's work today in Hartford, Conn., seventy miles from here, bringing the total distance traveled in five days up to about 250 miles.

Buy your boy's suit of Patterson-Fletcher Co. and receive a fine foot ball.

WIFE ASKS TO OCCUPY CELL.

Seeks Husband's Place That He Might Clear Himself of Theft. South Bend, Ind., Nov. 2.—Clifford Blanchard yesterday confessed that he robbed the mails in the South Bend postoffice, but his wife of one year, believing that a mistake had been made, offered to take his place in the cell of the post station if he could be allowed to secure proof of his innocence. When admitted to the cage Mrs. Blanchard tried to kiss her husband through the bars. It is thought Blanchard's stealings will amount to about $2,000.

The Patterson-Fletcher store will give a fine football to each boy that buys a suit, reefer or overcoat in their children's department.

If a really clever woman wishes to attract a man, she acts the part she instinctively feels he would like her to play.—Mrs. Neish.

DeWitt's Catarrhized Witch Hazel Salve is healing and soothing. Good for piles. Sold by all druggists.

No woman is understood; if she were she'd lose half her charm.—Owen Hall.

DeWitt's Little Early Risers are the best pills made. Sold by all druggists.

SCHOOL.

Monday, Nov. 4, will be an excellent time to enter the International Business college. New classes in all departments, day and night school. Phone 504.

Attention, Comrades!

All members of Lawton Wayne Post G. A. R., are requested to meet at post room Sunday afternoon, 1:30 sharp, to attend funeral services of our late comrade Jacob Worman. R. W. SKELTON, Adjutant. H. B. OTTO, Commander.

Patterson-Fletcher Co. sells a fine worsted hannel flannel Hart, Schaffner & Marx suit for $15 and scores of patterns to select from.

MAN OF STRAW ON TRACK GAVE MOTORMAN A BAD FRIGHT

Hallowe'en Prank on Fort Wayne Line Near Peru Caused Scare.

Hallowe'en pranks of boys at Peru gave motormen and conductors on the Fort Wayne and Wabash Valley Traction line a variety of thrilling scares Thursday night, though little damage was done. Perhaps the most comical of these was the placing of a straw "dummy" upon the tracks, and when an east-bound limited car crashed into it the motorman almost collapsed, believing he had struck a human being.

The dummy was made to stand upward upon the track, and the motorman sounded his whistle as he saw the form between the rails. It was so life-like that he declared he thought the supposed man would get out of the way. When there was no movement in this direction it was too late to stop the car and the crash came. The trick came off with an assortment of straw and cast-off clothing was found strewn along the track.

Practice Should Be Stopped. "The practice of 'hopping' street cars indulged in by a great many boys in Fort Wayne is a most dangerous one," said City Superintendent E. M. Raver this morning. "Every night you can see from one to five boys hanging around on the city and suburban cars. They cling to the fenders and bang on the steps as the cars whizz past each other, and the result, if a youngster should happen to lose his hold just as the cars were passing, is an appalling thought. The trainmen do all in their power to keep the boys off, and in some instances have stopped their cars to drive them away, only to be met with a flying stick or stone that usually breaks glass. Parents should know of this dangerous habit of the children and caution them and do all in their power to aid the carmen in preventing accidents which may make the boys cripples for life."

Burned Car Was the "Peru." The handsome interurban car destroyed in the fire which raged on Thursday night was the beautiful "Peru," which has been making trips between Fort Wayne and Indianapolis. The "Peru" was owned by the Indiana Union company and was valued at $15,000.

CALL THE STRIKE OFF. New Orleans Operators Make a Rush to Old Jobs.

New Orleans, La., Nov. 2.—Following a meeting of the Commercial Telegraphers' union here at which it was voted to permit all operators to go back to work who so desired, officials of the union today announced that so far as New Orleans is concerned the telegraph strike is a thing of the past. During the past twenty-four hours about fifty applications have been made to the two telegraph companies, but only about half this number have been reinstated.

Preparations have been made to open all branch offices and more men are being sent to work on the various exchanges.

WESTON FLOODING ON. Coventry, R. I., Nov. 2.—Arising before the sun today, Edward Payson Weston, who is attempting to break the record made by himself forty years ago in walking from Portland, Me., to Chicago, made an early start. He expected to terminate his day's work today in Hartford, Conn., seventy miles from here, bringing the total distance traveled in five days up to about 250 miles.

Buy your boy's suit of Patterson-Fletcher Co. and receive a fine foot ball.

WIFE ASKS TO OCCUPY CELL.

Seeks Husband's Place That He Might Clear Himself of Theft. South Bend, Ind., Nov. 2.—Clifford Blanchard yesterday confessed that he robbed the mails in the South Bend postoffice, but his wife of one year, believing that a mistake had been made, offered to take his place in the cell of the post station if he could be allowed to secure proof of his innocence. When admitted to the cage Mrs. Blanchard tried to kiss her husband through the bars. It is thought Blanchard's stealings will amount to about $2,000.

The Patterson-Fletcher store will give a fine football to each boy that buys a suit, reefer or overcoat in their children's department.

If a really clever woman wishes to attract a man, she acts the part she instinctively feels he would like her to play.—Mrs. Neish.

DeWitt's Catarrhized Witch Hazel Salve is healing and soothing. Good for piles. Sold by all druggists.

No woman is understood; if she were she'd lose half her charm.—Owen Hall.

DeWitt's Little Early Risers are the best pills made. Sold by all druggists.

SCHOOL.

Monday, Nov. 4, will be an excellent time to enter the International Business college. New classes in all departments, day and night school. Phone 504.

Attention, Comrades!

All members of Lawton Wayne Post G. A. R., are

OUR YOUNG FOLKS

Polly and the Magic Goose: A Modern Fairy Story By Helena Davis.

Polly was the name of a little orphan girl who lived with a very wicked old couple in the country near to a great city. In this great city lived the married daughter of the wicked couple, and she was the mother of a little daughter just the age of the orphan Polly. But her life was full of plenty, and her parents and grandparents (all wicked, selfish people who cared only for their own) honored her every wish. Not so with Polly. Her life was one of want and dreary. For every crumb she ate and for every rag she wore she paid doubly dear in work, being made a veritable slave-child by the wicked old man and woman who had taken her at her mother's death, with a promise to protect and educate her as though she were a child of their own. But this promise had never been kept for one day, for the very day the Polly accompanied the old folks to the home they set severe tasks for her to perform. And when once Polly had completed that she was hungry all the time—never having half enough food during the day to be called one meal—and that she was cold in the damp basement room where she slept, and very weary from her heavy tasks set for her to perform, too old woman fell upon her and beat her unmercifully, saying: "Now, little beggar, complete of your home again, will you? Do you really have more than work? If so, let us hear some more complaints of your food, bed and work."

Who is He?

A little chap who sneaks about Pinching children's toes;
Who treats them in a manner cool,
And plants quite red their noses.
Who strikes the flowers in full quietude,
And makes the autumn chills;
Who comes when least expected,
At night when all is still.
He comes around just once a year;
And ne'er does he get lost;
He's sometimes early, sometimes late,
But we're sure to have Jack Frost.

ANNIE JAMES.

Remarkable Tropical Birds.

Bell-Bird.

Two curious-remarkable birds are the Umbrella-bird and the Bell-bird. The former is found along the upper Amazon River and has its home in the highest tree-tops. Its food consists of wild fruits and berries. It derives its name from a peculiar head-dress in the shape of a large, flat-topped, slightly drooping crest of soft feathers that completely shade its face. From its throat a long lappet of feathers drops nearly to its feet. The Bell-bird, whose name doubtless arises from its bell-like note, though some say it's note sounds strangely like the sound of a blacksmith's hammer on the anvil, sharp and ringing clear is a most interesting bird to study. There are four species of the Bell-bird, three of which have snow-white feathers; males with naked faces of a vivid color. A curious gristle-growth, or formation, thinly covered with feathers hangs from the bird's forehead, and during times of excitement this pendulous growth rises stiffly erect as is shown in the accompanying picture.

slaving, freeing and starving till there seemed little life left in her body.

One day there came a letter to the old woman from her daughter in the city saying:

"Dear Mother: I shall pay you a visit within a few days. Margery took it into her head today that she wants to go to the country for a little visit, and Margery's wish must be obeyed. Have everything in readiness to give her a little surprise party on the night of our arrival. It will so please and amuse her to have such a function given in her honor. Spare no pains to make the party one of unique nature and I will settle all the bills. Your loving daughter, Stella."

"Ah, now, my little beggar, you'll really have something to do," said the old woman, grinning wickedly at poor little Polly, who was polishing the brass of the grate fender. "You'll have a real little queen to wait upon in the person of my granddaughter Margery. She's a hard one to please, too, so you'll have to look lively while acting as her maid."

Polly sighed under her breath. If there was harder work to be imposed upon her she felt that she would sink beneath it. How ill and weak she felt from the long strain! And today she suffered more than usual, for the cold outside was intense and she was obliged to run to the village, a mile away, several times on errands. And her clothing was not sufficient to keep her warm. At times her fingers and toes were so numb that she could scarcely keep the tears back, they pained her so.

The next day the daughter and granddaughter arrived from the city. Margery was a selfish, ill-tempered little girl with a scowl always on her forehead and a point on her lips. Her eyes were ugly and small, a most unsightly squint in one of them. Her features were as ill to look upon as were her eyes. In general make-up, she was a child that no one could like, for her face and manner told of her ugly nature. Her mother—who had signed herself "Stella"—was a second edition of the wicked old woman who held little Polly in abject slavery. In fact, three generations of females could not be more alike than were these three, mother, daughter and granddaughter.

As soon as the two visitors had got installed in their rooms they began calling upon Polly to bring this and that, to take this and that, and to be constantly on the jump at their beck and call. Poor Polly had nothing to do but obey. And as the preparations were going on for the great surprise party to be given that same night in honor of the young guest, Margery, Polly's duties were legion.

At dusk the presents from friends of the neighborhood—friends who were invited to the party—began to arrive. Among them was a strange-looking little toy goose, a gift from one of the poor children of the village who doubtless could not afford to send anything else. As soon as Mrs. Stella saw the inexpensive little toy goose went into the air and she sneered at it. "The idea of any one sending such a thing as that to my daughter!" she said indignantly. "Here, maid, (addressing Polly) take this thing and throw it out the window. I wouldn't think of letting Margery see it; she'd feel simply insulted that any one would dare to present her with such an ugly, cheap trifle."

Polly took the toy goose, scarce larger than a dove, and went to the open window with it. But as she was about to toss it out on the snow-covered ground she felt the poor little thing quiver in room for a few minutes. Placing the little goose on a shelf against the wall she stood looking at it with tenderness in her blue eyes. "Poor little goose," she murmured. "You and I are of little consequence in this world. I am an orphan and you are a cheap toy. But we both can feel. Yes, I'm sure that you can feel just as I do, for when I was about to toss you into the cold snow you shivered. But you shall remain here and be covered up to keep warm. I haven't much color, but what I have shall be shared with you. You are my only companion, and we'll become great friends, I'm sure." So saying Polly took from her cot a bit of old comforter and gently about to scratch a match to light a bit of candle that stood on the shelf a bright light as of a hundred candles flashed about her. The room was warm and beautifully furnished. Where the rude cot had been stood a dainty bed with warm down coverlets. A bright fire sparkled in a grate which had miraculously appeared in one side of the room. Polly could not speak for a minute, then she cried in a low voice: "Oh, am I dreaming?"

Answering her cry came a sweet voice from the doorway behind her: "No, my dear child, you are not dreaming. All you see is real."

Polly turned to behold a fairy standing

There stood Polly in the most beautiful dress, shoes, jacket and hat.

her hand. It may have been but her imagination, but however that may be, Polly could not throw the little thing out of doors into the snow. As Mrs. Stella was so busy fixing the presents on a table at the farthest end of the room Polly said nothing to her about what disposition she made of the rejected toy; but feeling that since it was to be destroyed there could be no possible objection to her—Polly—keeping it. So she hid it on the window ledge behind a potted plant, returning for it at the first opportunity she found to go to her basement room. Then she took the little goose under her apron and ran down the dark back stairs and took herself in her wrapped about the little toy. Then she ran off to perform her evening duties.

After the last guest had arrived, and the party was in full swing in the great white and gold drawing room, Polly was sent to her basement room by her mistress, being told to rise before the sun in the morning and see that bright fires were burning in the grate all over the house. For the wicked old couple who owned the place loved comfort and good cheer for themselves, and never denied themselves nor their daughter and granddaughter anything.

When Polly opened the door to her room and stepped in she stopped short in the middle of the room, for just as she was smiling at her. "Oh, good little fairy," she said, her face full of emotion, "you have come and done all this. How can I thank you?"

The fairy pointed to the toy goose that sat perched upon the grate. "It is that little bird you have to thank," she said. "That toy goose is a magic one, and by chance was lost by one of our kind of fairies the other day. Some one not understanding how precious it is found it and in turn disposed of it. It fell into your worthy hands and through it I was called here to give you comfort and love. That little magic goose can bring luck to a good person possessing it, and fill luck to a wicked person possessing it."

And what is more, it cannot be destroyed by a bad person, but will perish through the negligence and ignorance of a good person. So, by falling into your careful hands it was preserved through your good sense and kind heart. Had the wicked woman, who told you to destroy it, have tried to do so herself she would have met with an awful fate."

Just as the fairy ceased speaking a quick step was heard on the steps, and in another minute the old mistress of the house appeared, her face filled with anger. "You beggar!" she was crying out to Polly, "why don't you come when I call you? I've been calling from the top of the stairs for fully a minute. Who are you talking to, anyway? Who dares to—"

But by this time the old woman had reached the doorway, thrown the door wide and stood with eyes riveted on the scene in front of her. There stood Polly in the most beautiful dress, shoes, jacket and hat; for the fairy had changed her ragged dress for one of rich material and a wand. And she had put upon her a warm jacket and a hat for she meant to lead her from this place within an hour. But the fairy had disappeared upon the old woman's entrance, hiding outside the house in a tree top.

"What does all this mean?" gasped the old woman, finding her tongue. "It means that the little toy goose which your daughter would not have, and which she ordered me to throw away, was—and is—a magic one. It brought about this change for me," explained Polly.

"Oh, a magic goose!" And the old woman ran to the mantle and jerked down the magic bird. "Ah, now, little beggar, go back in your rag again, for this will be mine from now on. Magic, you say? Very well, I'll take it upstairs with me and we—my daughter, my husband, and my granddaughter, will be made richer and more beautiful than any other persons in the whole world. So, go back into your rag!"

But even as she spoke the old woman began to shiver up and to become cold. Her rich gown turned into this rag. But she did not know of the change in her appearance, and ran laughing and gloating upstairs to her daughter and guests with the cherished goose in her arms. "Take it, take it and make a wish," she cried to her husband, thrusting the goose into his arms. He held it but a moment and became a shriveled old man, crippled in limbs and almost speechless. He turned instinctively to his daughter and thrust it into her hands. The same terrible thing happened to her, and she fell to the floor in a fit. Her petted Margery was next to her and bent down and took the toy goose from her writhing mother's arms. Instantly she doubled up into a hideous hunch-back, and her face was so ugly and so full of true character that other children there ran away from her. The guests departed in confusion. The walls of the elegant house changed into the walls of a hut and the rooms became small and mean. The money—which the wicked old people had stolen from the poor—was turned to dust before their eyes. They were ruined, ruined, physically and financially. They had always been ruined morally. So now they were reaping the harvest for their own sowing.

Polly paused long enough to look on the awful scene before her; then taking the magic goose into her arms she joined the good fairy in the yard and together they rode away in a great automobile to a lovely home in the country far, far away where Polly spent her life and the magic of the toy goose in bringing happiness and plenty to the deserving poor and retribution and punishment to the wicked and arrogant rich.

And for many, many years did Polly and the Magic Goose live to accomplish great good in the world.

CONCLUSION.

When are bees like crabs?
When all swelled up.
Why is hush him an old maid?
It's something left-over.
When are little girls like windows?
When they have shades.
When is a tooth like a bag?
When plucked.
Why is the man on the yellow like a drunkard?
He has taken one drop too much.

Limerick.

There was a bad boy who did try
To smoke a cigar, Mee-ay!
His stomach did ache,
And his legs they did quake;
And he really thought he would die.

Little Johnny Perkins at the Bottom of the Sea.

BY MAUD WALKER.

Little Johnny Perkins was the son of a fisherman and lived away down in Florida. His home was a rude affair made from old spars, ship's timbers, and other old lumber, that were found floating as driftwood in the bay after storms at sea.

Johnny's mother spent her days making and mending nets and keeping her house in order, while Johnny's father spent most of his time in the Gulf of Mexico fishing for red-snapper. That particular kind of fish always brought a good price at the fish houses on the wharf, and Johnny's father usually brought a good pull every time he came from a fishing expedition.

When Johnny was eight years old he began planning to follow the fishing trade, but his mother objected to her little son's going to sea. He should be old enough to brave the tempests and endure the exposure of cold and dampness. Indeed, the good woman knew too well the perils of the great deep, for many and many were the nights she watched and watched the return of her husband's boat, building a bonfire on the sandy beach to guide him in the darkness. And many and many a time she saw with fearful heart the waves beat high, driving the frail fisher-boats out to sea where many of them were lost. But always her husband came home, no matter how great his peril, for he declared that he was a lucky fisherman and would never be caught in Davy Jones' locker.

After a fishing expedition, which usually lasted several days, Johnny's father would remain at home for a week, sitting in the shade of the house reading and smoking his pipe and relating to Johnny stories of the sea. And other fisher folk would come in to spend an hour in the evening when Johnny's father was at home, for every one knew him for a good-hearted, cordial soul who was ever ready with laugh and story.

And so the months passed by, some of the time spent by Johnny and his mother in terrible anxiety and suspense when the father and husband was away, and other times spent in simple domestic bliss when he was at home safe and sound with a nice roll of money in his pocket as the result of a good catch of red-snapper.

But all the time Johnny was becoming impatient to go to sea. He begged his father to take him every time he took his boat—the "Captain Perkins"—out; but each time the fond father would shake his grizzled head and say: "Not yet my liddle. Wait till you are stronger of arm and leg and stouter of heart and firmer of nerve. The old Gulf ain't no place for a little shaver. Old Davy Jones might lay hands on you, and once in his clutches you'd find yourself in his locker next."

No, just you wait awhile. Besides, I'm laying away a bit towards making a scholar and a gentleman out'n you. What if yer dad is just plain Jim Perkins, the fisherman; 'tain't no sign you have to follow the same trade. Nope, Johnny Perkins shall fish for bigger fish than red-snapper, I'll warrant."

But Johnny said nothing in reply. He kept on longing and longing to go to sea. So, one day just after his father had set the sails of "Captain Perkins" to the breeze and was like a white-winged bird over the beautiful waves that danced so merrily in the sunlight, Johnny proceeded to carry into effect a plan which had been forming for days and nights in his childish brain. Near to his father's little dock was another one belonging to old "Uncle" Tim Whalen, and there old "Uncle" Tim's boat, the "Nancy Lee," was tied up waiting for old "Uncle" Tim to start to sea, for he, like Jim Perkins, was a fisherman. When no one was about Tim's dock Johnny crept into the little cabin of the "Nancy Lee," hiding himself behind the provision box and covering himself with a great piece of tarpaulin. Then he waited.

An hour or more must have passed, and still old "Uncle" Tim did not come to set the sails of the Nancy Lee. Little Johnny could not quite understand why he delayed his going to sea, for the tide was right for starting and the day as fine as it could possibly be. And all that morning old Tim, assisted by his good wife, had been busy provisioning the boat for two weeks' fishing expedition. The fisherman always put in enough food to run them two or three weeks in case of emergency, though they rarely remained out at sea longer than four or five days at a time.

As the forenoon wore away little

Johnny became sleepy, lying there in the snug, close little cabin with the tarpaulin. So, closing his eyes he was about to indulge in a nap when of a sudden the boat started without another occupant than Johnny and without her sails being set. Johnny marvelled at this; but fearing that should he appear outside the cabin he would be accused by the boat's owner of having set her going, and decided to remain in his snug corner.

On and on he sailed, going at a great rate over the dancing water. Johnny could hear those on the shore shouting and calling out to old "Uncle" Tim that his Nancy Lee was drifting out to sea; but what good would all that noise do? There wasn't another boat in dock that could travel as fast as the Nancy Lee when she was going at her usual speed; and at her present speed none could hope to even keep her in sight.

Now, the reader may be somewhat surprised that Johnny did not feel any fear—drifting away out to sea in a boat of which he knew nothing. Often he had seen the boat start and stop in the Captain Perkins, and had some notion of how to manage her. But the Nancy Lee was a different sort of boat—larger and better than the Captain Perkins—and was managed on different lines. So Johnny was going out into the great rolling gulf in a boat of which he was wholly ignorant. To be sure, her sails were not set, and she was doubtless just drifting before the wind.

While Johnny lay meditating upon his novel experience, not wondering how he was to get on land again, but wondering what he should see after he had gotten beyond the sight of land, the tarpaulin was raised from his face and the strangest looking old man stood peering down into his eyes.

"Oh, I've got you now, young man," said this remarkable individual. "You are going with me to the bottom of the sea very shortly."

"Who are you, and how did you get aboard this boat?" asked Johnny, now sitting up and showing his surprise at the presence of the stranger.

"My name's Davy Jones. The sea going folk fear me as a bad boy fears the dark. And it is not always so easy to catch a fellow as it has been to catch you. I saw you creep into the boat and know that you meant to disobey your parents and go to sea in direct opposition to their wishes. So, says I to myself, old Davy, there's one for you. Get him and clip him into your locker at the bottom of the sea."

For the first time in his life Johnny felt really frightened. Old Davy Jones! And right there in possession of the boat! And going to take him—Johnny Perkins—to the bottom of the sea where he would live with him in the wide-famed locker which Johnny knew meant a coffin.

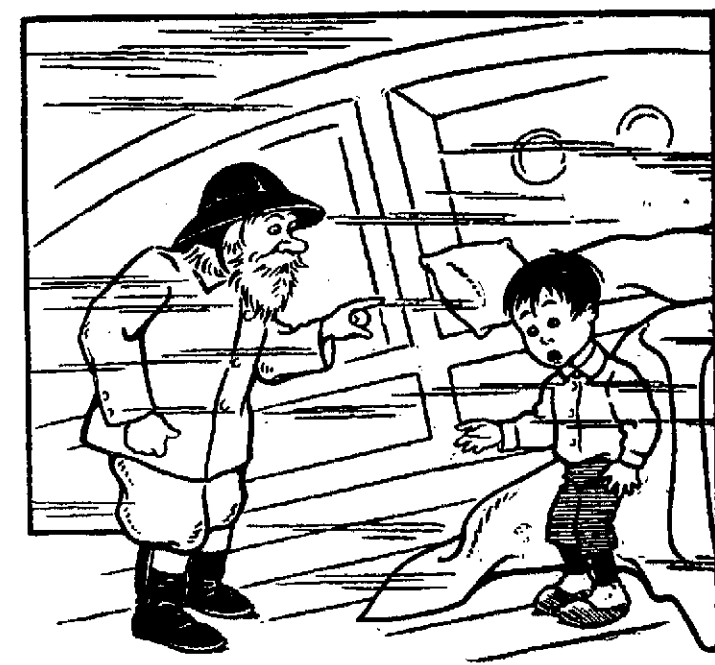

"Oh, sir, please do not harm me!" wailed Johnny imploringly. "I will go home to my mother and never, no never, run away to sea again. Just please don't take me to the bottom of the sea. My father is Jim Perkins, the best-hearted and luckiest fisherman along all the Florida coast."

"That's just the reason why I'm going to take you down to the bottom of the sea," laughed Davy Jones. "Your father and your mother are both good fellows, and old Davy Jones are defied by him. But now that I have my hold of his son I mean to keep it. So, prepare to see the mysteries of the bottom of the sea, and at once, my lad."

As the old man spoke there was the sound of rushing waves and the Nancy Lee began to rock and pitch furiously. Johnny began to tremble with fear and to wish with all his heart that he were safe at home with his mother. Just as he was about to implore old Davy Jones again to save him the boat gave a sudden dip and shot like an arrow into the sea; dividing the waters and making a straight path to the very bottom.

Johnny was dizzy from the quick descent, and could hardly speak when at last the boat stopped on the sandy bottom of the gulf. Then gasping, he turned to old Davy Jones who was looking at him with a sardonic grin on his ugly face. "Oh, sir, what are you going to do with me now?" Johnny asked. "I feel so smothered with all this water over me that I feel I shall die unless you let me go to the top again. Oh, oh!" And Johnny gasped and gasped, struggling for breath.

"Ah, here you are, you young rascal!" And a strong hand took hold of Johnny,

"Oh, sir, what are you going to do with me now?" Johnny asked.

lifting him from his reclining position. And then Johnny opened his eyes and caught his breath at the same moment. To his amazement he beheld the weather-beaten face of old "Uncle" Tim heading over him. "How come you in here, you young run-away?" asked "Uncle" Tim. "Your mother has been here daffy about you and has the whole town out searching. That's why I delayed starting out with the boat half an hour ago. I've been helping to search for you. Come, get out'n here and go and tell your mother you're safe and sound on dry land. She thought old Davy Jones had got you sure."

"Well," and Johnny rubbed hard his eyes to make sure this was not a happy dream. "I guess old Davy Jones did pretty near get me, Uncle Tim. But if I know myself I'll never, never go to sea again. Never."

"Why, you foolish youngster, you haven't been to sea yet," laughed "Uncle" Tim. "Wait till you get a real taste of it, then you may talk."

"What?" said Johnny, showing some surprise, for as yet he was not sure that he had not been in the bottom of the gulf. "do you call going to the bottom of the sea nothing? Well, I've been there and talked with old Davy Jones, and he's a mighty dangerous person, too. I can tell you."

"Oh, none of your spinning sea yarn at your age," said "Uncle" Tim. "But get out of here. I'm for getting off to sea. There comes my partner now. Run with all your legs and tell your mother she's got you to feed and fuss over for another while."

And Johnny, glad to the core of his heart that he was once more on dry land, and so soon to run into his dear mother's arms, skipped off with all his might towards his home, declaring under his breath: "I'll go to school and become a scholar. I'll tell your mother to send me to sea. As sure as my name's John Perkins, old Davy Jones would get me if I did."

Riddles and Answers.

On yonder hill there is a mill, and in that mill there is a wheel; and now it goes and now stands still.

(Tongue in a man's head.)
It goes up the hill and down the hill, yet it never moves, but stands quite still.

(A Road.)
It opens like a barn door,
You may cure a nap;
You may cure all day,
But you can't guess that.

(A corset.)
What is that which every one can divide, yet no one can see where it was divided?

(Water.)

"Why, you foolish youngster, you haven't been to sea yet," laughed "Uncle" Tim. "Wait till you get a real taste of it, then you may talk."

"What?" said Johnny, showing some surprise, for as yet he was not sure that he had not been in the bottom of the gulf. "do you call going to the bottom of the sea nothing? Well, I've been there and talked with old Davy Jones, and he's a mighty dangerous person, too. I can tell you."

"Oh, none of your spinning sea yarn at your age," said "Uncle" Tim. "But get out of here. I'm for getting off to sea. There comes my partner now. Run with all your legs and tell your mother she's got you to feed and fuss over for another while."

And Johnny, glad to the core of his heart that he was once more on dry land, and so soon to run into his dear mother's arms, skipped off with all his might towards his home, declaring under his breath: "I'll go to school and become a scholar. I'll tell your mother to send me to sea. As sure as my name's John Perkins, old Davy Jones would get me if I did."

PUSSY GOT LEFT.

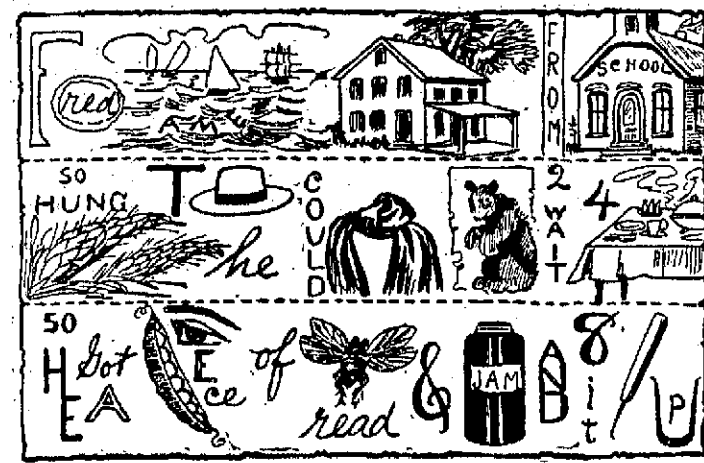

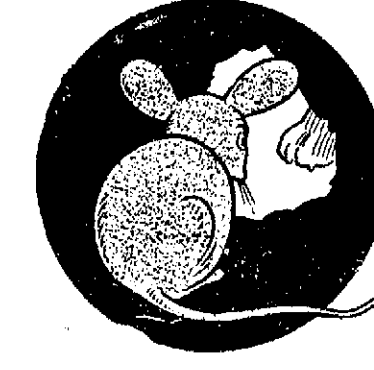

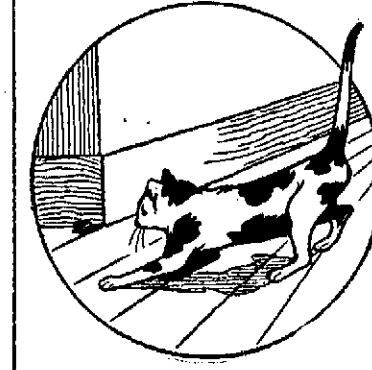

Pussy in the corner
Of the great big house.
Pussy in the corner,
Watching for a mouse.

Hole quite close to Pussy.
Hole so small and dark:
Not a ray of light there,
No, not a single spark.

Pussy waits and listens:
Hark! What's that she hears?
Something in the hole moves!
It catches Pussy's ears.

Soft she creeps up closer,
For on the other side
Of the tiny dark hole
A little mouse does hide.

But she sees Miss Pussy,
And says, "Oh, dear Oh, dear,
So long as she's calling,
I shall stay right here."

PLAYS of the EARLY SEASON

MAJESTIC THEATER

Tonight—"The Flaming Arrow."
Monday Evening—Brewster's Millions.
Wednesday Evening—E. H. Sothern in "If I Were King."
Thursday—A Knight for a Day.
Friday and Saturday—"The Man of the Hour."

"THE FLAMING ARROW" THIS EVENING.

Lovers of tales of the frontier, where the red man takes an active part, will find a thrilling treat in "The Flaming Arrow," which comes to the Majestic this evening.

The characters introduced are all typical of the west in the early 60's and includes the picturesque cow punchers, the deep dyed and treacherous Mexican, the Indian and army officers.

The story has to do with the love of a young Indian chief for the colonel's daughter. Another love story is added by a fun-loving Irishman in love with a spinster who does not care to acknowledge her span of life. This furnishes much good comedy as does "Snowball," a colored cent, who makes himself generally useful, tending the bar, polishing the harness buckles and numerous other ways.

Among the features is Moon Dog, a famous warrior; Red Flash, Custer's famous Indian scout; Black Eagle, an Arrapahoe chief; and White Eagle, his son. The latter's love for the colonel's daughter, his cleverness in rescuing her from the abductors and his picturesqueness, add to the interest of the piece. A band of sixteen Indians are an interesting feature. The title of the play is not suggestive of the true plot, except in the last act when an arrow shoots across the sky, edged with brimstone, which sends forth a phosphorus light. This is the signal between Black Eagle and his son, should he survive the trip into the mountains in search of the colonel's daughter.

"BREWSTER'S MILLIONS" MONDAY EVENING.

Habitual theater-goers, especially those who have seen everything worth seeing, may possibly flatter themselves that they have witnessed the limit of the stage creator's genius. The writer, however, is bold enough to assert with some degree of positiveness that this is not so unless they have seen the marvelous yacht scene in "Brewster's Millions," as presented by Cohen and Harris' comedians and which will be seen in this city at the Majestic on Monday evening.

Originally but an incident in this famous comedy, Mr. Frederic Thompson, that wizard of stageland, developed it into what today must stand a monument to his genius and daring as a producer, for it has set the civilized world talking inasmuch as it is now being presented in almost every capital of Europe, after having achieved and recorded successful runs in London, New York and Chicago, varying in length from six months to an entire year. The simulation of every phase of a terrific electrical storm at sea is reproduced so faithfully as to appear almost as the real thing. The deck of the ship rocks, timbers and masts bend and quiver, the sails belly out with the fury of the wind, the smoke from the funnel, the steam from the valves flies and all the time the short line hits by an panoramic fashion, making it hard to believe that one is looking upon merely a stage picture. The flashing of the lightning, the dashing of the waves, the hoisting and lowering of signals, the discharging of the cannon, the lighting of a "flare-up," all in truly nautical fashion, are adjuncts which merely intensify the realism. "Brewster's Millions," however, is not all effects; it is primarily a comedy and about the richest and most laughable one produced in many years. Its long life in the large cities bearing ample testimony to this fact. Messrs. Cohen and Harris have provided "Brewster's Millions" with an absolute duplicate of the original New York production and have cast it with a company of comedians which embraces among others Mr. Robert Ober, who will be ably assisted by Messrs. Brimley Shaw, Joseph Kaufman, George Crosselet, Louis Haines, Edwin Maynard, Edwin Mortimer, John Alden and Misses June Mathis, Ada May Talbot, Olive North, Nellie Black and Martha Bernard. "Brewster's Millions" is a dramatization of of poetry and the inspiring rhythm of measured verse. It will be many years before Mr. Sothern will outwear or his public outgrow this Justin Haulty McCarthy fancy turned loose. It contains all the basic elements of lasting popularity, and if there is a new generation of playgoers every seven years, then the actor can continue to periodically revive the play and never lack for a sighing multitude of romance hungry humans to pay him tribute. Good Villon, with his strong arm and great heart, his mellow voice and his searching eyes, is a fairytale hero. And Katherine de Vaucelles, the proud and haughty beauty who spurns him only to call him back again, is a dramatized illustration from the Knights' Herald. What matters it if this situation is audaciously theatrical or that situation is plainly play acting in its baldest form? That's the beauty of romantic drama—everything fits. In fact, the only thing that wouldn't fit would be an effort to avoid "acting," broadly, or to try to make the play conform with one's sober notions of life and character. In no other part that he plays can Mr. Sothern give so fine a performance.

"A KNIGHT FOR A DAY" THURSDAY EVENING.

People who delight in a pleasant and pleasing entertainment, full of laughs and music, will be glad to hear that "A Knight for a Day" is booked for presentation at the Majestic on Thursday. This attraction, which has been delighting Chicago theatergoers for so long, where it still is crowding the Whitney Opera house at every performance, has now been given a road production and sent on tour under the management of B. C. Whitney, the original producer. It has been provided with an excellent company of players and an elaborate scenic equipment, and it is promised that the production is as complete in every particular as is the Chicago one. Eddie Redway, well and favorably remembered for his work as the original Gingerbread Man and May Vokes, "The Tattooed Man," are the chief fun-makers, and the laughter they arouse nightly from the audiences is the best compliment that could be paid their ability. One of the qualifying features of "A Knight for a Day" is that the performance is never allowed to drag. The principals work their hardest every night and the chorus is keyed right up to the pitch. The chorus received its training under the direction of Gus Schlake, which is sufficient guarantee of a well drilled group of chorus people. Some of the songs that have caught the popular fancy are "I'd Like Another Situation Just Like That" and "I Didn't Think I'd Do It, But I Did," sung by May Vokes, "Whistle When You Walk Out," sung by Mr. Redway, and "Life Is a See Saw." The music is all charming and whistly, and adds finish to a very delightful entertainment. Besides May Vokes and Eddie Redway, there will be seen with this company Carolyn Lilja, Laura Osburne, Gertrude Phelps, Felix Fantus, Harvey Austin, Russell Lennon, John Jex and Chas. Mast.

"THE MAN OF THE HOUR" NEXT FRIDAY AND SATURDAY AND SATURDAY MATINEE.

"The Man of the Hour," George Broadhurst's play which has already been presented in New York city at the Savoy theater for nine months, will be seen at the Majestic on Friday and Saturday and Saturday matinee.

"The Man of the Hour" is reported to be a timely play, full of dramatic incidents, with plenty of comedy and telling a story of human interest.

It deals with one of the most burning topics of the day. The "grafting" of the political "machine" in many of the great cities of this country is the central theme of the story, the particular delineation being the passage through the city council of the town where the action of the play takes place of a bill giving a perpetual franchise to a street railway.

The mayor's signature is all that is necessary to make the bill a fact, and the "machine" has elected to the office, after a hard fight, a rich young man whom they thought could be easily "handled." He proves honest, however, and although all kinds of pressure are brought to bear steadfastly refuses to make the proposed measure a law.

The love interest in "The Man of the Hour" is that of the young man for the niece of the snarler who is responsible for the bill. She has told her lover that in order to win her hand he must prove worthy, but it is at the risk of jeopardizing her fortune and losing her as well that the young man keeps up the fight of his life against the "bosses."

Mr. Broadhurst is said to have utilized in the making of his play many incidents which in the past few months have come to public knowledge through the newspapers of the country, and which when put upon the stage should have dramatic value.

Best remedy for mothers to use is Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup. It tastes nearly as good as maple sugar, it contains no opiates. Sold by all druggists.

For the rest he has moved from light comedy to the heroic and romantic and thence to the classic. Beginning with "The Prisoner of Zenda," Mr. Sothern entered upon a career of romantic impersonation that extended through the McCarthy series of plays ending with "The Proud Prince" and "If I Were King," the latter play being now revived after three years of idleness.

Then came the young actor's most serious step forward, Hamlet was tried with more than ordinary success. Then came Shylock in "The Merchant of Venice," and later, in association with Julia Marlowe, he gave us a series of Shakespearean roles including such extremes as Romeo and Petruchio.

Dismissing again Mr. Sothern last season brought forward another play of German origin, "John the Baptist," and also discovered for us the genius of a new American playwright, Percy Mackaye, in the beautiful poetic study of the history of Joan d'Arc, in which Miss Marlowe was the central figure. Though an Englishman in parentage Mr. Sothern is American born, and throughout his stage career has assiduously devoted himself to the cultivation of his native language.

Last spring, however, in company with Miss Marlowe, he invaded the British metropolis and won a personal triumph that must have been exceedingly gratifying to both him and Miss Marlowe.

The time limit of the association of these two stars having expired, Mr.

Since the death of Richard Mansfield it may be claimed without fear of dispute that Edward H. Sothern is the leading American actor. Even during Mansfield's career there were very many people who voted the palm to Sothern.

New that death has stepped in and Mansfield's glory is but a memory, the place of the young man who comes here this week may be awarded without reservation. Like Mansfield, Sothern is a character actor, but here the resemblance ceases.

Mr. Sothern has successfully invaded the heroic and romantic fields, and has also displayed a certain comedy talent that Mr. Mansfield did not possess. Sothern has achieved a Hamlet that Mansfield could never have created.

Mr. Sothern is a quiet, modest, studious gentleman. He is an artist by

E. H. SOTHERN IN "IF I WERE KING," WEDNESDAY EVENING.

Since the death of Richard Mansfield it may be claimed without fear of dispute that Edward H. Sothern is the leading American actor. Even during Mansfield's career there were very many people who voted the palm to Sothern.

New that death has stepped in and Mansfield's glory is but a memory, the place of the young man who comes here this week may be awarded without reservation. Like Mansfield, Sothern is a character actor, but here the resemblance ceases.

Mr. Sothern has successfully invaded the heroic and romantic fields, and has also displayed a certain comedy talent that Mr. Mansfield did not possess. Sothern has achieved a Hamlet that Mansfield could never have created.

Mr. Sothern is a quiet, modest, studious gentleman. He is an artist by

E. H. SOTHERN IN "IF I WERE KING," WEDNESDAY EVENING.

Since the death of Richard Mansfield it may be claimed without fear of dispute that Edward H. Sothern is the leading American actor. Even during Mansfield's career there were very many people who voted the palm to Sothern.

New that death has stepped in and Mansfield's glory is but a memory, the place of the young man who comes here this week may be awarded without reservation. Like Mansfield, Sothern is a character actor, but here the resemblance ceases.

Mr. Sothern has successfully invaded the heroic and romantic fields, and has also displayed a certain comedy talent that Mr. Mansfield did not possess. Sothern has achieved a Hamlet that Mansfield could never have created.

Mr. Sothern is a quiet, modest, studious gentleman. He is an artist by

E. H. SOTHERN IN "IF I WERE KING," WEDNESDAY EVENING.

Since the death of Richard Mansfield it may be claimed without fear of dispute that Edward H. Sothern is the leading American actor. Even during Mansfield's career there were very many people who voted the palm to Sothern.

New that death has stepped in and Mansfield's glory is but a memory, the place of the young man who comes here this week may be awarded without reservation. Like Mansfield, Sothern is a character actor, but here the resemblance ceases.

Mr. Sothern has successfully invaded the heroic and romantic fields, and has also displayed a certain comedy talent that Mr. Mansfield did not possess. Sothern has achieved a Hamlet that Mansfield could never have created.

Mr. Sothern is a quiet, modest, studious gentleman. He is an artist by

E. H. SOTHERN IN "IF I WERE KING," WEDNESDAY EVENING.

Since the death of Richard Mansfield it may be claimed without fear of dispute that Edward H. Sothern is the leading American actor. Even during Mansfield's career there were very many people who voted the palm to Sothern.

New that death has stepped in and Mansfield's glory is but a memory, the place of the young man who comes here this week may be awarded without reservation. Like Mansfield, Sothern is a character actor, but here the resemblance ceases.

Mr. Sothern has successfully invaded the heroic and romantic fields, and has also displayed a certain comedy talent that Mr. Mansfield did not possess. Sothern has achieved a Hamlet that Mansfield could never have created.

Mr. Sothern is a quiet, modest, studious gentleman. He is an artist by

E. H. SOTHERN IN "IF I WERE KING," WEDNESDAY EVENING.

Since the death of Richard Mansfield it may be claimed without fear of dispute that Edward H. Sothern is the leading American actor. Even during Mansfield's career there were very many people who voted the palm to Sothern.

New that death has stepped in and Mansfield's glory is but a memory, the place of the young man who comes here this week may be awarded without reservation. Like Mansfield, Sothern is a character actor, but here the resemblance ceases.

Mr. Sothern has successfully invaded the heroic and romantic fields, and has also displayed a certain comedy talent that Mr. Mansfield did not possess. Sothern has achieved a Hamlet that Mansfield could never have created.

Mr. Sothern is a quiet, modest, studious gentleman. He is an artist by

E. H. SOTHERN IN "IF I WERE KING," WEDNESDAY EVENING.

Since the death of Richard Mansfield it may be claimed without fear of dispute that Edward H. Sothern is the leading American actor. Even during Mansfield's career there were very many people who voted the palm to Sothern.

New that death has stepped in and Mansfield's glory is but a memory, the place of the young man who comes here this week may be awarded without reservation. Like Mansfield, Sothern is a character actor, but here the resemblance ceases.

Mr. Sothern has successfully invaded the heroic and romantic fields, and has also displayed a certain comedy talent that Mr. Mansfield did not possess. Sothern has achieved a Hamlet that Mansfield could never have created.

Mr. Sothern is a quiet, modest, studious gentleman. He is an artist by

E. H. SOTHERN IN "IF I WERE KING," WEDNESDAY EVENING.

Since the death of Richard Mansfield it may be claimed without fear of dispute that Edward H. Sothern is the leading American actor. Even during Mansfield's career there were very many people who voted the palm to Sothern.

New that death has stepped in and Mansfield's glory is but a memory, the place of the young man who comes here this week may be awarded without reservation. Like Mansfield, Sothern is a character actor, but here the resemblance ceases.

Mr. Sothern has successfully invaded the heroic and romantic fields, and has also displayed a certain comedy talent that Mr. Mansfield did not possess. Sothern has achieved a Hamlet that Mansfield could never have created.

Mr. Sothern is a quiet, modest, studious gentleman. He is an artist by

E. H. SOTHERN IN "IF I WERE KING," WEDNESDAY EVENING.

Since the death of Richard Mansfield it may be claimed without fear of dispute that Edward H. Sothern is the leading American actor. Even during Mansfield's career there were very many people who voted the palm to Sothern.

New that death has stepped in and Mansfield's glory is but a memory, the place of the young man who comes here this week may be awarded without reservation. Like Mansfield, Sothern is a character actor, but here the resemblance ceases.

Mr. Sothern has successfully invaded the heroic and romantic fields, and has also displayed a certain comedy talent that Mr. Mansfield did not possess. Sothern has achieved a Hamlet that Mansfield could never have created.

Mr. Sothern is a quiet, modest, studious gentleman. He is an artist by

E. H. SOTHERN IN "IF I WERE KING," WEDNESDAY EVENING.

Since the death of Richard Mansfield it may be claimed without fear of dispute that Edward H. Sothern is the leading American actor. Even during Mansfield's career there were very many people who voted the palm to Sothern.

New that death has stepped in and Mansfield's glory is but a memory, the place of the young man who comes here this week may be awarded without reservation. Like Mansfield, Sothern is a character actor, but here the resemblance ceases.

Mr. Sothern has successfully invaded the heroic and romantic fields, and has also displayed a certain comedy talent that Mr. Mansfield did not possess. Sothern has achieved a Hamlet that Mansfield could never have created.

Mr. Sothern is a quiet, modest, studious gentleman. He is an artist by

E. H. SOTHERN IN "IF I WERE KING," WEDNESDAY EVENING.

Since the death of Richard Mansfield it may be claimed without fear of dispute that Edward H. Sothern is the leading American actor. Even during Mansfield's career there were very many people who voted the palm to Sothern.

of poetry and the inspiring rhythm of measured verse.

It will be many years before Mr. Sothern will outwear or his public outgrow this Justin Haulty McCarthy fancy turned loose. It contains all the basic elements of lasting popularity, and if there is a new generation of playgoers every seven years, then the actor can continue to periodically revive the play and never lack for a sighing multitude of romance hungry humans to pay him tribute. Good Villon, with his strong arm and great heart, his mellow voice and his searching eyes, is a fairytale hero. And Katherine de Vaucelles, the proud and haughty beauty who spurns him only to call him back again, is a dramatized illustration from the Knights' Herald. What matters it if this situation is audaciously theatrical or that situation is plainly play acting in its baldest form? That's the beauty of romantic drama—everything fits. In fact, the only thing that wouldn't fit would be an effort to avoid "acting," broadly, or to try to make the play conform with one's sober notions of life and character. In no other part that he plays can Mr. Sothern give so fine a performance.

"A KNIGHT FOR A DAY" THURSDAY EVENING.

People who delight in a pleasant and pleasing entertainment, full of laughs and music, will be glad to hear that "A Knight for a Day" is booked for presentation at the Majestic on Thursday. This attraction, which has been delighting Chicago theatergoers for so long, where it still is crowding the Whitney Opera house at every performance, has now been given a road production and sent on tour under the management of B. C. Whitney, the original producer. It has been provided with an excellent company of players and an elaborate scenic equipment, and it is promised that the production is as complete in every particular as is the Chicago one. Eddie Redway, well and favorably remembered for his work as the original Gingerbread Man and May Vokes, "The Tattooed Man," are the chief fun-makers, and the laughter they arouse nightly from the audiences is the best compliment that could be paid their ability. One of the qualifying features of "A Knight for a Day" is that the performance is never allowed to drag. The principals work their hardest every night and the chorus is keyed right up to the pitch. The chorus received its training under the direction of Gus Schlake, which is sufficient guarantee of a well drilled group of chorus people. Some of the songs that have caught the popular fancy are "I'd Like Another Situation Just Like That" and "I Didn't Think I'd Do It, But I Did," sung by May Vokes, "Whistle When You Walk Out," sung by Mr. Redway, and "Life Is a See Saw." The music is all charming and whistly, and adds finish to a very delightful entertainment. Besides May Vokes and Eddie Redway, there will be seen with this company Carolyn Lilja, Laura Osburne, Gertrude Phelps, Felix Fantus, Harvey Austin, Russell Lennon, John Jex and Chas. Mast.

"THE MAN OF THE HOUR" NEXT FRIDAY AND SATURDAY AND SATURDAY MATINEE.

"The Man of the Hour," George Broadhurst's play which has already been presented in New York city at the Savoy theater for nine months, will be seen at the Majestic on Friday and Saturday and Saturday matinee.

"The Man of the Hour" is reported to be a timely play, full of dramatic incidents, with plenty of comedy and telling a story of human interest.

It deals with one of the most burning topics of the day. The "grafting" of the political "machine" in many of the great cities of this country is the central theme of the story, the particular delineation being the passage through the city council of the town where the action of the play takes place of a bill giving a perpetual franchise to a street railway.

The mayor's signature is all that is necessary to make the bill a fact, and the "machine" has elected to the office, after a hard fight, a rich young man whom they thought could be easily "handled." He proves honest, however, and although all kinds of pressure are brought to bear steadfastly refuses to make the proposed measure a law.

The love interest in "The Man of the Hour" is that of the young man for the niece of the snarler who is responsible for the bill. She has told her lover that in order to win her hand he must prove worthy, but it is at the risk of jeopardizing her fortune and losing her as well that the young man keeps up the fight of his life against the "bosses."

Mr. Broadhurst is said to have utilized in the making of his play many incidents which in the past few months have come to public knowledge through the newspapers of the country, and which when put upon the stage should have dramatic value.

Best remedy for mothers to use is Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup. It tastes nearly as good as maple sugar, it contains no opiates. Sold by all druggists.

For the rest he has moved from light comedy to the heroic and romantic and thence to the classic. Beginning with "The Prisoner of Zenda," Mr. Sothern entered upon a career of romantic impersonation that extended through the McCarthy series of plays ending with "The Proud Prince" and "If I Were King," the latter play being now revived after three years of idleness.

Then came the young actor's most serious step forward, Hamlet was tried with more than ordinary success. Then came Shylock in "The Merchant of Venice," and later, in association with Julia Marlowe, he gave us a series of Shakespearean roles including such extremes as Romeo and Petruchio.

Dismissing again Mr. Sothern last season brought forward another play of German origin, "John the Baptist," and also discovered for us the genius of a new American playwright, Percy Mackaye, in the beautiful poetic study of the history of Joan d'Arc, in which Miss Marlowe was the central figure. Though an Englishman in parentage Mr. Sothern is American born, and throughout his stage career has assiduously devoted himself to the cultivation of his native language.

Last spring, however, in company with Miss Marlowe, he invaded the British metropolis and won a personal triumph that must have been exceedingly gratifying to both him and Miss Marlowe.

The time limit of the association of these two stars having expired, Mr.

Since the death of Richard Mansfield it may be claimed without fear of dispute that Edward H. Sothern is the leading American actor. Even during Mansfield's career there were very many people who voted the palm to Sothern.

New that death has stepped in and Mansfield's glory is but a memory, the place of the young man who comes here this week may be awarded without reservation. Like Mansfield, Sothern is a character actor, but here the resemblance ceases.

Mr. Sothern has successfully invaded the heroic and romantic fields, and has also displayed a certain comedy talent that Mr. Mansfield did not possess. Sothern has achieved a Hamlet that Mansfield could never have created.

Mr. Sothern is a quiet, modest, studious gentleman. He is an artist by

E. H. SOTHERN IN "IF I WERE KING," WEDNESDAY EVENING.

Since the death of Richard Mansfield it may be claimed without fear of dispute that Edward H. Sothern is the leading American actor. Even during Mansfield's career there were very many people who voted the palm to Sothern.

New that death has stepped in and Mansfield's glory is but a memory, the place of the young man who comes here this week may be awarded without reservation. Like Mansfield, Sothern is a character actor, but here the resemblance ceases.

Mr. Sothern has successfully invaded the heroic and romantic fields, and has also displayed a certain comedy talent that Mr. Mansfield did not possess. Sothern has achieved a Hamlet that Mansfield could never have created.

Mr. Sothern is a quiet, modest, studious gentleman. He is an artist by

E. H. SOTHERN IN "IF I WERE KING," WEDNESDAY EVENING.

Since the death of Richard Mansfield it may be claimed without fear of dispute that Edward H. Sothern is the leading American actor. Even during Mansfield's career there were very many people who voted the palm to Sothern.

New that death has stepped in and Mansfield's glory is but a memory, the place of the young man who comes here this week may be awarded without reservation. Like Mansfield, Sothern is a character actor, but here the resemblance ceases.

Mr. Sothern has successfully invaded the heroic and romantic fields, and has also displayed a certain comedy talent that Mr. Mansfield did not possess. Sothern has achieved a Hamlet that Mansfield could never have created.

Mr. Sothern is a quiet, modest, studious gentleman. He is an artist by

E. H. SOTHERN IN "IF I WERE KING," WEDNESDAY EVENING.

Since the death of Richard Mansfield it may be claimed without fear of dispute that Edward H. Sothern is the leading American actor. Even during Mansfield's career there were very many people who voted the palm to Sothern.

New that death has stepped in and Mansfield's glory is but a memory, the place of the young man who comes here this week may be awarded without reservation. Like Mansfield, Sothern is a character actor, but here the resemblance ceases.

Mr. Sothern has successfully invaded the heroic and romantic fields, and has also displayed a certain comedy talent that Mr. Mansfield did not possess. Sothern has achieved a Hamlet that Mansfield could never have created.

Mr. Sothern is a quiet, modest, studious gentleman. He is an artist by

E. H. SOTHERN IN "IF I WERE KING," WEDNESDAY EVENING.

Since the death of Richard Mansfield it may be claimed without fear of dispute that Edward H. Sothern is the leading American actor. Even during Mansfield's career there were very many people who voted the palm to Sothern.

New that death has stepped in and Mansfield's glory is but a memory, the place of the young man who comes here this week may be awarded without reservation. Like Mansfield, Sothern is a character actor, but here the resemblance ceases.

Mr. Sothern has successfully invaded the heroic and romantic fields, and has also displayed a certain comedy talent that Mr. Mansfield did not possess. Sothern has achieved a Hamlet that Mansfield could never have created.

Mr. Sothern is a quiet, modest, studious gentleman. He is an artist by

E. H. SOTHERN IN "IF I WERE KING," WEDNESDAY EVENING.

Since the death of Richard Mansfield it may be claimed without fear of dispute that Edward H. Sothern is the leading American actor. Even during Mansfield's career there were very many people who voted the palm to Sothern.

New that death has stepped in and Mansfield's glory is but a memory, the place of the young man who comes here this week may be awarded without reservation. Like Mansfield, Sothern is a character actor, but here the resemblance ceases.

Mr. Sothern has successfully invaded the heroic and romantic fields, and has also displayed a certain comedy talent that Mr. Mansfield did not possess. Sothern has achieved a Hamlet that Mansfield could never have created.

Mr. Sothern is a quiet, modest, studious gentleman. He is an artist by

E. H. SOTHERN IN "IF I WERE KING," WEDNESDAY EVENING.

Since the death of Richard Mansfield it may be claimed without fear of dispute that Edward H. Sothern is the leading American actor. Even during Mansfield's career there were very many people who voted the palm to Sothern.

New that death has stepped in and Mansfield's glory is but a memory, the place of the young man who comes here this week may be awarded without reservation. Like Mansfield, Sothern is a character actor, but here the resemblance ceases.

Mr. Sothern has successfully invaded the heroic and romantic fields, and has also displayed a certain comedy talent that Mr. Mansfield did not possess. Sothern has achieved a Hamlet that Mansfield could never have created.

Mr. Sothern is a quiet, modest, studious gentleman. He is an artist by

E. H. SOTHERN IN "IF I WERE KING," WEDNESDAY EVENING.

A SCENE IN "A KNIGHT FOR A DAY," AT MAJESTIC THURSDAY EVENING

NEXT WEEK'S VAUDEVILLE

Charles Leonard Fletcher Direct from World Tour and The Rounder Big Headliners.

The slump in stocks and bonds has no terrors for the devotee of vaudeville and business continues at the top notch at the Temple, where there seems to be something doing all the time. The Belle Hathaway monkey and baboon act and the Colbys' black art musical performance have caught on in splendid style this week with all classes of theatergoers. Next week's bill, while containing no apical actors, is looked upon as one of the strongest offered this season, in that it contains acts of international importance. Charles Leonard Fletcher, direct from his brilliantly successful world tour, is America's premier impersonator and will present a series of artistic and realistic impersonations of stage and literary celebrities. Mr. Fletcher's tour has given him a superabundance of knowledge regarding all the nations of the globe and his ready wit and keen power of perception has placed him in great demand not only on the stage but among the various publishers and magazines throughout the country. His act is said to be realistic, true to nature and abounds with comedy, and at the same time brings to play an intellectual study.

Another important booking is "The Rounder" with J. C. Nugent and company. Mr. Nugent is young, gravely humorous and quietly brilliant and has a sterling reputation both as author and comedian. He has had fourteen years active experience, heading his own organizations, and with the Gus Thomas plays, Robert Browning and various stock companies. Mr. Nugent was seen in this city last season in "The Absent-Minded Beggar" and made one of the biggest hits ever made at the Temple.

Dave and Percy Martin will present an original one-act comedy farce entitled "Harvest Time" which is sure to become a great favorite. Avery and Pearl, black face sidewalk conversationalists; Jonnie Reilly, advanced comedy juggler; the kinodrome in a series of splendid pictures and the Temple orchestra complete the bill.

Heat

Where you want it—
When you want it—
No smoke—no smell—no trouble.

Often you want heat in a hurry in some room in the house the furnace does not reach. It's so easy to pick up and carry a

PERFECTION Oil Heater

(Equipped with Smokeless Device) to the room you want to heat—suitable for any room in the house. It has a real smokeless device absolutely preventing smoke or smell—turn the wick as high as you can or as low as you like—brass font holds 4 quarts of oil that gives out glowing heat for 9 hours. Finished in japan and nickel—an ornament anywhere. Every heater warranted.

The Rayo Lamp

is the lamp for the student or reader. It gives a brilliant, steady light that makes study a pleasure. Made of brass, nickel plated and equipped with the latest improved central draft burner. Every lamp warranted.
If you cannot obtain the Perfection Oil Heater or Rayo Lamp from your dealer write to our nearest agency for descriptive circular.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY (Incorporated)

The Soul of the World.

Breadth of View of Christian Faith of Early Fathers.

[London Spectator.]

"What the soul is in the body, so are Christians in the world," wrote a Christian of the early church, whose name history does not preserve, to a Roman of rank and influence—perhaps to one of the tutors of Marcus Aurelius. The apologists of the second century were chiefly concerned with faith and morals, and for the most part they gave to their persecutors in their defenses of the faith but scant pictures of the inner life of the church. Such accounts as they did give are so beautiful and perfect as to lead the reader to suspect that the actual and the ideal were sometimes confused in the minds of these enthusiasts. Yet they all made a bold appeal to those in high places for the strictest investigation. They opened the doors of their sanctuaries to the eyes of the world and frankly and in the fullest faith demanded the world's admiration.

Aristides, writing between 130 and 160 A. D., gives a description of their way of life. The Christians, he says, before all things "do good to their neighbors." They lead a pure life.
They bear no false witness. They judge according to justice. They do good also to their enemies, "welcome their persecutors and make friends with them." If they have slaves, they endeavor to make them Christians out of love; if they succeed, they accept them as brethren without hesitation. Lying "is not found among them. They relieve the poor, and succor those who suffer persecution, though they may be obliged to fast in order to save the means of help." They observe strictly the precepts of Christ, praying and praising God at all hours. "If a just man among them die, they accompany his body to the grave, as though he were only going on a journey. When children are born to them they rejoice; if they die as children they rejoice, because they have left the world in innocence. Only when they see one of their own number die in his sins they weep bitterly over him as over one who goes to judgment."

Another picture comes from the Epistle to Diognetus by the unknown pen quoted above. Christians, he says, "are indistinguishable outwardly from other men. They have no special language or special manners.
They do not lead a life apart, but remain in Greek or barbarian cities according to where they were born, following all harmless local customs.
Yet in very truth their inward life is apart. They are in their own country as sojourners. They enjoy everything as citizens, they suffer everything as strangers. Every strange country is their country, and in their own country they are not at home.
They obey the laws, yet they surpass the laws by their lives. They love their fellow-creatures, who condemn them because they do not understand." Truly such men might be called the soul of the world.

On the other hand, it may be argued that they had, in truth, nothing to do with the world. They were, it is often said, a set of men and women apart, whose ideal was not to be reached by a narrow path trodden by a few fanatics in hope of heaven and in fear of hell. These ideas can be refuted out of the mouths of these early apologists, whose works are now mere names to the majority of Christians.
To Clement and Justin Christianity itself, not merely its professors, was the soul of the world. "We are taught," says St. Justin, "that Christ was the first-born of God, and we have shown above that He is the word of whom the whole human race are partakers." Not only Hebrew but Greek literature, the maintain, prepared men for Christ. Socrates, he reminds his fellow Christians, was persecuted and called an atheist as they are because he would not acknowledge those whom the city considered as gods. Socrates worshiped the true God, but did not declare Him to all, saying it was neither easy nor safe to do so.

This, however, our Christ did though His own power. For no one trusted in Socrates as he did in this doctrine.
But in Christ, who was known even to Socrates in part (for he was and is the Word who is in every one), and only philosophers and grammarians put their faith, but even handicraftsmen and such as were wholly uneducated, desisting from unbelief and fear and death. For it is the power of the ineffable Father which does this, not the power of the Word. All writers through the circulated seed of the Word which was planted in them were able to see the truth clearly.

Whatever all men have uttered aright, he maintains, "belongs to us Christians, for we worship and love next to God the word which is from the unbegotten and ineffable God, for it was even for us that He was made man, that He might be a partaker of our very sufferings and bring us healing."

As to heaven and hell, without doubt the early fathers were greatly influenced by these two ideas, and many men were strengthened for martyrdom by them; but it is out of the mouth of one of themselves that we can refute the notion that such a motive appealed to the most high-minded among them. Clement himself, writing in the latter half of the second century, says:

"Those who endure from love of glory or from fear of some severer punishment after death are but children in the faith, blessed indeed, but not yet having attained to manhood in the love of God, for the church too has its crowns, both for men and for boys, just as the gymnasium has." Christ is the Savior of those who have believed,
but to the extent of each man's fitness.
He distributed His own bounty both to freemen and to barbarians. (For He is) the Savior of those who have believed because they were determined to know and the Lord of those who have been disobedient until they have been able to confess their sins, and receive the grace which comes from Him in the way adapted to their state.

These words of Clement and others from the writings of the early apologists prove that ideas and doctrines which the unlearned regard as specially new, and the orthodox as specially dangerous, existed in the church from the first. We would call our readers' attention to what the great scholar Hort says of Clement in his translation of the apologists' words:
"In Clement Christian theology in some important respects reaches its highest.
With all his wealth of ideas, there was no one whose version of what the faith of Jesus Christ was intended to do for mankind was so full and true.
To accuse Clement of unduly Hel-lenizing the Gospel is to bring St.
John under the same condemnation.
What Hort continues, 'he humbly and bravely attempted under great disadvantages will have to be attempted afresh, with the added experience of more than seventeen centuries. If the Christian faith is still to hold its ground among men, and when the attempt is made not a few of his thoughts and words will probably shine out with new force, full of light for dealing with new problems."

GOES TO CRAWFORDSVILLE.

Rev. Father Conroy, of Monroeville, Takes New Pastorate.
Rev. Father Thomas M. Conroy, who has been pastor of St. Rose Catholic church at Monroeville for several years, has been transferred to the pastorate at Crawfordsville, succeeding the late Rev. Father W. J. Quinlan. The new pastor at Monroeville is Rev. Charles F. Kaiser, who has been pastor at North Judson.

Rev. Father Conroy was born and reared in Fort Wayne, and is a son of Mr. and Mrs. James Conroy, living on the south side. He is one of the able young clergymen of the diocese, and has many friends in Fort Wayne.

THE CONDOR FLIES HIGH.

The condor, the great vulture of the Andes, is four feet long and its average expanse of wing is about nine feet.
Sometimes it soars as high as six miles, far above ordinary clouds, and thence makes a wide survey for prey.
It is a voracious eater, preferring deer, llamas or young cattle for its food, and after meals is almost unable to fly and easily can be captured.

HATS AS BIG AS PARASOLS.

The porters of the central markets at Paris, which are the largest markets in the world, are called "the strong men of the markets" because of their great muscle and endurance.
They wear hats as big as parasols which enable them to carry on their heads most unwieldy and unpleasant burdens such as crates of fowls, rabbits and sucking pigs.

Sleep

Sleep is nature's rebuilding period, when the energy used by the brain, muscles and organs is renewed. If you lose sleep, your system is robbed of the strength sleep should give. Continued loss of sleep multiplies this loss until you become a physical wreck. Dr. Miles' Nerve quits the irritated nerves and brings refreshing, invigorating sleep. Nerve contains no opiates, and therefore leaves no bad after-effects.

"For over two years I suffered untold agonies; my friends thought I was going crazy. I could not sleep nor rest at all. I tried different doctors, but failed to find relief. My head would ache all the time. I was like one drunk, could not concentrate my mind, and was so restless and worried that sleep was out of the question. After long and hard search Dr. Miles' Nerve I felt wonderfully changed. I am now on my third bottle and am gaining all the time. I can lie down and sleep like a child, and am able to do my work."
MRS. MAY SCOTT, English, Ind.

Your druggist sells Dr. Miles' Nerve, and we authorize him to return price of first bottle (only) if it fails to benefit you.

Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

SWEAR OFF

Tobacco Habit } EASILY
Morphine Habit } CURED
Liquor Habit }
Positively No Morphine in Our Tablets.
Hill's Double Chloride of Gold Tablets will cure any case of Morphine or Tobacco Habit in from ten to thirty days.
No effort required of the patient, who is allowed the use of stimulants until he voluntarily quits their use. Can be given in tea or coffee without the knowledge of the patient. Testimonials sent free.
TRY IT.
Price $1.00 per package, but this consumption will be accepted as 10 cents if presented with name and address at Drug Store of
MEYER BROTHERS CO.

PILES—$1.00—FREE

Call or write to the Peoples' Drug store, cor. Berry and Clinton streets, and get a free introductory box of the best Pile Remedy in existence.

NO OTHER FOOD PRODUCT HAS A LIKE RECORD

Baker's Cocoa

127 Years of Successful Manufacture 48 Highest Awards in Europe and America

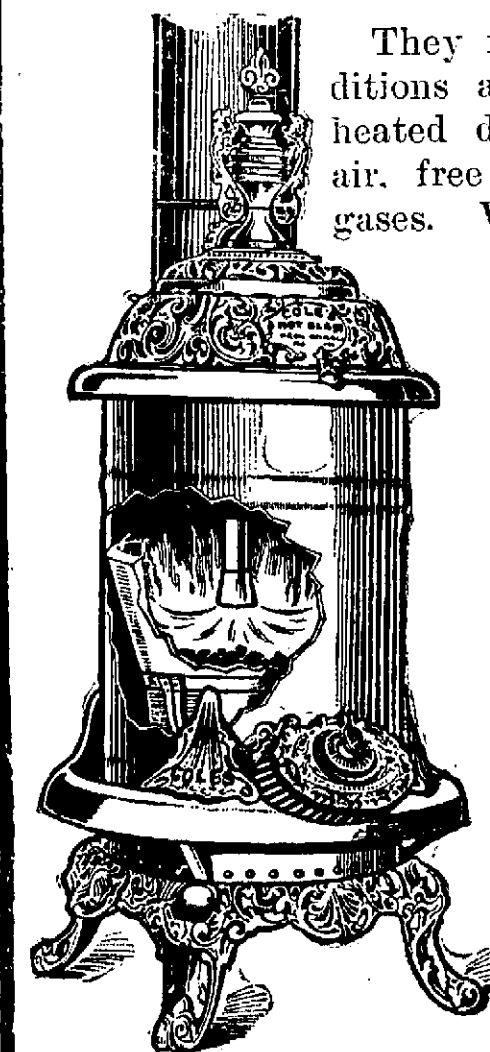

It is a perfect food, as wholesome as it is delicious; highly nourishing, easily digested, fitted to repair wasted strength, preserve health and prolong life.

A new and handsomely illustrated Recipe Book free

WALTER BAKER & CO., Ltd.

ESTABLISHED 1780 DORCHESTER, MASS.

Do Your Plants Thrive in Winter?

They require the same healthful conditions as your children. Rooms evenly heated day and night. Pure, wholesome air, free from the odor of smoke and gases. With

COLE'S Original HOT BLAST

the proper conditions are supplied. All the gases in the fuel are consumed. Feed door is smoke proof. Even heat day and night. Fire never out. Results guaranteed.

CAUTION
"Cole's Hot Blast from Chicago" on Feed Door of Every Stove.
None Genuine Without It.

SOFT or HARD COAL
Avoid Imitations

INDIANA FURNITURE CO.

SOLE AGENT

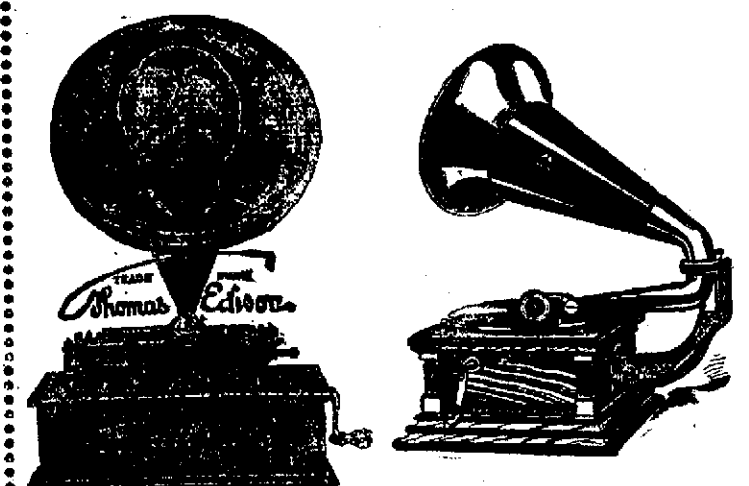

JAMES E. GRAHAM
Lawyer and Notary Public, 221 E. 2nd St.

DOCTOR MARY WHEEY
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
Office and Residence 504 Berry St.
East.

DR. S. H. HAVICE Practice Limited to Diseases of EYE, EAR, NOSE AND THROAT.
GLASSES ADJUSTED.
Office Hours From 8 to 12—1 to 5 P. M. and 7 to 8 P. M.
130 West Wayne Street.
OFFICE PHONE, 252; RESIDENCE, 1117

JOHN M. EVANS
Real Estate and General Insurance Agency
Phone 616—1000 2nd Floor, Block
Port Wayne, Ind.

SPECIALTY—Diseases of Women.
Telephone 470. Hours—9 a. m. to 3:20 p. m. and 7 to 8 p. m.

Edison, Victor, Columbia

"Easy Payments"

Is the Modern Way of Doing Business.

Many people amply able to pay cash, prefer to avail themselves of the easy-payment plan. We are glad to sell you an Edison, Victor or Columbia machine in that way.

Come in and see us about it today.

Ft. Wayne Phonograph Co.
929 CALHOUN STREET.

WHEN YOU CATCH COLD

Do not take chances on it wearing away or experiment with some unknown preparation which may leave the bronchial tubes and lungs weakened and susceptible to attack from the germs of Pneumonia or Consumption.

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR not only stops the cough but heals and strengthens the lungs and prevents serious results from a cold. Contains no opiates.

Be Sure You Get Foley's

There are substitutes made to sell on the good name of Foley's Honey and Tar. Beware of them. You should have confidence in a cough cure that has been sold with universal satisfaction for thirty-five years. The genuine Foley's Honey and Tar is in a yellow package. See that you get it.

Three sizes—25c, 50c and $1.00. The 50-cent size contains two and one-half times as much as the small size and the $1.00 bottle almost six times as much.

SOLD AND RECOMMENDED BY DREIER & BRO.

A Mother Testifies

This is to certify that my daughter was down for almost one year with a cold. The doctors finally pronounced it consumption. We had given up hope for her recovery. I was given a sample bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar. I gave it all to her in about three hours. It stopped the cough, and gave her rest. I sent next day and bought a 50c. bottle and began giving it. In three months' time she was well. There can not be too much said in favor of Foley's Honey and Tar. It saved my child's life.
Mrs. George Batson, Fountain Grove, Mo.

AT THE ELEVENTH HOUR THEODOSIA GARRISON

Copyright, 1907, by Thomas H. McKee.

THE quality of youth is a beautiful and, at the same time, a fearful thing. It is an established fact that the path of life is strewn with pitfalls, but I maintain that only between the age of, say sixteen to twenty, the average youth follows a blind instinct that leads him straight to every one even as the sparks fly upward.

The special providence designated for the protection of cubs usually pulls him back on the brink, and once badly frightened, he is apt to walk warily henceforth and, in time, to even wax facetious at his es-extremely pretty, and overwhelmingly and radiantly gowned on all occasions. She seemed, moreover, to have spent the eighteen years of her life in collecting trophies in the way of heart-shaped lockets and bangles and buckles that she wore all at once on various parts of her blouse. She was a tall blonde with tiny waist and hands and the most marvelously coiffured hair in the world. Jim says that he firmly believed at the time that she touched the high watermark of elegance. When he thought of the girls he knew that went to dances in white frocks with blue sashes and their hair coiled—merely coiled—on their heads, he blushed for them.

with his dear friends that he had never fully appreciated before, but at night he would wake up occasionally to call himself names and turn cold at the memory of various things he had said to Ruby Hazel that any young woman, even one destitute of imagination, might easily construe into an invitation to come live with him and be his love.

And with all this he wasn't a cad—just a cub—for it never occurred to him to blame Ruby Hazel or hold her responsible for the fact that he had made a fool of himself. It was himself that he flayed with irony and stung with sarcasm and promised impossible things.

him like a nightmare. It was the postscript, however, that dealt him his death blow. "If you break up camp as you expected," it said, "and come to New York Friday, don't forget that I expect you out here Sunday. Come and spend the day. I've told mamma all about you, and she's crazy to meet you."

It was the fact that Ruby Hazel had apparently taken her family into her confidence that made Jim realize that the die was cast. He sat on a damp log in the rainy woods that day and tried to remember what he had said to Ruby Hazel, and what she had replied, until his brain was a pulp. The picture of himself tied to Ruby Hazel for life was only a little worse than the idea of telling Ruby Hazel and her parents that there had been a mistake, and that she didn't care for him in the least, which would have been chivalrous if not convincing.

He must have had a very bad two hours of it there in the woods, but he evidently knew where to put the blame, for he came back to camp feeling sick and righteous and miserable, but with his mind made up to face the consequences of his own idiosyncrasy, meaning, of course, in plain language, that if Ruby Hazel wanted him, he was hers and would be led as a lamb to the slaughter.

At the time it never occurred to him that possibly Ruby Hazel's family might not consider an allowance of fifteen dollars a week sufficient, or himself something dropped down from Parnassus to elevate the Tompkins' family circle.

He came to town the next week and spent three miserable days in a closed house with the shrouded furniture and stopped clocks, and was forced to imagine Ruby Hazel ornamenting the old rooms, and grew cold at the thought. It was sheer cowardice alone that prevented him from cabling his parents to appear on the scene and forbid the bans.

When Sunday morning arrived he faced it as a doomed prisoner might his hanging day, but the same vanity that occasionally actuates these gentry to array themselves for the spectacle, induced him to don his finest apparel.

The one thing Jim does blush to remember is what absolute smartness he strove for in his salad days. He says now that the fact that his throat was never cut with his own collar is a sign that the gods had reserved him for lofty things in the future.

He arrived at Ruby Hazel's town, a dismal little suburban place, about two in the afternoon, and was directed by the station agent, the while divers small boys gaped at his splendor, to the Tompkins' house. The man added, facetiously, that he hoped Miss Ruby would be home—a suggestion which Jim haughtily overlooked.

He found the house without difficulty. A chance remark of Ruby Hazel's to the effect that she was crazy about statuary led him to infer that the lawn adorned with a huge plaster dog and stag, and the drive ornamented with an iron jockey holding a ring aloft, led to her bower.

He was admitted by an untidy maid who, apparently overcome by his appearance, gaped at him until a whisper from the hall above instructed her to show the gentleman into the parlor. The parlor was quite unlike anything he had seen before; in fact, it interested him so that for the moment he forgot to be surprised that Ruby Hazel hadn't appeared at her own front door to fling herself into his arms. It was all red plush and gilt and onyx tables and mantel-drapes, and the easel in the corner held a crayon portrait of a determined, if somewhat wild in the eye, young gentleman with a pompadour like a brush, and an extravagant display of necktie. There was a realistic cluster of oranges made from yellow tissue paper dangling from the chandelier, and the walls were crowded with oil paintings, obviously of home manufacture, that even in his distracted state enchanted him.

Over the mantel was a lion framed behind genuine bars and bearing the motto, "In Captivity." Also, he noticed that he was sitting directly over a rug in which was woven a pleasing likeness of the late General Grant with crossed American flags above his head entwined with the quotation, "Let us have peace."

In fact, the entire room was so reminiscent of Ruby Hazel's style of hairdressing that he wondered he hadn't imagined it all on their first meeting, and for the hundredth time his brain thrashed at the elusive recollection of what he had said to Ruby Hazel and what he would be expected to say when she appeared.

It was not Ruby Hazel who presently entered, but Ruby Hazel as she would be some thirty years hence. From the too elaborate hair to the straining lace blouse, Mrs. Tompkins was stamped like a coin with her daughter's personality. He would have known her in a crowd, and the sickening conviction seized him that she had come to demand his intentions and that Ruby Hazel was doubtless concealed in the next room listening.

Mrs. Tompkins herself, however, after the first formal greeting, seemed ill at ease as Jim himself. She evaded his natural curiosity concerning the whereabouts of Ruby Hazel by an incoherent dissertation on the weather and from thence, by some strange course of reasoning, to the lion above the mantel. "My younger sister was over two months doing that, Mr. Kent. Conscientious wasn't the word for it. She was a great sufferer, too, poor soul—chronic asthma—but nothing but her art seemed to give her relief. Many's the time she's said to me, 'Emma, once I get my thumb through the palate I breathe easier.' That fruit piece behind you, now. That's a good deal admired. Would you believe me, Mr. Kent," she laid a beringed hand confidentially on Jim's arm as he rose, miserably, to face the fruit piece—"Would you believe me, that she was six months painting that? As each fruit came in season she'd paint it—from the original, you know. There's thirty-six varieties there, actually, and she was so conscientious about doing them justice that, believe me or not, Mr. Kent, two pineapples spoiled on her, before she'd painted them in."

He mumbled what was meant to be an appreciative response and waited for the word with which she would introduce the subject of her daughter's infatuation. Naturally, having looked upon him as a man who would be loath to lose him from the family, as it were, and he felt the bonds tightening by the minute, it was only, however, when he at last found courage to mention her daughter's name that he found Mrs. Tompkins even more embarrassed than he was himself. She seemed to give herself courage by a surreptitious glance at the crayon portrait on the easel before she answered.

"Well, Mr. Kent," she said, "I suppose I might as well out with it first as last, though I do think, as I told Ruby, that it was asking me a great deal, and I always did hate to be the bearer of bad news, but it's all in a lifetime, and you're young, and we all have our disappointments, and the fact is, Mr. Kent, that Ruby wanted me to tell you that she saw Mr. Usbeck last night and they made up, and the fact is that they're riding together now."

For a moment the boy's head seemed to spin. He wanted to realize and couldn't, though he vaguely understood for a fleeting moment what it means to a man on the gallows to hear a galloping horse and the shriek of "Reprieve! Reprieve!" from the mob.

"Mr. Usbeck?" he murmured, and there really seemed something beautiful in the name.

Poor Mrs. Tompkins turned a deeper shade of red, but withal assumed a sterner dignity. "I supposed she'd told you, Mr. Kent, about Mr. Usbeck—Mr. I. Henry Usbeck. He's in the wholesale liquor business on Main street—wholesale. That's his picture there on the easel; he gave it to Ruby last Christmas. They'd kept company for two years, but before she went away last summer they had a quarrel and Ruby sent him back his ring, so, of course, when she met you, Mr. Kent—and I don't say she wasn't fond of you. For all he's a smart man, he can't write poetry like you, and so I told Ruby when she read it to me. Well, it's just this: Mr. Usbeck was here last night and they made up, and they're going to be married in the fall; and Ruby didn't have the courage to tell you herself, Mr. Kent, though I'm sure it's her place to and not mine. She had an idea that you'd take on dreadful."

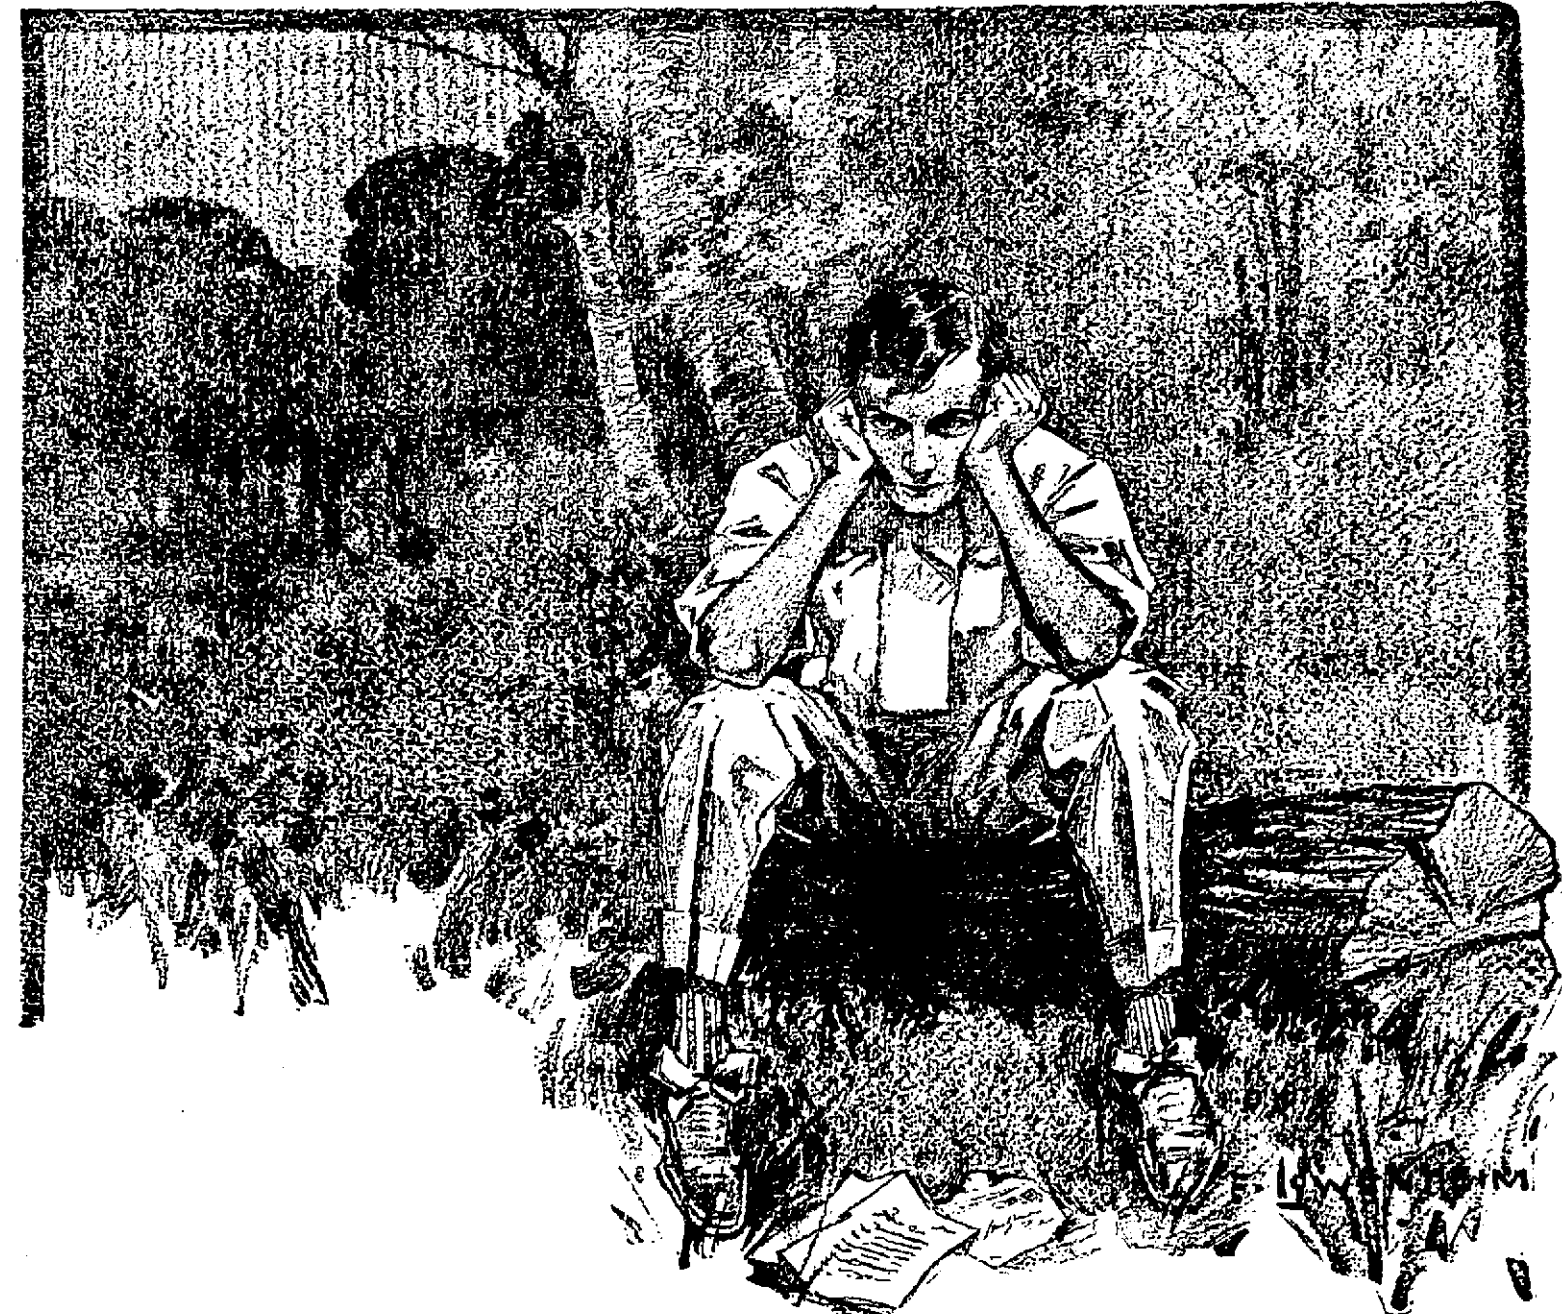

She looked at him apprehensively and no inward monitor informed her that the happiest ten minutes of her guest's life came to him as he sat there in a red plush chair with his feet in General Grant's face, and realized that his youthful splendor and elegance and knowledge had been completely overshadowed by a gentleman with a blonde pompadour who conducted a wholesale liquor business. Add to this the feeling that his shackles had been struck off at a blow, with a hysterical desire to give way to mirth, and you may imagine his state of mind.

He was so deliciously happy that it was all he could do to keep from embracing Mrs. Tompkins. Instead he rose to the deceptions of the occasion and flattered himself that he gave a very good imitation of a crushed and rejected suitor looking for the door.

He wrung Mrs. Tompkins' reluctant hand as they parted, and the message he left for Ruby Hazel breathed a pathetic renunciation that almost moved the good woman to tears.

He could have patric the plaster dog and the iron jockey on the head, as he left the yard a free man.

He went back to the deserted city house, and the same instinct that leads the veteran to revisit his battlefields induced him to pick up his diary and turn to the days when he and Ruby Hazel were all in all to each other. There was the golden record—all rainbows, thunderbolts and wings emanating from a bloated fountain pen. Let it be recorded that first he sighed, then blushed to his ears and suddenly laughed—the genuine but amazed chuckle with which a boy laughs at himself for the first time—and hearing this, the special providence for the protection of cubs might have nodded and gone its way; for when a boy learns how to laugh at himself he has learned a great deal beside, and is in no immediate need of divine interposition between himself and the quality of youth.

ALL WAS OVER WITH HIM.

rape, even to the extent of reading his old diaries to his wife, though the man that does this must not only have developed an abnormal sense of humor, but, at the same time, become absolutely dead to shame.

This may or may not be the case of Jim, though at the beginning of this story he had already filled several large volumes with the pompous and sentimental thoughts peculiar to the age of twenty. If Moses and the Duchess had ever collaborated the net result might have equaled young Kent's diary kept conscientiously during his eighteenth year, in which time he became an ardent pillar of the church and simultaneously fell in love with a blonde soprano in the choir.

It would have been discouraging to the unimaginative ancient who originated the theory that to love once is to love forever, to have known Kent, who, after all, was only the average very young man and who was perfectly capable of loving an entire series of young ladies, each after the other, with the same enthusiasm he bestowed upon the first. In fact, up to his twentieth summer, Jim presented the inspiring sight of a calf playing on a railroad track. It is doubtful if he would relish the simile, as his class picture taken about this time shows him assuming the expression of one who knows more than Socrates and a little less than the archangels, but, withal, a decent, clean-limbed young chap that any providence might be glad to elect his special care.

He was twenty the June that saw him and his freshman year. Shortly after seeing his parents off to Europe, and the same day, he started blithely to join some half-dozen bright and particular chums who were camping in the mountains.

From no less an authority than himself it has been gathered that at this period of his existence modesty was not his prevailing trait. Although at times he partially succeeded in concealing the fact, he considered himself complacently as a pleasing combination of Beau Brummel, Epictetus and Father Damien. In reality, of course, he was just a nice cub with an artistic temperament.

He had a very decent time in the woods. The boys were jolly, and he used to roam around in solitary grandeur—sometimes with a copy of Byron under his arm, and occasionally write verses himself that made Byron's face to insignificance.

There was a hotel a mile or so from the camp, and it appeared that the mother of one of the boys was stopping there, and one day descended upon her son's balliwick with some half-dozen young ladies in tow. They came in with much bustle and confusion, and everybody was introduced, and the camp was hospitable and brewed lemonade in a pal, and was glad to hear how perfectly lovely it must be to live in the very heart of the woods, and how terribly horrid it must be when it rained, and so on. All but Jim, that is. He was standing with his hand on his heart gasping for breath, for he realized that all was over with him the moment he saw her come in and stoop to pick the burrs out of her skirt. The feeling that here at last was the true mate for whom his heart had been waiting these many weary years swept over him like a wave. He was perfectly sure of the feeling, because he had had it so many times.

Presently he was introduced to her. Her name was Miss Tompkins. It appeared, and they talked together until it was time for the boy's mother to take her lambs home to dinner. Then he walked home with her—a long way behind the others in the scented twilight, and by the time they reached their destination she knew the story of his life and was vaguely beginning to comprehend what a wonder he was. He, in turn, was in possession of the fact that her name was Ruby Hazel—even that didn't strike him as being humorous—and that she was staying at the hotel for a month with two girl friends from her native town somewhere in New Jersey.

Jim says now that for the life of him he cannot recall a single intelligent conversation they ever held. The thing he does remember, however, is that she was

Of course the boys jollied him a bit at first, but he was so extremely haughty that they gave him up in disgust.

Naturally he lost no time in taking Ruby Hazel into his confidence. As far as his emotions were concerned, Jim always had the shrinking reticence of a calico in a circus parade.

At the end of the first day she was wearing his college pin among her other glittering spoils, and had coincided in his belief that it was absurd for two people who were friends to call each other by their last names.

At the end of the week she had told him about several men who had wanted to marry her, and how annoying it was to have strange men stare at one on the street. She always wondered why they did. Jim told her, in fact, there wasn't much about Ruby Hazel that hadn't been talked over pretty thoroughly by that time.

It is interesting to recall that no matter in what lofty strain the conversation might start, it would invariably get back in time to the freckles on Ruby Hazel's nose or the fact she wore a 5/4 glove.

At the close of the first fortnight all, in that vague, nebulous way accustomed to youth, was settled between them. I don't think Jim demanded her hand in wedlock in so many words, or that Ruby Hazel had occasion to refer him to her parents, but it appeared in the course of their conversation that either had difficulty in imagining a future in which the other had no prominent part.

Of course Jim wrote poems to her. He believed at this time that it was his natural form of expression. He used to sit on his cot in the camp and compose them while the other boys insulted him. It was the only time he had, considering that the Stamese bond between Ruby Hazel and himself was only severed when the hotel locked up for the night.

He used to recite these effusions to her as a matter of course, adrift on the lake on moonlight nights, or roaming through the wood paths in the afternoon. Ruby Hazel said they were "grand," and, accepting this according to Webster, Jim assumed that she was staggered by their sublimity. It was only afterward he realized that she used the same adjective when she referred to the weather, a novel, or his own appearance in evening clothes.

Of course this beatific state was not destined to continue. In his early love affairs Jim invariably suggested a man who laboriously clammers to the top of a hill only to run with great rapidity down the other side. Gradually the sickening conviction was borne upon him that Ruby Hazel failed to live up to the several requirements that his lofty soul demanded.

The first rift in the lute was made when he discovered that the head waitress at the big Hotel-in-the-Pines wore her hair like Ruby Hazel, wave for wave, puff for puff and comb for comb. After that he went downhill rapidly.

The last week of Ruby Hazel's stay in the mountains was not fraught with joy—at least for Jim. He suddenly discovered how fond he was of the boys at the camp and how overwhelmingly good was their companionship, but common decency forced him to seek Ruby Hazel as of old and assume the same mad interest in the freckles on her nose. Also he began to wonder if the people in the hotel were laughing at him—not that one would think him called upon to question the fact. He discovered also that Ruby Hazel's conversation was not a thing that would draw the savants of the earth to her feet, and her remarks about the people in the hotel and the costumes of others which had struck him as being so naively witty a few short weeks before, now began to dawn upon him as the perfection of bad taste. In short, when he put Ruby Hazel on her train, bearing the while the airy periffage of her friends and Ruby Hazel's responsive giggles, and saw it finally disappear in the distance, he felt as if the weight of worlds had been lifted from him.

He spent three days of unmitigated joy at the camp

A day or so after Ruby Hazel's departure came a letter from her. Jim got it from the postoffice himself and thanked Heaven that it hadn't fallen into the hands of his friends. Beside the very early address, the four corners of the letter bore the words, "For-get-me-not"; a word to each corner. One can imagine the sickly grin with which Jim regarded it—the same expression that a man might wear when his wife reads his old love letters aloud to him.

The letter began, "Dearest Friend Jim—I take my pen in hand"; but it wasn't the curly capitals or the fearful and wonderful construction that took Jim by the throat and shook him; it was the calm and assured air of proprietorship that breathed from the entire thing. Ruby Hazel had apparently a very good memory, and when she, absolutely without malice, reminded him of several episodes and remarks she should never forget, he felt his future unfolding before

THE DAYS WHEN HE AND RUBY WERE ALL IN ALL

Next Week, THE STAGE CAT By ANNA ALICE CHAPIN

INDICTED COUNCILMAN IN ST. LOUIS HAS QUIT OFFICE

Member of House of Delegates Interested in City Contracts.

St. Louis, Nov. 2.—Councilman George C. Linde was indicted by the grand jury yesterday for malfeasance in office, in being interested in a contract to renovate the house of delegates' chamber. The indictment was returned in court yesterday afternoon, and two hours later Linde's resignation was accepted by the city council.

The offense charged against Linde is a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of not more than $500 or imprisonment for not more than one year in the city jail. Bond was given.

Councilman Linde did not make a confession as was rumored. He stated yesterday that when the subcommittee for cleaning the house of delegates' chamber had been secured by the R. A. Linde Carpet company from the firm of Doyle & Gahle, he had believed that, as an employee of the carpet company, the statute did not apply.

Denies Intended Wrong.

"If I had thought it was a violation of the law," declared Linde, "I would certainly never have allowed the contract to be taken. The carpet company received $1,000 for the work it did."

"I am through with politics, but I hope to sell the city many a bill of goods. In every instance where I have done business with the city, either in this contract, or by selling goods to the city direct, I have acted merely as an agent."

Since the indictment of Councilman Linde there has been much talk in the city hall and four courts over the fact that Councilman Albert R. Thompson was the agent for insurance policies on the four courts building and the garbage places.

"When I wrote the policies," said Councilman Thompson, "I was assured by Comptroller Player that there was nothing to prevent my acting as an agent in the matter. As a matter of fact, I think that an investigation will show that many other members of the council can also be charged with the offense if I am guilty."

The city attorney says it is a violation of the law. The bill for cleaning the council chamber has been held up by a committee of which Councilman Thompson is chairman since Auditor Dierkes refused to honor it on the ground that it was not in legal form. A resolution demanding a report on the matter at the next meeting was passed by the council last night.

Defeat Expulsion Plan.

In the house of delegates last night a resolution that any member who should be indicted for bribery or malfeasance in office should be suspended was defeated by a vote of 19 to 3, four members being absent.

Since the boudle investigation commenced, Oct. 18, four persons have been indicted. On the night of the 18th two members of the house of delegates, Fred Werner and Fred W. Priemeyer, were arrested on the floor of the house charged with accepting a bribe of $500 to pass private garbage bill. They were indicted a few hours later. Last Wednesday W. R. Coyne, who is said to have represented the house combine, was indicted for perjury, after answering certain questions put by the grand jury, and refusing to answer others on the ground that he would incriminate himself.

The investigation is to be resumed next Tuesday and a number of other indictments are anticipated.

CLARKSON SEEN IN LONDON.

Miss Maloney, With Whom He Eloped, Was Not With Him.

New York, Nov. 2.—Special dispatches from London state that Samuel Clarkson, whose reported elopement with Miss Helen Maloney, daughter of Martin Maloney, of Philadelphia, caused a stir a month ago, has appeared in London. It is stated that the woman is not with him, and he refuses to talk regarding her whereabouts. It is reported in London, according to the dispatch, that the young woman has returned to her father, who, with her sister, is in Paris.

The Patterson-Fletcher Co. sells the Pioneer Suspender at 25c.

New Interurban Time Table

In Effect July 11, 1907.

Local trains leave Fort Wayne for Huntington, Wabash, Peru, Logansport and Lafayette at:

8:30 A.M.	9:30 P.M.
9:30 A.M.	10:30 P.M.
10:30 A.M.	11:30 P.M.
11:30 A.M.	12:30 P.M.

These trains connect with the Indiana Union trains at Peru.

All p. m. train, west bound, runs to Boyd City only.

FAST LINED SERVICE.

Trains leave Fort Wayne for Indianapolis and Indianapolis for Fort Wayne daily at 7:30 a. m. and 4:30 p. m. arriving at Indianapolis and Fort Wayne at 11:35 a. m. and 8:55 p. m.

These trains stop at County Seats only. Meals served on the cars.

Fort Wayne to Lafayette.

Limited cars leave Fort Wayne for Lafayette at 6:20 a. m., 10:30 a. m., 3:00 p. m. and 7:30 p. m.

Fort Wayne to Logansport.

Trains leave Fort Wayne for Logansport at 7:30 a. m., 1:30 p. m., 4:45 p. m., 7:15 p. m., 11:30 p. m.

Fort Wayne to Ellettsburg.

Trains leave Fort Wayne for Ellettsburg at 7:30 a. m., 1:30 p. m., 4:45 p. m., 7:15 p. m., 11:30 p. m.

Fort Wayne to Ellettsburg.

Trains leave Fort Wayne for Ellettsburg at 7:30 a. m., 1:30 p. m., 4:45 p. m., 7:15 p. m., 11:30 p. m.

Fort Wayne to Ellettsburg.

Trains leave Fort Wayne for Ellettsburg at 7:30 a. m., 1:30 p. m., 4:45 p. m., 7:15 p. m., 11:30 p. m.

Fort Wayne to Ellettsburg.

Trains leave Fort Wayne for Ellettsburg at 7:30 a. m., 1:30 p. m., 4:45 p. m., 7:15 p. m., 11:30 p. m.

THE MARKETS

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 2.—The wheat market opened on a note of higher cables, but later eased off about 1c, chiefly because of selling by holders.

December-January opened at $1.02 1/2 to $1.03 1/2, and then declined to 99 1/2c. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 655 cars.

The low point for December wheat was 94 1/2c. The close was weak with December at 94 1/2c and 94 1/2c.

Corn opened firm but eased off on the prediction of colder weather in the north-west. December opened at 54 1/2c to 55 1/2c, and then declined to 54 1/2c. Local receipts were 124 cars.

The close was weak with December at 54 1/2c and 54 1/2c.

Oats were weak because of selling by heavy holders. December opened at 34 1/2c to 35 1/2c, and then declined to 34 1/2c. Local receipts were 124 cars.

The close was weak with December at 34 1/2c and 34 1/2c.

Prices at the close were as follows:

Wheat—December, 94 1/2c; May, 91 1/2c; 1908, 91 1/2c.

December, 55c; May, 52 1/2c; 1908, 52 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

December, 54 1/2c; May, 51 1/2c; 1908, 51 1/2c.

December, 34 1/2c; May, 31 1/2c; 1908, 31 1/2c.

1/2 Cent

A WORD

Insertion

Percentage of reserve, 21.30 against 20 in 1885.

The deficit of $38,838,825 this week compares with a deficit of $1,233,200 last week.

NEW YORK MONEY MARKET.

New York, Nov. 2.—Money on call, nominal; time loans, nominal; sixty days, 13 per cent; ninety days, 14 per cent; three months, 15 per cent; six months, 16 per cent.

Close—Prime mercantile paper, nominally, 7 1/2 to 10 per cent; sterling exchange, erratic, with actual business in bankers' bills, 100 to 105; demand and demand at 480.50 to 481.50 for sixty day bills; commercial bills, 478 1/2 to 479 1/2; bar silver, 50 1/2; Mexican, 14 1/2; government bonds, strong; railroad bonds, weak.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

Quotations Corrected Daily by Irwin & Co., Commission Brokers, No. 3, North American Building.

November 2.

Stocks. Open. High. Low. Close.

Amer. Sugar. 100 100 100 100

Amer. Smelter. 67 67 67 67

Amer. Copper. 49 49 49 49

Atchafalpa. 14 14 14 14

Brook. Rap. Tr. 20 20 20 20

Bell & Ohio. 80 80 80 80

Chl. Great West. 7 7 7 7

Colorado P. & L. 16 16 16 16

Consol. Pac. 14 14 14 14

Districts. 40 40 40 40

Erie. 18 18 18 18

Illinois Central. 12 12 12 12

Louis. & Nash. 95 95 95 95

Mexican. 14 14 14 14

Missouri Pacific. 14 14 14 14

Norfolk & West. 65 65 65 65

New York Cent. 109 109 109 109

Peoples Gas. 72 72 72 72

Prosser Steel Car. 17 17 17 17

Rock Island. 13 13 13 13

St. Paul. 100 100 100 100

Southern Pac. 65 65 65 65

Union Pacific. 109 109 109 109

Wabash. 14 14 14 14

Wabash. 14 14 14 14

Wabash. 14 14 14 14

Wabash. 14 14 14 14

Wabash. 14 14 14 14

Wabash. 14 14 14 14

Wabash. 14 14 14 14

Wabash. 14 14 14 14

Wabash. 14 14 14 14

Wabash. 14 14 14 14

Wabash. 14 14 14 14

Wabash. 14 14 14 14

Wabash. 14 14 14 14

Wabash. 14 14 14 14

Wabash

WE ARE MAKING WARM FRIENDS

For our Underwear Department every day. You will be one of them if you look to us to supply your winter needs. Cooler weather brings a rush for heavier underwear and those who know the invariable superiority of our assortments will not think of looking elsewhere. There is not a need for Men, Women or Children that we cannot fill. Heavy or lightweight Silk, Cotton and Woolen Vests, Pants and Union Suits, at prices less than ordinarily asked for garments of like quality. We cannot promise such advantageous prices later in the season.

Give Us Your Hand

For your Winter Gloves. All the good kinds are here. Kid Gloves in all shades and lengths; Men's lined and unlined Kid and Mocha Gloves; warm Woolen Gloves and Mittens for Men, Women and Children. For your own sake as well as ours, get acquainted with our Glove stock. Prices will please.

There's Nothing Like Leather

When it comes to Shopping Bags, Purses, Pocket-books, Card Cases, Suit Cases, Traveling Bags, Dressing Cases and many other things of utility for shopping and traveling. Comparison will prove it you that for varied assortments and low prices we are in the lead.

Cloaks, Suits, Furs

The new Fall Garments show such a bewildering variety of styles. You have only to select that which is becoming, the style is sure to be right. No matter what the price, you can be sure of getting the best in quality, style and workmanship that it is possible to obtain. Some smart garments have come to us in the last few days. Look at them.

The Rurode Dry Goods Co.

It's a Matter of Pride

With us that no flour in the land shall excel the "Silver Dollar" nor "Hungarian Process" flour. It's a matter of business that these flours once tried means repetition and constant use. The demand for these flours is increasing because our home people are advocates of patronizing home industries and these are home milled flours. At all grocers.

The Auer side wall Register affords more heat than the floor Register, avoids cutting carpets and is a foot warmer. We are agents for the Schill Radium and Lion Furnaces. Estimates cheerfully furnished. Sheet metal work and repairing done.

B. S. VAIL & CO.
Heating and Ventilating Engineers, 716 Barr Street.

G. TRESSELT & SONS
As 1 for sale by all Grocers.

The Ludwig Piano

The Tone of the Ludwig Piano appeals to the cultured ear of the musician, being full, resonant and sympathetic, and this, together with the perfection of the action, has established its superiority and popularity.

H. A. Brueggemann,
The little music store around the corner.
727 Clinton Street.
Everything in latest popular sheet music at 10 and 20 cents a copy.
PIANOS TUNED.

D. C. FISHER—
Insurance, Real Estate and Loans.
—NO. 100 WEST WAYNE STREET—

—FOR—WALL PAPER
Pictures and Frames
Art Materials, Stationery and Paints
Call At Siemon Wall Paper Co.
1215 Calhoun St.
Phone 1330.

DR. G. THAIN
Diseases of the Kidneys and all diseases cured without an operation, as 96 per cent of all diseases originate directly from the kidneys. Office at 1031 W. Washington St.

The Fort Wayne Sentinel

OUR TELEPHONES.
Editorial Rooms.....550
Business Rooms.....173

SATURDAY, NOV. 2, 1907.

THE WEATHER.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Forecast for Indiana: Fair tonight and Sunday; colder tonight.

CITY BREVITIES.

John Lehman, of the Independent Rubber company, is off duty on account of sickness.

Dr. Barnhill, of Hanna street, has as his guest Mr. and Mrs. John I. Smith, of South Whitley.

The new packing company recently formed in this city yesterday received the transfer of the Falls property.

John Hiron, father of A. L. Hiron, the real estate man, was successfully operated upon yesterday for a cataract.

A permit to erect a $1,800 frame dwelling at the corner of Calhoun and Esmond streets, was yesterday issued to George Young.

Mrs. Harry M. Metzger, of West Berry street, had the misfortune to sprain her ankle recently and as a result is confined to her home.

Edgar S. Young has returned from a southern trip, which he took in the interest of the Fort Wayne and Wabash Valley Traction company.

S. S. Vail is confined to his home on Anderson avenue with several broken ribs, the result of falling into a cellar where he was engaged at work.

While at Mulqueen's Dancing academy Thursday night, Frank McClure, an employee of the Fox-Hite company, was taken suddenly ill and was compelled to go to his home.

Sheriff Jesse Grice and Officer James Barr were initiated into the Fort Wayne lodge of Elks last evening, among other members of a large class of candidates.

John Kennedy, Jr., has engaged in the real estate business in Seattle, Wash. He formerly conducted a saloon at the corner of Harrison and Columbia streets in this city.

C. M. Chambers has been elected delegate to the national convention of Presbyterian churches at Cincinnati by the brotherhood of the Third Presbyterian church, while Rev. Frank Fox was chosen as alternate.

At the prayer meeting of the Third Presbyterian church Wednesday evening Rev. Frank M. Fox, the pastor, will discuss the letter issued recently by Dr. William Henry Roberts, moderator of the Presbyterian general assembly.

Architects Griffin & Fair, designers of a fine school building at Syracuse, Ind., have been advised that work on the structure will be continued through the winter and the building pushed to completion. It was thought for a time it would be necessary to postpone the work until spring on account of the weather.

No morning services will be held at the English Lutheran church of the Redeemer tomorrow, although the regular evening services will be held at the usual hour. A congregational meeting will be held at 10:30 a. m. Word has been received from Cleveland, to the effect that Rev. Theodore F. Hahn is recovering nicely.

The finest Coffee Substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wis. You don't have to boil it twenty or thirty minutes. "Made in a minute," says the doctor. "Health Coffee" is really the closest Coffee imitation ever yet produced. Not a grain of real Coffee in it either. Health Coffee imitation is made from pure toasted cereals or grains, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool an expert—were he to unknowingly drink it for Coffee. Meyer Bros. Co.

The finest Coffee Substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wis. You don't have to boil it twenty or thirty minutes. "Made in a minute," says the doctor. "Health Coffee" is really the closest Coffee imitation ever yet produced. Not a grain of real Coffee in it either. Health Coffee imitation is made from pure toasted cereals or grains, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool an expert—were he to unknowingly drink it for Coffee. Meyer Bros. Co.

The finest Coffee Substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wis. You don't have to boil it twenty or thirty minutes. "Made in a minute," says the doctor. "Health Coffee" is really the closest Coffee imitation ever yet produced. Not a grain of real Coffee in it either. Health Coffee imitation is made from pure toasted cereals or grains, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool an expert—were he to unknowingly drink it for Coffee. Meyer Bros. Co.

The finest Coffee Substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wis. You don't have to boil it twenty or thirty minutes. "Made in a minute," says the doctor. "Health Coffee" is really the closest Coffee imitation ever yet produced. Not a grain of real Coffee in it either. Health Coffee imitation is made from pure toasted cereals or grains, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool an expert—were he to unknowingly drink it for Coffee. Meyer Bros. Co.

The finest Coffee Substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wis. You don't have to boil it twenty or thirty minutes. "Made in a minute," says the doctor. "Health Coffee" is really the closest Coffee imitation ever yet produced. Not a grain of real Coffee in it either. Health Coffee imitation is made from pure toasted cereals or grains, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool an expert—were he to unknowingly drink it for Coffee. Meyer Bros. Co.

The finest Coffee Substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wis. You don't have to boil it twenty or thirty minutes. "Made in a minute," says the doctor. "Health Coffee" is really the closest Coffee imitation ever yet produced. Not a grain of real Coffee in it either. Health Coffee imitation is made from pure toasted cereals or grains, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool an expert—were he to unknowingly drink it for Coffee. Meyer Bros. Co.

The finest Coffee Substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wis. You don't have to boil it twenty or thirty minutes. "Made in a minute," says the doctor. "Health Coffee" is really the closest Coffee imitation ever yet produced. Not a grain of real Coffee in it either. Health Coffee imitation is made from pure toasted cereals or grains, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool an expert—were he to unknowingly drink it for Coffee. Meyer Bros. Co.

The finest Coffee Substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wis. You don't have to boil it twenty or thirty minutes. "Made in a minute," says the doctor. "Health Coffee" is really the closest Coffee imitation ever yet produced. Not a grain of real Coffee in it either. Health Coffee imitation is made from pure toasted cereals or grains, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool an expert—were he to unknowingly drink it for Coffee. Meyer Bros. Co.

The finest Coffee Substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wis. You don't have to boil it twenty or thirty minutes. "Made in a minute," says the doctor. "Health Coffee" is really the closest Coffee imitation ever yet produced. Not a grain of real Coffee in it either. Health Coffee imitation is made from pure toasted cereals or grains, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool an expert—were he to unknowingly drink it for Coffee. Meyer Bros. Co.

The finest Coffee Substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wis. You don't have to boil it twenty or thirty minutes. "Made in a minute," says the doctor. "Health Coffee" is really the closest Coffee imitation ever yet produced. Not a grain of real Coffee in it either. Health Coffee imitation is made from pure toasted cereals or grains, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool an expert—were he to unknowingly drink it for Coffee. Meyer Bros. Co.

The finest Coffee Substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wis. You don't have to boil it twenty or thirty minutes. "Made in a minute," says the doctor. "Health Coffee" is really the closest Coffee imitation ever yet produced. Not a grain of real Coffee in it either. Health Coffee imitation is made from pure toasted cereals or grains, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool an expert—were he to unknowingly drink it for Coffee. Meyer Bros. Co.

The finest Coffee Substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wis. You don't have to boil it twenty or thirty minutes. "Made in a minute," says the doctor. "Health Coffee" is really the closest Coffee imitation ever yet produced. Not a grain of real Coffee in it either. Health Coffee imitation is made from pure toasted cereals or grains, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool an expert—were he to unknowingly drink it for Coffee. Meyer Bros. Co.

The finest Coffee Substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wis. You don't have to boil it twenty or thirty minutes. "Made in a minute," says the doctor. "Health Coffee" is really the closest Coffee imitation ever yet produced. Not a grain of real Coffee in it either. Health Coffee imitation is made from pure toasted cereals or grains, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool an expert—were he to unknowingly drink it for Coffee. Meyer Bros. Co.

The finest Coffee Substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wis. You don't have to boil it twenty or thirty minutes. "Made in a minute," says the doctor. "Health Coffee" is really the closest Coffee imitation ever yet produced. Not a grain of real Coffee in it either. Health Coffee imitation is made from pure toasted cereals or grains, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool an expert—were he to unknowingly drink it for Coffee. Meyer Bros. Co.

The finest Coffee Substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wis. You don't have to boil it twenty or thirty minutes. "Made in a minute," says the doctor. "Health Coffee" is really the closest Coffee imitation ever yet produced. Not a grain of real Coffee in it either. Health Coffee imitation is made from pure toasted cereals or grains, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool an expert—were he to unknowingly drink it for Coffee. Meyer Bros. Co.

The finest Coffee Substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wis. You don't have to boil it twenty or thirty minutes. "Made in a minute," says the doctor. "Health Coffee" is really the closest Coffee imitation ever yet produced. Not a grain of real Coffee in it either. Health Coffee imitation is made from pure toasted cereals or grains, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool an expert—were he to unknowingly drink it for Coffee. Meyer Bros. Co.

The finest Coffee Substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wis. You don't have to boil it twenty or thirty minutes. "Made in a minute," says the doctor. "Health Coffee" is really the closest Coffee imitation ever yet produced. Not a grain of real Coffee in it either. Health Coffee imitation is made from pure toasted cereals or grains, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool an expert—were he to unknowingly drink it for Coffee. Meyer Bros. Co.

The finest Coffee Substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wis. You don't have to boil it twenty or thirty minutes. "Made in a minute," says the doctor. "Health Coffee" is really the closest Coffee imitation ever yet produced. Not a grain of real Coffee in it either. Health Coffee imitation is made from pure toasted cereals or grains, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool an expert—were he to unknowingly drink it for Coffee. Meyer Bros. Co.

The finest Coffee Substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wis. You don't have to boil it twenty or thirty minutes. "Made in a minute," says the doctor. "Health Coffee" is really the closest Coffee imitation ever yet produced. Not a grain of real Coffee in it either. Health Coffee imitation is made from pure toasted cereals or grains, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool an expert—were he to unknowingly drink it for Coffee. Meyer Bros. Co.

The finest Coffee Substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wis. You don't have to boil it twenty or thirty minutes. "Made in a minute," says the doctor. "Health Coffee" is really the closest Coffee imitation ever yet produced. Not a grain of real Coffee in it either. Health Coffee imitation is made from pure toasted cereals or grains, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool an expert—were he to unknowingly drink it for Coffee. Meyer Bros. Co.

The finest Coffee Substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wis. You don't have to boil it twenty or thirty minutes. "Made in a minute," says the doctor. "Health Coffee" is really the closest Coffee imitation ever yet produced. Not a grain of real Coffee in it either. Health Coffee imitation is made from pure toasted cereals or grains, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool an expert—were he to unknowingly drink it for Coffee. Meyer Bros. Co.

The finest Coffee Substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wis. You don't have to boil it twenty or thirty minutes. "Made in a minute," says the doctor. "Health Coffee" is really the closest Coffee imitation ever yet produced. Not a grain of real Coffee in it either. Health Coffee imitation is made from pure toasted cereals or grains, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool an expert—were he to unknowingly drink it for Coffee. Meyer Bros. Co.

The finest Coffee Substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wis. You don't have to boil it twenty or thirty minutes. "Made in a minute," says the doctor. "Health Coffee" is really the closest Coffee imitation ever yet produced. Not a grain of real Coffee in it either. Health Coffee imitation is made from pure toasted cereals or grains, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool an expert—were he to unknowingly drink it for Coffee. Meyer Bros. Co.

The finest Coffee Substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wis. You don't have to boil it twenty or thirty minutes. "Made in a minute," says the doctor. "Health Coffee" is really the closest Coffee imitation ever yet produced. Not a grain of real Coffee in it either. Health Coffee imitation is made from pure toasted cereals or grains, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool an expert—were he to unknowingly drink it for Coffee. Meyer Bros. Co.

The finest Coffee Substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wis. You don't have to boil it twenty or thirty minutes. "Made in a minute," says the doctor. "Health Coffee" is really the closest Coffee imitation ever yet produced. Not a grain of real Coffee in it either. Health Coffee imitation is made from pure toasted cereals or grains, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool an expert—were he to unknowingly drink it for Coffee. Meyer Bros. Co.

The finest Coffee Substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wis. You don't have to boil it twenty or thirty minutes. "Made in a minute," says the doctor. "Health Coffee" is really the closest Coffee imitation ever yet produced. Not a grain of real Coffee in it either. Health Coffee imitation is made from pure toasted cereals or grains, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool an expert—were he to unknowingly drink it for Coffee. Meyer Bros. Co.

The finest Coffee Substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wis. You don't have to boil it twenty or thirty minutes. "Made in a minute," says the doctor. "Health Coffee" is really the closest Coffee imitation ever yet produced. Not a grain of real Coffee in it either. Health Coffee imitation is made from pure toasted cereals or grains, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool an expert—were he to unknowingly drink it for Coffee. Meyer Bros. Co.

The finest Coffee Substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wis. You don't have to boil it twenty or thirty minutes. "Made in a minute," says the doctor. "Health Coffee" is really the closest Coffee imitation ever yet produced. Not a grain of real Coffee in it either. Health Coffee imitation is made from pure toasted cereals or grains, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool an expert—were he to unknowingly drink it for Coffee. Meyer Bros. Co.

The finest Coffee Substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wis. You don't have to boil it twenty or thirty minutes. "Made in a minute," says the doctor. "Health Coffee" is really the closest Coffee imitation ever yet produced. Not a grain of real Coffee in it either. Health Coffee imitation is made from pure toasted cereals or grains, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool an expert—were he to unknowingly drink it for Coffee. Meyer Bros. Co.

Charcoal Stops Gas On Your Stomach

Wonderful Absorbing Power of Charcoal When Taken in the Form of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges.

TRIAL PACKAGE SENT FREE.

Charcoal, pure, simple charcoal, absorbs 100 times its own volume of gas. Where does the gas go to? It is just absorbed by the charcoal—the gas disappears and there is left a pure, fresh, sweet atmosphere, free from all impurities and germs.

That's what happens to your stomach when you take one or two of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges, the most powerful purifiers science has yet discovered.

You belch gas in company, sometimes, by accident, greatly to your own humiliation. That is because there is a great amount of gas being formed in your stomach by fermenting food. Your stomach is not digesting your food properly. Gas is inevitable. Whenever this happens, just take one or two of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges right after eating, and you will be surprised how quickly they will act. No more belchings; no more sour risings. Eat all you want and what you want, and then if there is any gas going to be formed, one of these wonderful little absorbers, a Stuart Charcoal Lozenge, will take care of all the gas.

And it will do more than that. Every particle of impurity in your stomach and intestines is going to be carried away by the charcoal. No one seems to know why it does this, but it does, and does it wonderfully. You notice the difference in your appetite, general good feeling, and in the purity of your blood, right away.

You'll have no more bad taste in your mouth or bad breath, either from drinking, eating or smoking. Other people will notice your bad breath quicker than you will yourself. Make your breath pure, fresh and sweet, so when you talk to others you won't disgust them. Just one or two Stuart Charcoal Lozenges will make your breath sweet, and make you feel better all over for it. You can eat all the onions and odorous foods you want, and no one can tell the difference.

Besides, charcoal is the best laxative known. You can take a whole boxful and no harm will result. It is a wonderfully easy regulator.

And then, too, it filters your blood—every particle of poison or impurity in your blood is destroyed, and you begin to notice the difference in your face first thing—your clear complexion.

Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are made from pure willow charcoal, and just a little honey is put in to make them palatable, but not too sweet.

They will work wonders in your stomach, and make you feel fine and fresh. Your blood and breath will be purified.

We want to prove all this to you, so just send for a free sample today. Then after you get it and use it, you will like them so well that you will go to your druggist and get a 25c box of these Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges.

Send us your name and address today and we will at once send you by mail a sample package free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 200 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

HEARD GRAND OFFICERS.

Royal Arcanum Members Hold Big Social Meeting.

Howard council of the Royal Arcanum had as its guests last evening a number of the high officials of that fraternity and enjoyed a social session, addresses and readings, with refreshments at the close. Those who made addresses included Supreme Regent Robert VanSandt, of Chicago; Supreme Guide Burchard, of Chicago; Grand Secretary E. E. Schroyer, of Indianapolis, and others.

In the course of his address Mr. VanSandt appealed for activity in increasing the membership of the council, asserting that while the work of the church was largely theoretical, the work of fraternity was practical.

When the Stomach, Heart or Kidney nerves get weak, then these organs always fail. Don't drug the Stomach, nor stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That is simply a makeshift. Get a prescription known to druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. The Restorative is prepared expressly for these weak inside nerves. Strengthen these nerves, build them up with Dr. Shoop's Restorative—tablets or liquid—and see how quickly help will come. Free sample test sent on request by Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. Your health is surely worth this simple test. All dealers.

SCHOOL.

Monday, Nov. 4, will be an excellent time to enter the International Business college. New classes in all departments, day and night school. Phone 504.

SAVED

"Uncle, I'm never afraid of being on the water when I'm with you!"
"But I can't swim a stroke, sonny."
"Mebbe not. But you'd float."

Something New

Harmony Violet Toilet Water

Is a new and better kind of Toilet Water. Many people prefer to use Toilet Water in place of perfumes. Harmony Violet Toilet Water answers this purpose better than any other we know of.

Put up in the most handsome package we have ever seen. Makes a suitable party prize.

50c and 90c.

"Get the Meyer Quality"

Meyer Brothers Co.

Three Drug Stores.

FERN SALE

Special sale on Ferns all this month. Lanternier, Florist, 1203 Calhoun St. Open evenings.

Free Lecture

At the Elektron Hall Sunday, Nov. 3, 1907, 3 p. m.

Subject: "There Shall Be No More Death."—Rev. 21:4.

Seats free—No collection. 1-2t

Rossmore hotel, Turkey Dinner Sunday, 25c. Music by Miss Norton.

B. G. GRICE, Prop.

USE ELECTRIC POWER.

Cheap, Safe, Simple and Reliable Power.

Mr. Manufacturer and Power User:

We want an opportunity to prove to you that individual motors will cut down your power bills from 25 to 60 per cent and make a very material increase in the productivity of your plant.

THE EDMUNDS ELECTRIC CONSTRUCTION COMPANY,

Local Agents for the Fort Wayne Electric Works Motors and Generators.

1019 Calhoun Street.

Telephone 262.

Everything Electrical. 10-5wed&sat-ft

REMOVAL SALE.

For the next 10 days we are offering our winter stock of new and second-hand Automobiles at a great reduction.

Buick Maxwell, Olds, Rambler, Ford and Queen Runabouts and Tonneau cars. Also White and Milwaukee Steamers, from $100 upwards.

Ohnhaus Automobile Co. 31-1t. 219 Pearl Street.

RECEIVER'S SALE.

The H. F. Franke stock of plumbing and steam fitting supplies, tools and fixtures at 730 Barr street. Bids will be received for all or part. C. M. Gandy, receiver, 134 E. Berry street. thurs-sat-2t.

Smoke Little Victor, excelled by none. Manufactured by Roy Leonard. 31-3t.

WANTED—A bushelman. John Rudolphson, 1207 Lafayette street, phone 1514. 31-3t.

I have gilt edge investments in Local Bonds and Local Stocks and Mortgage Loans.

C. F. PFLEFFER, Bass Block.

FOR SALE.

Second-hand Upright Piano, of late style, at $35.00.

New Pianos from $195.00 and up. Sold on small payments.

GUY CONKLIN, 10-30t. 1008 Calhoun St.

Lodge room for rent on Calhoun street, every Tuesday and Wednesday night. Apply or address, 1211 Cass street. 14-1t.

WOLF & SASSAUER

Saturday Specials

Some particularly attractive bargains for Saturday evening shoppers, selected from our regular list of Saturday specials.

"Heatherbloom" Petticoats, made of high-grade Heatherbloom, circular flounce edged with 2 narrow ruffles; regular price $3.98, special at.....$3.25

Dressing Sacques, red, blue, pink and grey Eiderdown, nightingale and kimona styles; regular price $1.19, special at.....83c

Cotton Blankets, white and grey, bordered; regular price 65c, special per pair.....52c

Men's Night Shirts, made of good quality Outing Flannel, finished with seam braid; regular price 59c, special at.....50c

Table Damask, bleached, 2 yards wide, regular price 85c, special per yard.....65c

Violet Talcum, well known brand; regular price 15c, special per box.....10c

Safety Matches, 12 boxes in Carton; regular price 10c, special per Carton.....6c

Flow Blue Plates, English semi-porcelain ware; regular price 12c, special at.....7c each

Red Cross Base Burners and Ranges
$22.50 to $55.00
Old and Reliable Line

Fuel Savers and Sure to Give Satisfaction. Eleven styles to choose from. Sold at less price than other high grade stoves.

BASE BURNER PRICES

Red Cross Ensign, 15K Pot.....$35.00
Red Cross Ensign, 14K Pot.....30.00
Red Cross Ensign, 12K Pot.....25.00
Red Cross Ensign, 10K Pot.....20.00
Red Cross Ensign, 8K Pot.....15.00
Red Cross Ensign, 6K Pot.....10.00
Red Cross En